ILLINOIS MILITIA CALLED

MARY M'GOORTY FOUND, HAPPY

GIRL SAFE IN GRAND RAPIDS; HOME TONIGHT

Judge's Daughter Weeps with Joy—Admits Lure of Stage.

Mary Frances McGoorty, 16 year old daughter of Judge John P. McGoorty, [illegible] East Forty-fifth street, was found yesterday in Grand Rapids, Mich.

The girl, for whom many thousands of persons had watched and searched in the last few days, was discovered when the extensive publicity given in THE TRIBUNE, together with descriptions telegraphed to a score of cities and also photographs mailed by THE TRIBUNE to police chiefs, had its result.

Miss McGoorty was found by Detectives Doyle and McDonald in Grand Rapids after a hotel clerk had identified her picture as that of a girl who had registered at the hotel last Tuesday under an assumed name.

GLAD TO COME HOME.

She was somewhat frightened by the appearance of the police, and her lips quivered in the way of the child who has been caught in a prank. She had started out to be a great actress, had Mary Frances, but she was glad, O, very glad, she was about to come home.

Her first impulse was to talk to her mother and father. This she did over the long distance telephone.

"O, mamma, mamma!" she cried, "I want to come home, tonight." And then she wept so that hundreds of miles away, over the farms of Michigan and the dunes of Indiana her mother knew the whim of childhood had run its course. And the mother wept, too. But it was the weeping of joy, the first joy in seemingly endless hours of grief.

IN SEARCH OF FAME.

Mary Frances had set out to become famous. At first she refused to admit her identity, fearing the presence of police meant some awful punishment to her for her girlish escapade. But when the detectives assured her their mission was of the kindliest, she cried, just a little, and admitted her identity.

"Are you still determined to be an actress?" she was asked after she had relieved her burdened heart with a full confession.

"Well," she smiled through the glistening tears, "not so much as I was." It was not a full renunciation, but it seemed a little difficult even in the moment of surrender to admit an entire defeat.

WILL BE HOME TONIGHT.

Mary Frances will be home some time tonight, it is expected. Judge McGoorty hummed a little tune for the first time since last Monday as he packed his bag in the home in Forty-fifth street last night. He took a midnight train for Grand Rapids to bring his ambitious young daughter home.

Detective Garret Doyle of Grand Rapids told in that city last night how Miss McGoorty was found.

"Edward Moore, son of John E. Moore, a Grand Rapids attorney," he said, "received a telephone call from a girl who refused to give her name, but said she had met him in a summer resort in northern Michigan a few years ago. She said she was staying in the Morton hotel with her mother, and that she wanted to meet him on urgent business.

CLEW IN THE TRIBUNE.

"Edward was sick and did not go downtown. He took no further interest in the matter until he read in THE TRIBUNE on Sunday of Miss McGoorty's disappearance in Chicago. That was Sunday morning.

"Young Moore told his father of the mysterious telephone message, and said he thought the girl who had called him up was Miss McGoorty. Mr. Moore went to the hotel and showed a portrait in a copy of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE to the clerk, who imediately identified it as that of the girl who had been a guest of the hotel.

"'She left here on Thursday,' said the clerk.

"Just then a young man standing near the desk spoke up.

"'I saw that girl going into a rooming house on La Grave avenue Saturday,' he said.

"'I got my partner and we went to 41

FRENCH POUND ON HINDENBURG LINE WITH SUCCESSES

Drive Their Way Closer to Great Stronghold of St. Quentin.

BY ARTHUR S. DRAPER.

LONDON, March 25.—The French are steadily creeping in on the stronghold of St. Quentin.

Today Gen. Nivelle's troops smashed forward and drove the enemy out of the important line embracing Castres, Essigny-le-Grand, and Hill 121, along a front of two and a half miles directly west and southwest of St. Quentin.

Desperate attempts by the Germans to regain the lost positions by counter attacks broke down before the fire of the French batteries.

Gain on Aillette Line.

Along the Aillette line, north and south of the Oise and north of Soissons, the French troops also pressed ahead. On the east bank of the Aillette they advanced to the south of Chauny. South of the Oise they penetrated several points in the lower Coucy wood and reached the outskirts of Folembray and Coucy-le-Château, which the Germans have devastated. North of Soissons further gains were attained.

Throughout this desolated region the Germans offered stubborn resistance, counter attacking in great force between Essigny and Benay and along the Vregny-Margival front. These assaults were repulsed by the French and the German losses are reported by Gen. Nivelle to have been severe.

British Advance Slower.

On the British end of the Arras-La Fere line there was little change in the general situation during the last twenty-four hours. Everywhere along this front the Germans are furiously resisting the advance of Gen. Haig's troops, which continues much slower than that of their allies to the south.

The British improved their position west of Croiselles and in the region of Roisel, which was captured yesterday. Berlin admits the retirement of German rear guard forces from this district, as well as in the neighborhood of Beaumetz. Counter attacks by the Germans north of the Bapaume-Cambrai road failed under British fire.

The French struck another blow against the Germans on the Verdun front today, capturing elements of enemy trenches east of the Malancourt wood. Attempts by the Germans to divert the French to the east bank of the Meuse by an attack near Apremont failed.

RIFLEMEN WRECK BANDITS' CAR IN CHASE; SEIZE 5

Police riflemen in the bandit-catching automobile commanded by Lieut. James Mooney, added a third string of robbers' scalps to their belts last night when, after a chase covering a liberal portion of the west side, they rammed and captured five bandits.

Around 11:15 the five bandits in a small automobile held up and robbed a pedestrian of $2.50 at California avenue and Flourney street. The victim reported to the Warren avenue station, which in turn notified the detective bureau and gave a description of the robbers' car.

In fifteen minutes the big detective bureau car with Lieut. Mooney and his riflemen had raced to Sacramento avenue and Harrison street and there spied the bandits going east in Harrison street.

A chase followed for a few blocks when the bandits, owing to the unusual nimbleness with which they turned their car, skipping over the curbstone and around some trees in the maneuver, again gained headway westward.

Again the chase started and this time disastrously for the robbers, for at Irving avenue and Polk street, nearly a mile distant, the big bureau car rammed the smaller one, breaking down the rear wheels. The bandits fired a shot or two, but no one was hit and all five were taken back to the bureau.

The men gave the names of Frank Ford, Dan Walsh, Darius Dickens, Thomas Higgins, and William White. The last named made a confession in which he said he met the others in the poolroom of Frank Hurley, Kedzie avenue and Flournoy street, and they then decided to go out and perform a few holdups.

In White's pockets were found seventy-five cartridges.

It was reported that the men attempted to hold up a Harrison street car late last night at Central avenue. One of the prisoners is said to have admitted this.

Motorcylist Shoots Into Crowd and Wounds One

Louis Loula, 19 years old, of 4943 South Wood street shot and slightly wounded Jerry Sheadl of 4801 South Ada street yesterday, following a quarrel at West Fiftieth street and South Hermitage avenue. The bullet penetrated Sheadl's left thigh. Loula was arrested. According to the police Loula was riding on his motorcycle and was passing a crowd of youths when they made some slurring remark. Jumping from his machine, he started to quarrel with the boys. When the argument became heated he fired into the crowd.

Three Men Locked Up on Mysterious Charges

Three men are locked up at the stockyards station and the police are seeking a fourth, it became known last night. Capt. Thomas J. Caughlin refused to give out their names and would not explain why they are held.

SCHOOL PLOT HIDES FACE OF GERMAN KAISER

North Shore Boys Paste Woodrow Spang Over Emperor.

President Woodrow Wilson has taken the place of Kaiser Wilhelm on the walls of a classroom of the New Trier High school, in the Wilmette-Winnetka-Kenilworth district.

Charlotte Schoch is instructor in German at the school. Likewise, although American born, she is an enthusiastic and emphatic believer in things German. More, it is charged she has been known to discourse at length on the advantages of German ways over American.

Enter Bill and Trouble.

The trouble pot started to boil when Miss Schoch made the atmosphere of the schoolroom bright and gay by placing a colored poster on the wall, a detail of which was a portrait of Kaiser Wilhelm.

Somewhere, somehow, the young Americans comprising the German class decided the kaiser's photograph was not the proper one for that particular spot. So they plotted—and acted. One day last week Miss Schoch was called from the room for a moment.

On her return she found an excellent likeness of one Woodrow Wilson had been neatly pasted over the features of Wilhelm, and the teacher sought without success the author of the change.

News Leaks Out.

Then the news leaked out in the homes and the parents began to talk of dire trouble for Miss Schoch; even to the extent of a movement for her removal.

THE TRIBUNE investigated last night.

"I heard there was some little friction in the classroom," said Principal Hiram Brown, "but it's adjusted.

"I heard there had been some little friction in the classroom," said Mrs. Ruth Porter, school trustee, "and investigated, but found it all had been adjusted."

"All Adjusted."

"There was a misunderstanding," said Miss Schoch, "but it all has been adjusted."

There you have it—unanimous adoption of the resolutions.

"What do you think of President Wilson?" a TRIBUNE man asked Miss Schoch last night.

"I'd prefer not to express any opinion of the gentleman," she replied. "If there is criticism of my acts in the classroom I have but to say that I feel I have the right while talking German to tell of the advantages of either Germany or America over the other in certain specific instances."

RAIL OFFICIAL SLAIN BY THIEF CAUGHT BY WIFE

Philadelphia, Pa., March 25.—Harold E. Yarnall, treasurer of the Midland Valley Railraod company and widely known in railroad circles, was shot by a Negro burglar whom his wife had found in her room at their home here tonight.

Mrs. Yarnall grappled with the intruder, and her husband, who was taking a bath, hearing the commotion, leaped from the bathtub and rushed to her assistance.

The Negro relinquished his hold on Mrs. Yarnall and fired at her husband, the bullet entering his groin and penetrating the liver.

Despite his injury, Mr. Yarnall succeeded in hurling the Negro downstairs. After firing another shot, which failed to take effect, the burglar fled.

Mr. Yarnall was rushed to a hospital, where he died.

BULGARS DRIVE SERBS TO REBEL

LONDON, March 26, 1:23 a. m.—Reuter's Corfu correspondent says the Serbian press bureau has issued a statement to the effect that the inhabitants of eastern Serbia are revolting against the Bulgarians and are organizing bands which are operating in the mountains and forests. The bureau's statement says the action of the Serbians is due to forced recruiting, wholesale requisitions, and inhuman treatment by the Bulgarians.

CHICAGO ASKED TO HEED CALL OF PRESIDENT

Naval Commandant Moffett Appeals to Citizens to Enlist.

Chicago last night was informed of the call of President Wilson for 18,300 more enlisted men for the navy, and immediately the city went to work to give the government at Washington its full share of the patriotic service requested.

The order reads as follows:

> Urgent.—The President of the United States has called for an emergency increase in the navy's enlisted strength to 87,000 men. This is an increase of 18,300 men. Please give full publicity, as the country needs these men for first-line defense. The department directs all commandants and commanding officers to make extraordinary efforts to recruit men.
>
> (Signed),
>
> BUREAU OF NAVIGATION, DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY.

This is the message received yesterday by Capt. W. A. Moffett, commandant at Great Lakes Naval Training station, informing him of the fact that President Wilson had used his emergency right to call for approximately 18,300 additional men for the navy.

APPEALS TO CHICAGOANS.

Capt. Moffett immediately issued an appeal to Chicagoans for aid in getting the authorized number of men for the navy and at once ordered recruiting officers throughout his district to get into action to obtain the largest number of recruits possible.

"There is nothing of more importance in the line of patriotic duty than for men and women to respond to the president's call as energetically as possible," said Capt. Moffett. "I say men and women because the nation now needs the aid of both. Those persons who cannot, for obvious reasons, enlist themselves should make it incumbent upon themselves to urge others to enlist.

DUTY TO JOIN AT ONCE.

"While I am for universal service," Capt. Moffett continued, "I realize that there is not now time to await congress to authorize such service. For that reason it is the duty of every one who is able to do so to join the navy at once."

From now on the recruiting campaign of navy headquarters, 130 North Fifth avenue, in charge of Lieut. L. M. Stevens, will make a harder campaign than ever, Lieut. Stevens last night said.

HAS FAITH IN CHICAGO.

"Chicago," Lieut. Stevens said, "has been making a very good showing in the number of navy enlistments, but I believe that now that the president has issued his emergency call Chicagoans will recruit in greater numbers than ever."

At present there are about 62,000 men in the navy. The total authorized peace strength is about 74,500. President Wilson's authorization of 87,000, or an addition of about 18,300 men, was under power given him by congress for use in case of a "national emergency."

'ACE IN THE HOLE' WINS ESTEEM OF U. S. FOR FRANCE

PARIS, March 25.—The Temps, in its leader, commenting on the suggestion that Americans loan or give $1,000,000,000 to France, says: "In the difficult times in which we live it is consoling to encounter straightforward, disinterested sentiments that reawaken hopes of a higher humanity."

Referring to the friendship between France and America, the Temps notes that at the beginning of the twentieth century "what the Americans admired in France was no longer our force, nor our ideals; it was not our virtues, but the pleasures we offered.

"We exercised a lively attraction on them," the paper continues, "but we lacked prestige and authority. The Marne, the Yser and Verdun have revised American judgment of France. For years we talked to them of nothing but literature and fashions. The illumination of battle has shown them we had other strings to our bow and from that moment the friendship that lacked not fidelity but substance was reawakened."

EXTRA!

3 Regiments, Including 1st, to Mobilize

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 26, 3 a. m.—Governor Lowden early this morning received a message from Washington ordering out the First, Fifth, and Sixth infantry, Illinois national guard. The mobilization order will go out later in the day, it was said at the adjutant general's office this morning. Just where the troops will be mobilized is not known.

[It is understood the First infantry, commanded by Col. J. B. Sanborn, will be placed on guard at strategic points in and around Chicago, guarding railroad terminals and bridges, the pumping stations, drainage canal, and other points that might be damaged in the event of a declaration of war.

The Fifth and Sixth regiments probably will be rushed to Rock Island to guard the government arsenal there. All the departments of the arsenal are working overtime on war material and supplies. It is of vital importance that this plant be guarded against any attempt to cripple it.

The Fifth infantry is commanded by Col. Frank S. Wood, with headquarters at Quincy, and the Sixth by Col. Charles G. Davis of Geneseo.]

San Francisco, Cal., Mar. 25.—Orders have been issued for the mobilization of national guard infantry regiments, one each in Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana, and three in California immediately and at full war strength, it was announced tonight at headquarters here of the western department of the army.

ENLIST

Secretary Daniels Wires "Tribune" Nation Needs Services of Patriotic Young Men to Bring Navy Up to Full War Strength to Meet Present Grave Crisis.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—[Editor of The Tribune, Chicago.]—The president last night signed an executive order directing that the authorized enlisted strength of the navy be increased to 87,000. He was authorized by congress, in case of emergency, to direct such increase in enlistment. New ships and ships in reserve are being fully commissioned as rapidly as possible and the need is imperative for a larger enlistment to man them. There has been a net increase of over 6,500 in enlistment since congress recently authorized an increase, but many more are needed and needed now.

Will you not emphasize this need by giving special prominence Monday on the first page of your paper to the president's order and also by making an editorial appeal for new recruits for the navy.

The navy offers exceptional advantages to young men of stuff and ambition to serve in the first line for national defense. In this emergency you have the opportunity and the privilege of performing this public service, and I am confidently appealing to you for your cordial and helpful co-operation.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS,
Secretary of the Navy.

WILSON ORDERS GUARD IN EAST TO U. S. SERVICE

Army and Navy to Be Put on War Footing—New Posts for Officers.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—(Special.)—With the expected declaration by congress of a state of war with Germany scarcely more than a week away, President Wilson issued today his first public military orders for the defense of the nation.

He called into the federal service eleven regiments, three companies, and two battalions of the national guard in eastern seaboard states, comprising approximately 12,000 men, for local policing purposes.

He reorganized the army departments and in a general shake-up of seaboard commands transferred Gen. Leonard Wood, recognized as the ablest officer and tactician in the army, from New York to Charleston, S. C.

INCREASES NAVY POWER

He increased the enlisted strength of the navy to the legal maximum of 87,000 men and instructed Secretary of the Navy Daniels to invoke emergency measures to recruit the 27,000 men the navy now lacks of war strength.

In taking this last step the president recognized officially for the first time the imminence of war. He acted under the provision of the navy law that "the president is hereby authorized, whenever in his judgment a sufficient national emergency exists, to increase the authorized enlisted strength of the navy to 87,000 men."

EASTERN MILITIA CALLED

Secretary of War Baker announced the mobilization of eastern national guard units in the following statement:

"Many states have deemed it advisable to call out the national guard for police purposes of protection. As the necessity for such steps arises from issues which are more national than local, it has been deemed advisable by the president to call into federal service for the above mentioned purpose the following organizations of the national guard:

"Massachusetts, Second and Ninth regiments.

"Vermont, Company B, First regiment.

"Connecticut, First regiment.

"New York, Second and Seventy-first regiments.

"New Jersey, First and Fifth regiments.

"Delaware, First battalion, First regiment.

"Pennsylvania, First and Third regiments.

"Maryland, Fourth regiment.

"District of Columbia, First separate battalion.

"Virginia, Second regiment.

KEPT AS FEDERAL TROOPS

"The following organizations which are now in the federal service will not be mustered out:

"Thirteenth Pennsylvania.

"A and B companies of First Georgia."

The transfer of Gen. Wood from what has generally been considered the most important section of the eastern coast line has created a sensation here. By many friends of the general it is considered a demotion attributed to his unpopularity with the administration and his habit of speaking his mind freely and forcefully, despite muzzling orders, upon the unpreparedness of the nation for war and the need of universal military service.

According to administration officials, however, the transfer is a promotion and a recognition of the military genius of Gen. Wood, who will be called upon to direct the defense of the southeastern Atlantic and gulf coasts, which are almost totally devoid of effective fortifications. There is said to be reason to believe that any attempt of an enemy to land troops on the eastern seaboard would be staged in this territory.

MANY GENERALS SHIFTED.

A general shakeup in the command of the country's outposts is contained in the first military order. Gen. J. Franklin Bell goes from San Francisco to New York, Gen. Hunter Liggett from the Philippines to San Francisco, Gen. Clarence R. Edwards from the Panama canal zone to Boston, and Gen. Edward H. Plummer from Nogales, Ariz., to the Panama canal zone.

Gen. Barry will remain in command of the central department with headquarters in Chicago.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY BAKER.

Secretary Baker's announcement of the reorganization of the army commands follows:

"To facilitate decentralization of command, the United States is divided into six military departments in place of four now existing. The new organization becomes effective May 1, 1917, and comprises the following:

"(a) The northeastern department, to embrace the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut. Headquarters at Boston.

"(b) The eastern department, to embrace the states of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, the District of Columbia, the canal zone, and the island of Porto Rico, with the islands and keys adjacent thereto. Headquarters at Governor's island.

"(c) The southeastern department, to embrace the states of Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, and Mississippi, together with the coast defenses of New Orleans and the coast defenses of Galveston. Headquarters at Charleston, S. C.

New Central Department.

"(d) The central department, to embrace the states of Kentucky, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Wyoming, and Colorado. Headquarters at Chicago, Ill.

"(e) The southern department, to embrace the states of Louisiana (except the coast defenses at New Orleans), Texas (except the coast defenses of Galveston), Arkansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona. Headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

"(f) The western department, to embrance the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, California, Nevada, Utah, and the territory of Alaska. Headquarters at San Francisco, Cal."

Keep 55,000 on Border.

Practically all of the 55,000 national guardsmen remaining on the Mexican border are to be kept there to reinforce the regulars. It is not unlikely that the first war movement by Germany against the United States will materialize in this quarter. Several thousand German reservists are said to be in Mexico organizing for an attack on the southern border of the United States.

These German reservists are reported to be well equipped with rifles and machine guns, but with little field artillery. The administration has agents in Mexico checking up on the activities of the Germans and should by this time be fully informed of the extent of this danger.

The mobilization of eastern national guard units is a move preliminary to calling out all the state organizations which have returned from the border and been mustered out of the federal service, but also those units which were left at home during the Mexican row last summer. If local conditions require the president will mobilize additional units this week.

All Served on Border.

All the guardsmen called out today served on the border. Those who have been mustered out of the federal service, but took the Hay oath and remained in the guard, will assemble at once at state mobilization camps and be mustered back into the service of the government. Then they will be assigned to the guarding of government works, munition factories, and other places where violence directed by German agents might be expected to crop out.

The president does not contemplate issuing a general call for the national guard until after congress assembles, though developments this week might force anticipation of such action. He intends to form an army for general defense purposes, but as to the size of the force and the manner of raising it he intends to consult congress.

His plan now is to do all that is possible to bring the regular army up to the peace strength of 178,000 men, and then, if successful in that effort, to raise it to the war strength of 264,000. The actual strength of the army now is 110,000 enlisted men.

May Call 500,000 Volunteers.

The president now leans to the plan of raising a volunteer army after the national guard is mobilized. He may call for 500,000 volunteers. These plans are entirely contingent, however, upon war developments and the attitude of congress.

It was after a forty minute conference with Secretary Daniels yesterday that the president issued the executive order raising the navy to the maximum strength of 87,000 men. The order was promulgated today. The authorized peace strength of the navy is now 74,500 enlisted men, but the actual strength is only 60,000.

For more than two years many warships have been held in reserve for want of crews and enlistment has been so slow that none of these ships could be sent to sea. It was not till after the break with Germany that the administration recognized the imperative necessity of manning these idle ships.

Will Use Reserve Ships.

"We want these men to man the ships now held in reserve and the new ships on which construction is being rushed," Secretary Daniels said. "All of the ships in active service are fully manned. These held in reserve have better than 40 per cent of their personnel. As fast as we get the men to fully man reserve ships they will be placed on the active list.

"It was determined that an immediate effort should be made to secure all of the men authorized by congress. This means about 25,000 more than the present enlisted personnel.

"We are hopeful that the young men of the country will come forward promptly and help the navy in this emergency. Enlistments are increasing showing an encouraging net gain, but the navy needs many more than are now coming forward in order to get all available ships into active service.

"I am asking the editors of the country to give prominence to the need of men for the navy; and Rear Admiral Palmer, chief of the bureau of navigation, is telegraphing all naval recruiting officers to speed up enlistments in every proper way."

Delay Naval Militia Call.

In reply to questions, Secretary Daniels said that a call for the organized naval militia will not be issued for the present. When this call goes out, it will bring approximately 10,000 men into the service who have had considerable training along practical lines. Navy department officials are hopeful that a sufficient number of young men will come forward and enlist to make unnecessary an immediate call for the naval militia.

In order to provide more experienced naval officers Mr. Daniels will call in men now on the retired list just as soon as reserve and new ships are provided with crews and their services are required.

Guard for Buffalo Plants.

Albany, N. Y., March 25.—The request of the Buffalo chamber of commerce that the power plants at Niagara Falls be guarded by national guardsmen was granted tonight by Gov. Whitman. The request was made after rumors of plots against industrial plants were circulated.

State Joins City in Plans to Rouse U. S. for Preparedness

WHILE plans were going forward yesterday with great enthusiasm for the Chicago massmeeting next Saturday night to sound the nation's keynote of patriotism all Illinois answered the call.

From scores of downstate cities telegrams poured into THE TRIBUNE office last night from mayors and other officials breathing the single spirit:

"We are with you."

From the general tone of the messages from every section of the state it appears that the Chicago meeting day will be made the occasion for large demonstrations in most of the cities and villages of the entire commonwealth. Many of the cities will send delegations to participate in the Chicago meeting.

Response Is General.

While the state outside swung into line on the instant, members of the Chicago committee kept at their telephones all day, answering patriotic citizens of all classes here at home and telling them how they might aid in the demonstration.

Emil C. Wetten, secretary of the general committee, said it was the busiest day at the telephone he ever had known.

"All day long men from all sections and classes of the city," he said, "have been telephoning, asking what they can do to help. I never saw anything like it. I have been identified with massmeetings before, but nothing that compares in the slightest way with this. Men have telephoned that they must be permitted to help bear the expenses. Contributions have been offered by the score. It looks to me as if Chicago will surprise even the most sanguine."

May Eliminate Parades.

Judge Jacob M. Dickinson, chairman of the general committee, was called to Louisville yesterday. He will be back at his desk this morning, when the question of street demonstrations will be taken up. It was the general opinion of the managers yesterday that the street parades might be eliminated, because of the short time in which to organize.

This opinion, however, was expressed before the downstate cities swung into the procession with offers of participation. It may be found desirable, when the situation is recanvassed today, to provide some means of employing the downstate delegations in street demonstrations.

Gov. Lowden will come at the head of Illinois. He has other engagements, but the committee understood at night that he would lay aside all other things for this gathering and would do all in his power to carry out any plans the committee might assign to him.

In this connection friends of James W. Gerard, detached ambassador to Germany, who has just arrived home from Berlin, announced they thought it possible to get him here for the demonstration. The committee, however, is of the opinion that this should be wholly a Chicago and Illinois affair.

Plans are making, however, to follow the Saturday meeting with other meetings in this city, the principal one of which is to be addressed by Mr. Gerard, if he can be obtained at that time.

The plan is to await the official announcement of President Wilson to the nation as to what the dangers are, so that Mr. Gerard would be free to speak his views.

Engineers Ask Place.

One plea sent to the committee yesterday came from a body of engineers associated with Col. Henry A. Allen, assistant city engineer, who request that bodies of men likely and ready to enlist in the country's defense should be given places in the Auditorium meeting.

The committee probably will make some arrangement to take care of such organizations, along with the G. A. R., the national guard, regulars, jackies, and other fighting men who will be given places of vantage in the allotment of the reserved seats.

Some of the telegrams of commendation and proffers of assistance from mayors of various Illinois towns received by THE TRIBUNE follow:

W. W. BENNETT, mayor, Rockford, Ill.—My first thought is that Rockford should join in the Chicago demonstration. I will give immediate publicity to the proposed program and will take it up with the city council Monday evening.

WILLIAM C. BARBER, mayor, Joliet, Ill.—Joliet is watching with interest the plans for a patriotic demonstration in Chicago. This will doubtless furnish inspiration for other Illinois cities. Joliet has no definite plans at this time, but the citizens have the same patriotic impulses as those of her big neighbor. The Chicago lead in these movements that mean so much to the nation just now will have an echo here. We will be pleased to coöperate in every way possible.

EDWARD N. WOODRUFF, Peoria, Ill.—Peoria invites her progressive sister city of Chicago to coöperate with her in the interest of national preparedness by setting the date of your meeting for March 29, when a great demonstration will be held in the Peoria Coliseum. Peoria began plans ten days ago. Peoria is happy to bell the cow in the national crisis and congratulates Chicago on the patriotic spirit that prompts its demonstration.

HENRY SCHMIDT, mayor, Dixon, Ill.—I highly approve the plans for a giant massmeeting to be held in Chicago and similar demonstrations in other cities of Illinois. Will be pleased to coöperate and be advised of the progress of the Chicago meeting.

ALBERT FEHRMAN, mayor, Elgin, Ill.—I fully believe the people of this city will stand by the president and congress in anything they may find necessary to uphold the honor, dignity, and safety of the United States. Patriotism is not lacking in this city. We are ready to do our share if it should become necessary to hold massmeetings to create further enthusiasm. You can safely depend on Elgin.

MAYOR DANNEN, Decatur, Ill.—Decatur will be glad to coöperate in any way possible in the move. A meeting to stir patriotism might be arranged here at the same time as the Chicago meeting. Every citizen of this city is a patriot. Already a comprehensive campaign of preparedness in different lines is being carried on in this city.

KAISER HAS 200 U-BOATS WHICH CAN REACH U. S.

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—Germany has 200 submarines capable of crossing the Atlantic, according to advices which have reached the navy department. Germany has laid down no new capital ships or destroyers since the outbreak of the war, confining new construction entirely to submarines.

Battleships and battle cruisers in course of construction at the outbreak of the war, Aug. 1, 1914, have been completed, as have destroyers.

Aside from this, Germany's naval constructing geniuses have devoted their efforts to turning out large numbers of submarines and to improvements in submersible craft.

EXPLOSIVES IN PLENTY FOR U. S.

Wilmington, Del., March 25.—The government's needs, so far as powder and other explosives for military purposes are concerned, should this country become involved in the war, will be met promptly and fully, according to an official of the Du Pont Powder company. Domestic requirements, he said, would be met without in any way interfering with a steady flow of powder to the entente allies.

Police Transfer Order Today?

The long expected police transfer order almost came last night. "I had intended issuing it," admitted Chief Schuettler. "Maybe I will today." The chief admitted that it is "liable to be a big one."

DICKSON TO SEE BARRY TODAY ON MOBILIZATION

Plans Up for Money Bills to Finance Getting Men Into Feld.

Adj. Gen. Frank S. Dickson left Springfield last night to confer with Maj. Gen. T. H. Barry, commander of the central department, United States army, in Chicago today regarding the mobilization of Illinois troops. It was not known when Gen. Dickson left the capital that orders had been issued calling out Illinois militiamen.

Plans are under discussion for the presentation to the general assembly of emergency appropriation bills, in the event the troops are called out. The house and senate recently approved a bill for $190,000 to pay the expenses of the mobilization last summer, when the Illinois soldiers were sent to the border. No estimate of the expense of another mobilization has been made.

No Illinoisans at Convention.

Unless a change in orders comes, Illinois will not be represented at the annual convention of the national guard association, which convenes in New York tomorrow. Fourteen delegates from Illinois were selected, but when the war situation became critical, an order was issued by the adjutant instructing the delegates not to leave the state. Adjt. Gen. Foster of Florida wired Gen. Dickson, that Illinois will be the only state not represented at the convention.

News that President Wilson had ordered a number of national guard organizations in nine eastern states and the District of Columbia into federal service for police duty within their states set officers of the Illinois guard "on edge" when it was conveyed to them by THE TRIBUNE last night.

"Wasting Time," Moriarty Says.

Col. Daniel Moriarty, commanding the Seventh infantry, favors immediate action in important respects.

"We're wasting too much time," said Col. Moriarty. "Men of a fighting age in this country won't flock to the colors unless war is actually declared.

"In the meantime the country is helpless because of its lack of soldiers, and probably will be until congress meets on April 2. Much could happen between now and that time.

"I believe the national safety not only demands immediate mobilization of the guard but that compulsory military education should be instituted with all the speed possible."

JUNE MARCH PUT CITY BEHIND NATION ARMY

When 130,214 men and women of Chicago marched in June in the greatest of sixteen great preparedness parades held in the principal cities of the nation, cynics said the spirit and purpose of the march would be forgotten before the echoes of the thousands of feet on the streets died.

As a matter of fact, beyond other concrete and abstract benefits accruing from the demonstration, it crystallized and is largely responsible for the expressed stand of Chicago on what is now considered one of the most important issues of the country—the matter of universal military training.

For the organization which planned and executed the march became a permanent one, known as the Chicago preparedness conference. As befitting the ideal patriotic body, the conference was not confined to one or two organizations. Its membership includes more than a dozen local organizations the scopes of which are civic, social, and patriotic.

About three weeks ago the conference reconvened. John W. O'Leary presided. The matter of universal military training was taken up for discussion. The organizations responsible for 100,000 people marching became responsible for 100,000 people speaking. And the voice of these thousands, speaking through their organizations, said: "Let us have universal military training."

Urge Saloon Referendum.

Paston, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—At a large and enthusiastic massmeeting here today, strong resolutions were adopted calling upon W. A. Cameron, William Rowe, and D. D. Donahue, the three representatives from the Twenty-sixth district, to vote for the referendum bill on the saloon question when it comes up for final action at Springfield Wednesday. A committee was appointed to present the resolutions to each representative.

Victory, but Costly One, Seen by Rank and File of Allies

BY JOSEPH W. GRIGGS.

[Copyright: 1917: By Press Publishing Company (New York World).]

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, March 24, via London, March 26.—Germany is on its way but does it know where?

British soldiers say the Germans uprooted themselves because they could no longer stand the terrible gunfire that was daily hurled at them since the Somme battle began—gunfire that often swelled to unprecedented ferocity.

For miles in all directions the whole surface of the earth is an unending mass of shell craters, shattered trees and masses of barbed wire entanglements. Booming guns in the distance tell of fresh areas being eaten into by war's remorseless appetitite. Day by day villages are being redeemed by the Anglo-French armies.

Two Reasons for Retreat.

Two reasons have been advanced for the German retreat, one being that they knew the allies could break through in this sector if they remained, and the second that Hindenburg hoped to save between fifteen and twenty divisions by shortening his line. But by shortening his line he also shortens the line of the allies and saves them also many divisions. Everywhere it is believed Ludendorff and not Hindenburg is now the military brains of Germany.

One of the greatest results of the German retreat has been the heightened morale of the allied troops.

"Before the Somme battle and the subsequent German retreat our men felt themselves the equal of the long trained German soldiers, but now they feel themselves each the equal of any two Germans," was the assertion made today by one British officer.

Quick at Rebuilding.

If the Germans' organized destruction was beyond all precedent, so have the British succeeded beyond all precedent in untangling the roads or bridges, bridging the great chasms torn in them by exploded mines. On one road in a quarter of a mile stretch there were four of those enormous holes, but all were bridged.

Wherever any of the population has been left in the towns now recovered from the Germans there is a heritage of hate which found voice only in the hope of eventual retribution visited on German towns, should the opportunity be afforded.

On Butte de Warlencourt there are still numerous unburied bodies. All energy is being devoted to prosecuting the war, and so these bodies lie partly or entirely unburied, and not all of them are Germans.

This battlefield must remain as it is for the moment, as all strength is needed to push forward in relentless pursuit of the Germans.

Bapaume Sad War Memorial.

Bapaume is among the war's saddest memorials. Smoke still issues from the cellars, from piles of brick and mortar. German sign posts still give directions on certain roads.

From the ramparts of the town a wonderful panorama of the Somme battlefield and the numberless stretches of German barbed wire entanglements may be had. In the distorted streets an army band plays popular American ragtime music. Less than a week before the Germans had been in possession of Bapaume.

Since the Germans pulled up stakes the British army has developed a quickened pulse.

"A few days before the retreat began some of the Australians were giving vent to their fedup feelings about the trench warfare," one of the officers said. "But being fedup is the one thing now farthest from their minds. It is hard to hold them back. Two battalions started out to find the boche, and said they would follow him to Germany in an effort to locate him."

The British soldier usually has been given to underestimating his enemy. He does not do it now, for he feels the Germans are still in great strength and still disciplined fighters, but he is equally certain they are going back because they could not stay where they were without being smashed.

BRITAIN NEARS STATE CONTROL OF DRINK TRADE

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.

(Special Cable to Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, March 25.—England is about to place the liquor trade under state control. The committee appointed a few weeks ago to investigate the question is reliably reported to have decided in favor of the project.

The indication is the government intends to use no arbitrary methods but intends to place the matter on a questionable basis, owing to the war necessity. It is for the greatest good of both the government and the brewers, for the new orders will apply mostly to beer production, which requires a great amount of tonnage for importing grain and other materials. Much of this tonnage will be released for importing foodstuffs.

The brewing output already has been cut down from 35,000,000 barrels to 10,000,000, but the government still is harried by the brewers' competitive methods. Even the brewers themselves admit that the business can be carried on under state control more efficiently and economically than under the present system of diversified competitive methods. This latter system requires railroad transportation for great distances in order for one brewing company to be able to control a distant market against competition, but with state control this burden on the railroads will be relieved.

Each district will be supplied from the nearest brewery.

There is enormous pressure being brought to bear upon the government to abolish the old system of public houses, which are used only for drinking purposes, remodel them under the French café plan, making them ideal social centers where sociability and refreshment supplant liquor.

FALSE, ALL FALSE! VOPICKA SAYS OF COURT "BREAKS"

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—Charles J. Vopicka of Chicago, American minister to the Balkan states, who is in Washington on leave, never boasted to Balkan kings that he wore $12 shirts.

To say he had criticized the late Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria is absurd.

That the Chicago diplomat ever informed Queen Eleanor he would call her on the telephone if he had a chance is ridiculous.

For any one to say Queen Elizabeth, "Carmen Sylva," had called him "curious" is to disregard the truth.

Mr. Vopicka while working here on a report of his experiences in the Balkan war theater, broke silence today on all these gossipy reports and declared they were products of the imagination of a discharged employé of the American legation at Bucharest.

APEX OF WAR IN SIGHT, HE SAYS, ON WEST FRONT

German Officer Sees the Issue Won or Lost in France.

BY CYRIL BROWN.

[Copyright: 1917: By Press Publishing Company (New York World).]

BERLIN, March 24, via Wireless to Tuckerton, N. J., March 25.—That the great decision of the war will be sought and fought out on the western front was recently indicated to me by a high staff officer, who said:

"The whole war situation was completely changed by the rejection of our peace offer. We knew then what we had to expect. From the entente answer it became clear to us that the hostile coalition was determined to annihilate Germany and that therefore we must make a colossal effort, and this only on the west front.

"We saw that the great decision must come on the west front. The ruthlessness of our unconditionally necessary military measures was compelled by the refusal of our peace offer."

Spring Drive Impends.

While eagerly scanning the western horizon for further fascinating developments, military men here are satisfied that the general military situation never has been so favorable for Germany as today, and that the great spring campaign, of which the moving tableau of the Hindenburg retreat was only a curtain raiser, stands in sight.

As a sign of the almost legendary Hindenburg luck, in surveying the general situation the Teuton critics see a complete collapse of the grand plan of a general allied offensive, frustrated in the west by Hindenburg's retreat, and in the east by the revolution, which, it is held, cannot fail to weaken the striking power of the Russian armies and postpone a serious Russian oeffnsive for weeks, perhaps months.

The general entente offensive is getting on its legs in Macedonia and Mesopotamia, but there it sinks to an incidental episode, since the center of military gravity is the situation in the west.

Hindenburg's Advantage.

As against this discouraging spring outlook for the entente, it is pointed out that Hindenburg has regained the initiative and with it operative freedom in the west, and that the central powers are now unfolding their maximum strength with complete harmony and unity of purpose, with the world war once more entering the stadium of grand scale motion warfare, beginning again in the west, where it left off in November, 1914.

Bridge Guard Fires at Suspect.

Havre de Grace, Md., March 25.—Shots were exchanged tonight between a sentry on duty at the Pennsylvania railroad bridge over the Susquehanna river and an unknown man in a rowboat. The boatsman disappeared in the dark.

RIVAL FACTIONS IN RUSSIA SEEK AN AGREEMENT

Winning the War Is First Desire of Both Sides of Division.

BY ARNO DOSCH-FLEUROT.

[Copyright: 1917: By Press Publishing Company (New York World).]

PETROGRAD, March 24, via London, March 25.—The two parties which worked together to bring about the success of the Russian revolution are attempting by mutual concessions to bring the country safely through the war.

The "council of workmen's deputies" is the radical wing. In it are the labor bodies, the Socialists, and numerous radicals of various shades in the country and the cities. They are designated the "Reds."

The more conservative wing is the duma party. They do not desire to upset the existing social order, but only wish an effective government along democratic lines. They had an effective national organization, capable of undertaking the difficult task of organizing the interior of the country. The industrial war committees are also in the hands of the same type of men.

United Behind Ministry.

While the demands of the two wings are widely separated, the immediate purpose of both is to support the present ministry until the national convention meets.

Petrograd is still under the influence of the actual clash of the revolution, so it is difficult to judge the sentiment of the country. But from excellent sources I learn that the opinion of the leading men of the type of membership of the provincial zemstvos is that a national assembly held during the war is likely to cause internal complications of a grave nature.

The radicals are not confined to the cities and manufacturing districts but are active among the farming districts, where, because of ancient injustices, the Red propaganda finds a ready hearing. The Reds can count in the convention on the support of delegates from all parts.

Many radicals, even, fear too quick action for Russia's good. Democratic Russia, they feel, is too naked and new to face the whole problem of freedom at once.

Behave Well in Liberty.

Considering the deliberate repression of peasants and workmen under the old empire, they behaved admirably. Their first inclination was to march and sing. I have followed, especially in the evenings, groups under the Red banner exercising this unwonted privilege and have been struck by their reverential, almost holy, awe before their happy fortune. They made a moving spectacle, stopping before the palaces and burned police stations, singing patriotic songs with rapt faces.

They control entirely the work of the city, the workman's conference agreeing first to let the munition and artillery workmen return. Then they started the street cars and now are gradually returning to all factories.

On one point all are agreed; they must finish the war victoriously and rid the country of the German invaders. To do that successfully it is advisable to delay the constitutional assembly and the attendant, unescapable conflict of the interests of the different classes.

BOOM OFFICERS' REMOVAL BILL IN BLOOMINGTON

Bloomington, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—Bloomington's citizens, in their fight for the elimination of the segregated district, today held a massmeeting for the purpose of lining up a solid support for the Illinois officers' removal bill, now before the legislature.

The measure provides for the removal of any county or municipal executive for failure or refusal to perform any public duty imposed on him by law, for willful misconduct or maladministration in office, for corruption, and for extortion.

President Arthur Burrage Farwell of the Chicago Law and Order league was principal speaker at the meeting. He said:

"Is it unreasonable to ask a mayor, or state's attorney, or sheriff, or other official to keep his oath of office? Is it unreasonable to ask, if he does not do so, but willfully refuses, that the office be taken from him? If the officers' removal bill was a law in the state today, it would be of great service in compelling officials to obey their oaths of office."

BRITISH BRAVE SURE DEATH TO ENTER BAGDAD

Rare Courage in the Face of Bullet Rain Wins River.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, March 25.—A dispatch to the Daily News from its correspondent with the British army in Mesopatamia says:

"The last fighting before Bagdad is likely to become historic on account of the splendid gallantry of our troops in the crossing of the Diala river. After the action at Lajj the Turkish rear guard fell back on the Diala, destroying the bridge which crosses the stream at its junction with the Tigris. The village lies on both banks of the stream, which is 120 yards wide.

"Houses trees, and walled gardens made it impossible to build a road and ramps quickly and to bring up pontoons without betraying the point of embarkation.

British Show Rare Courage.

"The attack on the night of the 7th was checked, but the quality of courage shown by our men never has been surpassed in the war. Immediately the first pontoon was lowered the whole launching party was shot down in a few seconds. It was bright moonlight and the Turks had concentrated machine guns and rifles in the houses on the opposite bank.

"The second pontoon had reached the middle of the stream when a terrific fusillade was opened on it. The crew of five rowers and ten riflemen was killed and the boat floated down stream.

"The third got nearly across, but was bombed and sank. All the crew were killed, but there was no holding back.

"The orders still held to secure the passage. Crew after crew pushed off to obvious and certain death. The successive parties were exterminated and the pontoons drifted past our camp with their freight of dead.

Renew Attempt; Succeed.

"On the second night the attempt was renewed with equal gallantry. This time the attack was preceded by a bombardment. It was a barrage, not of shells, but of dust raised by them, that secured us a footing. The dust was so thick that you could not see your hand in front of your face. It formed a curtain behind which ten boats were able to cross.

"Afterwards, in the clear moonlight, when the curtain of dust had lifted, the conditions of the night before were established. Succeeding crossing parties were exterminated and the pontoons drifted away, but a footing had been secured.

"Some sixty men had reached the other side of the stream, and they soon were heavily pressed by the Turks on both flanks. In the end they were reduced to almost their last clip and one bomb, but we found more than a hundred Turkish dead outside the redoubts when we relieved the handful of men at daylight.

"The crossing on the night of the 9th and 10th was entirely successful, and the Turks, perceiving their flank was being turned, effected a retirement of the greater part of the garrison between the ferries. On the morning of the 12th we entered Bagdad."

Army Training First, Slogan at Princeton

Princeton, N. J., March 25.—Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton university, announced at a students' massmeeting tonight that if this country become involved in war military training at Princeton would take precedence over all academic work. MOTOR BUS LINE BEGINS SERVICE; NOTABLES RIDE

Chicago's new motor bus line began operation yesterday with eleven double deck buses in service.

The first vehicle to make the trip from Devon avenue and Sheridan road to the downtown terminal carried Mayor Thompson and wife, former Gov. Dunne and wife, Edward F. Dunne Jr., Health Commissioner Robertson, Roland B. Conklin, president of the Chicago Motor Bus company, and City Prosecutor Harry B. Miller. On the return trip the party was entertained at luncheon at the Edgewater Beach hotel.

Fifty buses are to be put into commission within thirty days. The remaining thirty-nine already have been built and are on the way to Chicago. They have a seating capacity for fifty-one passengers, twenty-two on the lower deck and twenty-nine on the upper. They have a stepless entrance and an inclosed stairway.

With fifty in operation the buses will run from three to six minutes apart. The first bus made the trip downtown in forty minutes. It is proposed to shorten this schedule to twenty-five or thirty minutes. Express and local buses will be a part of the system. The fare is 10 cents. At present the buses stop whenever hailed at street intersections.

The route is from Devon avenue south in Sheridan road through Lincoln park, the Lake Shore drive and Lincoln parkway to Ontario street, to Rush street, to Michigan avenue, to Randolph street, to La Salle street, to Adams street, to a terminal at State street.

The buses run from 6 o'clock in the morning until 1:30 at night. They are manned by a chauffeur and conductor.

PREVIOUS REPORTS.

The Berlin wireless dispatch received on March 22 announcing the return of the Moewe mentioned the British steamer Voltaire and the Norwegian steamer Hallbjoerg as among its captures. The Mount Temple also was named without the particulars of its armament and cargo being given.

The Duchess of Cornwall, a British three masted schooner owned in St. Johns, Newfoundland, is another addition to the list. It was last reported sailing from St. Johns on Dec. 4 for Gibraltar. The other newly named vessels, with one exception, are listed in the shipping registers. The Brecknockshire is not listed.

GERMAN PEACE TERMS TOLD BY GENEVA PAPER

BERNE, Switzerland, via Paris, March 25.—"If peace negotiations were begun today," says the Journal De Geneve, which does not reveal the source of its information but declares it is absolutely reliable, "Germany would offer to restore the territory she occupies in France, except in the mining district of Briey, in exchange for a channel port—Calais or Dunkirk—and an indemnity of $3,000,000,000.

"Germany would also offer," says the newspaper, "to restore the teritorial integrity and the sovereignty of Belgium, on condition that Belgium would not be allowed to maintain a national army, and that Germany would be permitted to garrison Namur, Liege, and Antwerp perpetually."

It is added by the newspaper that Germany must be given control of the Belgium railroads and ports and be favorably treated in an economic treaty. This is not the program of Pan-Germans but the actual terms of the German government, says the Journal De Geneve.

Guns Out, Nerves Taut; Then Police Sigh, Ha!

A small black automobile almost collided with another small black automobile early yesterday morning at North Clark and West Washington streets. Men, with revolvers drawn, stepped from each car. When they came face to face all laughed.

Detectives Sergeant Charles Johnson, head of the central "flivver squad," greeted Detective Sergeant Thomas Gilfeather, in charge of the Chicago avenue squad.

"We thought you a bunch of autobandits," they explained in unison.

RIBOT CHARGES FOES RAVAGE NORTH FRANCE

Denounces "Barbarism and Devastation" in Note to Neutrals.

PARIS, March 25.—The French government has charged its representatives in all neutral countries to protest against "acts of barbarism and devastation on the part of Germans" in territory evacuated by them in northern France. The full text of the note, which is signed by Premier Ribot, follows:

"The government of the republic now is gathering the elements of protest which it intends sending to neutral governments against acts of barbarism and devastation committed by the Germans in French territory which they are evacuating while retreating.

No Military Motive in Acts.

"At this time, I ask you to make known to the government to which you are accredited that we intend to denounce before universal judgment the unqualifiable acts indulged in by the German authorities.

"No motive demanded by military necessities can justify the systematic devastation of public monuments, artistic and historical, as well as public property, accompanied by violence against persons; cities and villages in their entirety have been pillaged, burned and destroyed; private homes stripped of all furniture, which the enemy has carried off; fruit trees have been torn up or made useless for future production; streams and wells have been poisoned.

Relief Food Seized.

"The inhabitants, relatively few in number, who have not been removed, have been left with a minimum of rations, while the enemy seized stocks supplied by the neutral revictualing commission that were destined for the civil population.

"You will point out that this concerns not acts destined to hinder the operations of our armies, but of devastation having no connection with this object, and having for its purpose the ruin for years to come of one of the most fertile regions of France.

"The civilized world can only revolt against this conduct on the part of a nation which wanted to impose its culture on it, but which reveals itself once again as quite close to barbarism still and, in a rage of disappointed ambition, tramples on the most sacred right of humanity.

Charge Pillage of Safes.

"According to evidence in the possession of the military authorities in the region taken from the enemy, notably at Peronne where a branch of the Bank of France was pillaged and the safes broken into, much negotiable paper has been stolen by the retreating German troops.

"I would be obliged if you would call to the attention of the government to which you are accredited these wrongs to private property, against which the government of the republic makes the most energetic protest.

"You will also ask them to caution their banks and their nationals against all operations concerning papers which might be undertaken by German subjects, directly or by intermediaries, without furnishing serious proof of their former ownership."

FRENCH FRONT

FRENCH.

PARIS, March 25.—From the Somme to the Aisne our troops continued their offensive movement. During the course of the day a desperate struggle followed a strong defense by the enemy, but our soldiers, aroused by the spectacle of the ravages committed by the Germans, everywhere drove back the adversary who suffered serious losses.

Between the Somme and the Oise we drove the enemy out of the important position of Castres-Essigny-le-Grand and Hill 121. A violent German counter attack debouching on the front between Essigny and Benay was broken down by our fire.

South of the Oise our troops penetrated several points in the Basse Foret de Coucy and reached the outskirts of Folembray Coucy-le-Chateau. German troops on the march in the direction of Folembray were caught under the furious fire of our batteries and dispersed with heavy losses.

North of Soissons we increased our gains and repulsed two counter attacks directed against the Vregny Margival front.

Active artillery fighting on both sides took place in the region of Craonne (northeast of Soissons).

On the Verdun front our batteries effectively shelled the German organizations north of Hill 304 and northwest of Bezon Vaux.

DAY STATEMENT.

During the night we made further progress north of Grand Seraucourt in the direction of St. Quentin.

Between the Somme and the Oise the night was relatively calm. Prisoners taken by us yesterday belong to seven different regiments.

On the east bank of the Aillette we advanced south of Chauny and consolidated our positions, as we did also in the region north of Soissons.

West of the Meuse we executed a surprise attack and captured elements of enemy trenches east of the Malancourt wood.

East of the Meuse a German attack upon one of our trenches in the direction of Apremont was repulsed with hand grenades.

AVIATION.

During the day of March 24 Adjt. Ortoli brought down his sixth German machine. Another enemy machine was destroyed in an aerial combat in the region of Bois Fontaines.

German aviators dropped numerous bombs yesterday on Calais and Dunkirk. In Dunkirk there were neither casualties nor property damage. In Calais two civilians were killed and one civilian was wounded.

BRITISH.

LONDON, March 25.—North of the Bapaume-Cambrai road an enemy bombing attack on one of our posts in the neighborhood of Beaumetz-Lez-Cambrai was driven off. We improved our position west of Croisielles. We entered the enemy's trenches during the night northeast of Loos and captured several prisoners and machine guns.

An enemy raiding party entered our trenches early this morning west of Hulluch, but was ejected with loss, leaving prisoners in our hands. A few of our men are missing.

AVIATION.

There was considerable activity in the air yesterday. Two important railway junctions behind the enemy's lines were bombed by our airplanes. A number of fights occurred. Eight hostile machines were driven down out of control. Four of our machines are missing.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, March 25.—During the bright weather there was lively artillery activity on the Flanders and Artois fronts.

Southeast of Ypres our mine throwers carried out efficient shelling. Reconnoitering troops advancing after this found the trenches completely destroyed and evacuated by the enemy.

Near Beaumetz and Roisel and east of the Croza hostile advances encountered our protecting troops, which, after inflicting damage upon the enemy, gave way, following their orders. In an engagement near Vregny, northeast of Soissons, French battalions were repulsed with heavy losses.

Near Soupir and near Certny, on the north bank of the Aisne, our raiding detachments in a powerful charge, after efficient artillery preparation, entered the French lines and returned with sixty prisoners.

AVIATION.

Between the sea and the Moselle there were numerous attacks by our airmen against hostile airplanes and targets on the ground. In aerial engagements the British and French lost seventeen airplans. First Lieut. Baron von Richthofen brought down his thirtieth and Lieut. Vosse his sixteenth and seventeenth adversaries.

TURKISH FRONT

TURKISH.

CONSTANTINOPLE [via Berlin], March 23.—Russian cavalry which attacked us on Persian territory was pushed back with serious losses. A Russian cavalry attack in the vicinity of Baneh [southwest of Sakkiz, near the Mesopotamian frontier of Persia] was likewise repulsed. One officer and eleven Russian of the rank and file were taken prisoner.

On the Tigris front up to this time only hostile cavalry has approached the new positions which have been occupied by us since March 11.

On the Sinai front, in the vicinity of Hamame, a hostile airplane was shot down and burned. One of our airships dropped 1,500 kilograms of explosives on the port of Mudros and on hostile ships anchored in this port. In spite of a strong defensive fire the airships returned undamaged.

Attacks by rebels southwest of Medina [Arabia] were repulsed.

RUSSIAN.

PETROGRAD, March 25. — Caucasus front: In the direction of Khanikan, on the 18th, our troops dislodged the Turks from positions near the village of Herin and from the Sermilkerind pass. On the 19th we attacked the Turks, who had occupied positions near the village of Miantag. On the remainder of the front there have been reconnoisances.

RUSSIAN FRONT

GERMAN.

BERLIN, March 25.—Front of Prince Leopold—A surprise attack near Samman, on the Dvina, resulted in twenty-one Russians remaining in our hands. In several sectors, notably near Smorgen, west of Lutsk and near Brody and Brzezany, the artillery activity temporarily increased.

RUSSIAN.

PETROGRAD, via London, March 25.—In the region of Mojeiki, northwest of Postavy (between Dvinsk and Vilna) the Germans launched deleterious gases but without causing us any damage. On the remainder of the front there have been reciprocal firing and encounters between sharpshooters.

ROUMANIAN FRONT

GERMAN.

BERLIN, March 25.—Front of Archduke Joseph and army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen—The situation during the thaw is unchanged.

RUSSIAN.

PETROGRAD, March 25.—Roumanian front: There have been reconnoisances and reciprocal firing.

MACEDONIAN FRONT

PARIS, March 25.—The day was calm save in the region of Monastir, where the artillery displayed its usual activity. The enemy communique concerning the engagements of March 20-21 is false. We have maintained all the important positions conquered north of Monastir.

GERMAN.

BERLIN, March 25.—North of Monastir our raiding detachments cleared out a nest of French riflemen which had remained before our position.

ITALIAN FRONT

ITALIAN.

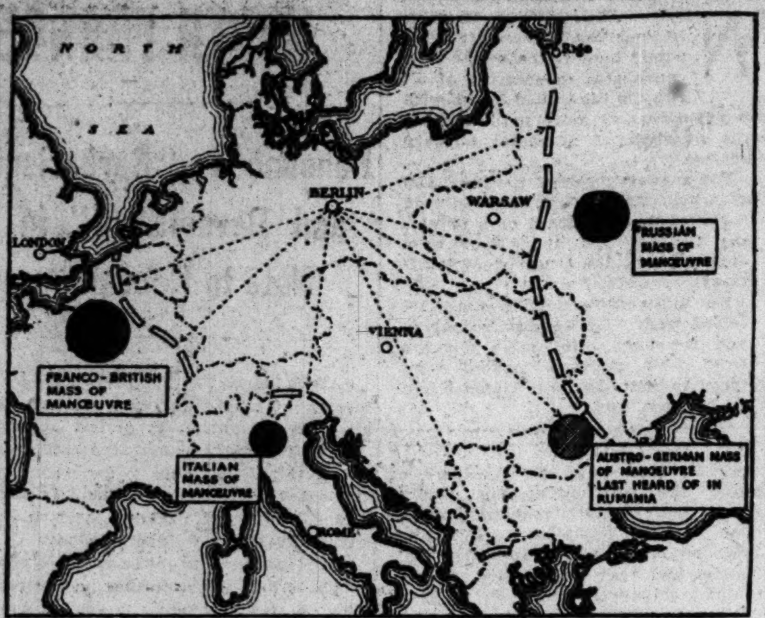
ROME, March 25.—On the Trentino front bad weather has interfered with artillery activities. On the slopes of Monte Sief we repulsed a reconnoitering party. At the head of the Visdende valley, under cover of a thick mist, the enemy attempted a surprise attack but was immediately driven off.

On the Julian front there was again considerable artillery activity. A few more rounds were fired on Goritz. Some damage was done but there were no casualties.

On the Carso, after heavy artillery fire, enemy detachments attempted at nightfall a raid in the Lucati sector but were driven back with severe loss.

WHERE WILL THE GERMANS STRIKE?

Masses of Maneuver of the Entente Powers Indicate Centers of Expected Spring Attacks, but Who Knows Kaiser's Plans?



Where will the German army attempt a ten-strike attack?

Observers do not doubt the kaiser is maneuvering for a supreme effort in some particular quarter. But whether it will come on the east front, the western theater, Italy, Roumania, or Macedonia, London and Paris wiseacres do not hazard a guess.

The entente powers are making little of a secret of their chief "masses of maneuver," but the Germans are casting a veil about their troop movements and concentrations.

The most general guess has been that Italy will be made to feel the German lash with the coming of real spring weather. The Italians have been massing their troops in expectancy along the Trentino front.

In Roumania the Germans are supposed to be ready for a dash across the Sereth and Danube with the "On to Odessa" cry. The Russians and Roumanians have formed new defenses and rearranged the divisions, it is said.

On the Russian front there is positive indication of a German advance against the northern or Riga front, but other sections are uneasy, too.

And the Franco-German front retreat and maneuvers leave all England and Paris mystified as to the real plan of Von Hindenburg. The abandonment of the Arras and Noyon salients is said to have been to release some 250,000 troops for other activities. But where?

GERMANS MASS FOR HUGE DRIVE AGAINST RUSSIA

Troops Gather on Northern Line for Effort on Petrograd.

PETROGRAD, March 24, via London, March 25.—[Delayed.]—From internal troubles and the problems of reconstruction, the attention of Russia has suddenly been diverted to a new danger which threatens from without. There now is indisputable evidence that the Germans are massing great numbers of troops along the northern front ready for an effort against Russia's capital.

The country has been apprised of the new menace by a series of proclamations from its ministers.

GAVE WARNING OF SPIES.

Minister of War Guchkoff, according to Petrograd advices received on Saturday, issued a proclamation warning the people of the menace of spies seeking to uncover secrets of the national defense. The concentration of these spies in Petrograd was pointed to as one element of danger against which steps were immediately necessary, while the other menace was named as the concentration by the Germans of "great quantities of munitions, supplies, and men" on the northern Russian front.

Other dispatches told of a conference between Gen. Korniloff, the new commander of the troops in the Petrograd district, with the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates concerning the German concentration along this front.

London Admits Dangers.

LONDON, March 25.—Alluding to the military situation in Russia and the effect of the revolution on the men at the front, Reuter's Petrograd correspondent says:

"War Minister Guchkoff's statement that the foe is at the gate is no mere figure of speech. The slightest relaxation of vigilance and the enemy would be at Petrograd."

The correspondent then cautiously refers to the repercussive action on the troops of the consciousness that the army has been the arbiter of Russia's destiny, which has manifested itself in demands incompatible with military discipline and says that already there is news from various fronts of the prevalence of "second thoughts."

Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch has asked permission to reside at Livadia.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 arrests have been made in Petrograd since the first day of the revolution, among the latest prisoners being the wife of former War Minister Soukhomlinoff.

GREETING BY AMERICANS

New York, March 25.—The advent of Russia into the family of democracies was celebrated by several thousand persons, including many prominent men, at a massmeeting tonight. A resolution prepared by Charles E. Hughes, Joseph H. Choate, and Charles R. Flint was adopted. It carried America's congratulations.

TRAMP VICTOR OVER U-BOAT IN SEA THRILLER

Saved Coronda Sailor Tells of Battle He Witnessed.

Halifax, Nova Scotia, March 25.—Twenty-one survivors of the British steamer Coronda, which was torpedoed 150 miles off the Irish coast on the 13th of this month, arrived tonight on a British steamer that picked them up nine hours after the Coronda went down. Nine men were lost by the capsizing of their lifeboat.

The survivors reported they had scarcely reached the deck of their rescuing steamer when they witnessed a thrilling battle between another tramp steamer and a submarine, in which the submarine probably received its death blow.

Describes Battle with U-Boat.

Describing the battle, one of the Coronda's men said:

"I was looking aft when I saw what looked to be a cargo steamer coming up astern. It was making pretty good time and I took the glasses to see if I could make it out.

"What I saw made me stand without moving for nearly an hour with the glasses glued to my eyes. The steamer was in action with a submarine, and it was certainly holding its own.

"I saw a spurt of smoke issue from its stern gun and hit close to the periscope of the submarine. As the shot struck the submarine came to the surface and a second later I saw the water shoot like a geyser alongside the Britisher.

Believes Submarine Lost.

"Before the submarine could get under water the tramp returned its fire. As I watched the submarine, I saw a shot land right at its side. There was a gush of water and when the sea had quieted down once more there were no signs of the German craft.

"Whether it was sunk by the last shot of the Britisher or whether it managed to escape I cannot say, but this I know, that the battle ended in a manner which left little doubt as to who had the better of it."

VERIFIES DANTON LOSS.

BERLIN, March 25.—[By Wireless to Sayville.]—An admiralty statement issued today says:

"On March 22, at the point in the Mediterranean where on March 19 a large French battleship was sunk, a German submarine picked up a box containing letters, as a result of which it may be stated that the vessel sunk was the French warship Danton."

[Loss of the French battleship Danton was announced by the French admiralty March 23.]

MARY M'GOORTY FOUND; WEEPS WITH DELIGHT

Judge's Daughter, Safe in Grand Rapids, Admits Lure of Stage.

La Grave avenue and there found the girl in her room. She was alone, reading a little prayer book. She had gone to church Sunday morning, she said, but had come in late and was finishing some of her prayers. She denied she was the missing girl and insisted her name was Katherine Crews.

FIRST POSE SHATTERED.

The detectives questioned her, but she denied her identity. She insisted she was another girl altogether and maintained this pose until she was taken before Lieut. Thomas Howell in Central station. It required but a few questions to wreck her story.

"Where are you from?" asked the lieutenant.

"From Rockford, Ill.," she replied. Some fate must have caused her to say this, for Lieut. Howell formerly lived in Rockford, and he knows the northern Illinois city backwards.

"What is the name of the big hotel there?" asked Howell. Mary Frances was stumped.

THE FINAL TEST.

"Do you know any of the Reynolds there?" persisted the lieutenant.

"No, I don't think I do," she replied.

"Well," said the officer, "you're not from Rockford then. There's a Reynolds in business on every corner in the town."

Mary Frances capitulated.

"Yes, I am Miss McGoorty," she said. And it was then she suddenly discovered she was not a grown up, blasé woman but a little girl who still needs the comfort of home and her parents. She set off without any further ado to tell her story.

WANTED TO BE ACTRESS.

"I left home last Monday," she said. "I wanted to be an actress. I knew it would be hard for me to get a start, but I would succeed if I had a chance.

"It was hard for me to leave my mother and father and the brothers and sisters, but I just felt I had to make some sacrifices for my art. It was much more difficult for me to leave them than for them to have me go, I think.

"It has been hard for me to be away from Margaret, for she has been such a good sister to me. And then there are John and Elizabeth and Robert and Peg—O, how I want to get back to them, now that it's over.

Cashed Own Checks.

"Well, I packed my grip and told Margaret I was taking my dress to the cleaner's. But I went to a drug store at Sixty-fifth street and Cottage Grove avenue and cashed my personal check for $10. Then I went downtown to the Chicago Athletic association and checked my grip there. Also I got another check for $5 cashed there. I went out to supper and in a couple of hours I came back and got my grip."

"Did you buy a new hat in the meantime?" she was asked.

"Yes," she said. "I sent my old one home.

"Later in the night, I think it was around 10:30 o'clock, I went to the Park row station and made up my mind to go somewhere. I hadn't the slightest idea what town to pick out for a destination. I was looking over the time tables when I saw the name 'Grand Rapids.' I figured up the mileage and decided Grand Rapids was just about as far as I could go on my money. Then, too, I decided they would never think of looking for me in Grand Rapids or in any other place in Michigan, for that matter, in the winter.

Arrived with $7.

"I was on the train that left at 12:06, but they had made up the sleepers at 10:30, so I went straight to bed. I arrived in Grand Rapids at 6 o'clock in the morning and went to the Norton house, where I registered. I had only $7 left.

"Sleep was impossible and I heard every crossing bell between Chicago and Grand Rapids. At one time I came near getting out and dressing and leaving the train and going straight home. But the train soon left Chicago and I tried to forget.

"I didn't lose any time trying to get a place. I found the Bishop players were playing 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' in the Columbia theater, so I went there the first thing on Tuesday morning and asked the manager for a place. He said he would keep me in mind. Then I tried the Empress, but all the Keith acts were full.

"I began to grow a little worried on Thursday. My money gave out and I had to tell the clerk at the hotel. He said it was all right and they would keep my suitcase until I could get some money. But that was worse, because my suitcase had my party dress in it and another dress I needed the worst way.

"The clerk wouldn't even let me have my toothbrush, toothpaste, combs, and brushes.

Finds Path Thorny.

"I left the hotel and made the round of the rooming houses and finally I found one where they promised to take me in on my promise to pay. This was Miss Etta Wilcox. She gave me a nice room and said everything would be all right.

"When I started out after work Thursday morning I was desperate. I tried the department stores, but they said the season was dull. I went over to the Columbia again and told them I simply had to get on in something. They said they had nothing for me.

"Late Thursday afternoon I met a young man in the Pantlind hotel whom I thought I had met in Chicago. I asked him if he knew me, but he said he did not, but he'd like to make my acquaintance.

Tells Her Troubles.

"We began talking and I told him I wanted to become an actress. In fact, I told him all of my troubles from the time I left home. He was very sympathetic and told me he was an actor and was going to appear in the Keith theater in a dramatic skit. He showed me some letters from the Keith offices in New York, offering him a tour in the east and another from some Spanish booking agency offering him booking in Buenos Aires. He gave me some lines to practice and told me he would take me to Buenos Aires with him at $65 a week. He told me his name was Lewis Jennings.

"O, I am so sorry for it all. Father and mother were very kind to me over the phone. They were relieved to know I had met no harm.

"I know, now, what it means to have an empty stomach. I can see, now, that I was awfully lucky in making out as well as I did. But I never was in the slightest danger.

Appreciates Lesson.

"My advice to stage struck girls is to stay at home. Distance lends a lot of false enchantment to the theatrical profession and I'm through with any more foolish attempts to get on the stage."

The girl was questioned about Jennings. She said he had treated her with the greatest consideration and had helped her when she was without money and needed food. The police made inquiry and found no Jennings booked in the Keith theater. But it was found the young man had been very courteous and helpful to a girl whose ambitions were greater than her reasoning and he was not sought nor questioned.

Judge Gets News.

Judge McGoorty was in the Hotel Sherman with Judge Michael L. McKinley when he was notified by detectives of the bureau his daughter had been found.

"I hope it's true," he said. "I've been disappointed so many times. Many clews have come to naught, but this seems worthy of investigation."

With his friends he went to the bureau. "I want to be sure," he said. "Suppose we call Grand Rapids on the long distance telephone."

This was done. Lieut. Mooney recognized the voice of Lieut. Howell in Grand Rapids, and then Mary Frances came to the transmitter.

Judge McGoorty then took the phone.

"Hello, Mary," he said. And there ensued a listening period.

"I'll come for you in the morning," said the judge, and there was another silence.

"All right, then," he said, "I'll come tonight. I'll get the next train." He turned to his friends.

"I knew her voice in a moment," he said. "She wanted to come home tonight. I guess she's tired."

Mother Is Overjoyed.

But joy was more violent in the McGoorty residence in Forty-fifth street when the news was conveyed to the mother of the lost girl.

"Heaven be praised," she exclaimed. "When I sat by the window this evening and saw the darkness fall it was as if the end of the world was coming. It seemed to me that with the darkness all hope was ended. I had given up in despair. And now she is found. Isn't that wonderful?"

It was not many moments before the telephone rang and Mrs. McGoorty was called to speak. It was the voice of Mary Frances, a long way off, it seemed, but Mary Frances. For a moment Mrs. McGoorty couldn't believe her ears.

"If you are Mary," she said, "tell me the number of this telephone."

She listened.

"She says it is Oakland 6261," cried the mother in delight. "It's Mary's voice." And then she listened. When the short conversation had concluded Mrs. McGoorty turned to the friends and the children.

"She cried," said she, "and she said, 'Mamma, mamma, I want to come home tonight.' And I know she does, too. Mary wants her home and her mother."

Tears dimmed the eyes of the mother, but she smiled through them as she had not done in the days and nights that she has spent in watching through the window for the return of the wandering one.

"I told her," she continued, "that her father would some as soon as he could."

At this moment Judge McGoorty entered. "That is correct," he said. "I am going to pack my bag right this minute." And then there was a jubilation.

APPRECIATION

Judge and Mrs. McGoorty Thank "The Tribune" for Its Consideration and the Recovery of Their Missing Daughter.

"I HAVE heard of the power of the press," said Judge McGoorty after learning last evening that his missing daughter had been found, "but in all my years in public life I have just now come to know what that expression means.

"When my little girl went away we hesitated to make it public for the unjust speculation that might arise. I asked THE TRIBUNE that the story be withheld. I was told that all ends would be furthered and Mary Frances be found if the matter were given mention. I agreed and it seemed as if a burden had been lifted.

"I shall always be grateful for the fine consideration given by THE TRIBUNE, its rejection of the petty suggestions that might have stood out as a blight in the life of a little girl, and its tremendous force in rousing the public.

"Down to the last detail in identifying my daughter in Grand Rapids the credit for this splendid achievement belongs to THE TRIBUNE."

MOTHER GIVES THANKS

"Please tell THE TRIBUNE," said Mrs. McGoorty, "that while my heart is full for the return of my little daughter, I shall never forget the way THE TRIBUNE has handled the matter.

"I hope THE TRIBUNE will realize what a great good it has done for a mother who has passed through a week of darkness."

Archbishop Confers Honor on the Rt. Rev. Mons Bobal

Archbishop G. W. Mundelein performed the ceremony yesterday in St. Ludmila's Catholic church of investing the Rt. Rev. Mons. Francis Bobal with the vestments of a monsignor in the church, to which he was appointed by Pope Benedict more than a month ago.

Mons. Bobal is one of the clergy for whom the European war has many reminders, as he was educated at the University of Louvain and was ordained to the priesthood in Liege, both cities of Belgium which have suffered in the conflict.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

THE LADIES' WAR.

Two considerations ought to enter American reflection at this time. One concerns national character. The other relates to national security.

We are told that the decision of the president and his advisers is to give aid to the allies in the shape of material and money, to use our fleet to release allied warships in our waters, and to endeavor to destroy submarines and protect our commerce.

The regular army and the national guard will be recruited to greater strength and put in form for home defense. With such efforts we are to rest and abide by the outcome, as it may be shaped for or against us by the efforts of allies with whom we are to have no alliance and no definitely stated terms of contract.

There must be Americans who will observe this plan with dismay and humiliation. No man wants to go to France and fight—at least, no home loving American citizen—but it will be a sad and long lived national humiliation if we decide that, being, even as Canada, at war with Germany, we shall merely make cartridges and have the Canadians shoot them.

It must be remembered, in point of national security, even if we abandon all consideration for national character, that if we enter the war we shall be affected by its outcome. That cannot be avoided.

The resources of the United States, in men and material, are enormous. The men are untrained, but they will make just as good soldiers as could be raised by any nation. We used to think with pride that the American soldier was the best soldier in the world. He was brave and he was intelligent. Boys grew to manhood in this fond confidence in the stamina of the breed.

An army of a million men could be trained in a year of intensive education. The menace of that army would be growing upon Germany. It would paint the future with darker colors for the central powers, which would be confronted with the prospect of fighting through present difficulties only to fight into greater ones.

Germany is uninterested in the decision of the United States. Why? Because Germany knows we have nothing to contribute to the man power of her enemies. The Germans wanted to keep Roumania out of the war. They do not care whether we enter or not. They perceive or sense the condition of our morale and inevitable error of our decisions.

We, making an atrocious blunder and committing ourselves to a diplomatic disaster, confirm the German idea by proclaiming that we shall not put an army against the German forces.

We say that we may go to war but that we shall not fight. There is no intent to underestimate what may be done to aid the allies with materials. We may indeed save them by doing so, but we are making only a half effort, by so doing, in a cause which embraces our honor and security.

Honor and security are worth full effort or none, but we decide to make the comfortable effort and permit the Canadians to make the uncomfortable one.

A man's war will be waged north of the great lakes and a ladies' war south of it. A nation of nine millions will furnish men and a nation of one hundred millions will give them guns and hardtack. The wounded Canadians coming home will look with contempt upon the nation to the south in front of whose security the Canadian khaki had stood in danger.

Canadians fight with bayonets. Shall Americans fight with bazaars? Canadians will wear the red badge of courage. Shall Americans put on the yellow night cap?

We ask Americans to consider this as they consider the reputation and well being of their country. We go to war but do not fight it. We proclaim that we do not intend to fight it. We strengthen the enemy's morale instead of weakening it. We trust to an outcome which we do not fully attempt to form.

We expose ourselves to danger and rely upon our Canadian neighbors to do our part in warding it off. We play a feminine part in masculine work, a shielded part in dangerous work.

We cannot do this and be a respected nation after the war. We shall be more nearly a vassal nation than will please the pride of any American. We shall confess that we have been protected by Canadian bayonets and British warships or, if they fail, we shall pay tribute to Germany.

Offensive as these alternatives are, they are presented to a nation which fights a ladies' war.

If present plans go through the American army will be the Woman's Home Companion.

STREET CARS AND STUPIDITY.

Mr. A. M. Lee of South Chicago, for example, has his own ideas about solving the traction problem. "I think," he told the aldermen, "that the city in spending $250,000 for the report of the traction and subway commission has spent a quarter of a million to the injury of the city. I have not read the report."

His ideas about traction, he is sure, are better than the ideas of expert engineers who have studied the problem. He does not know their conclusions. He simply believes his conclusions are better.

Mr. Lee would not be worth this space if there were not thousands of Mr. Lees in Chicago and if the thousands did not represent the mobilized stupidity of the city. Stupidity and ignorance rushes to place itself in front of every projected public improvement, pours out torrents of words which mean nothing, and accomplishes only delay and more delay.

Mr. Lee says he wants municipal ownership. Well, we all want municipal ownership because we believe that under it it will be seats and not straps that do the earnings. We believe that we shall get better service.

But we are not going to get municipal ownership in a thousand years if we permit active and stupid minorities to block every effort by insisting on their own half-baked ideas. We cannot get better service if citizens refuse to listen to experts or insist on the flattering theory that every man is his own expert.

Chicago has spent a quarter of a million on a careful study of street car problems. Are we going to permit the stupidity of unstudied minorities to rob us of the use of it?

GERMAN-AMERICANS.

Except the most fanatical partisans of the entente allies, no one expects Americans of German blood and tradition to volunteer for active operations in Europe against the central armies. We know from experience that German-Americans will fight devotedly for their adopted country, and if we were threatened with invasion even by Germany there would be no doubt the German-Americans would help expel the invaders.

But it is neither necessary nor practical to use German-Americans in any force our policy or the exigency of this war compels us to send abroad. THE TRIBUNE believes that for the sake of the national morale as well as of our political advantage an American army, when ready, should be sent to Europe. But whether that is a volunteer army—we hope it will not be—or an army organized under universal service, provision should be made for the assignment of men of German, Austrian, and Hungarian blood to the forces we shall have to maintain at home. The German-American should not be asked to drive a bayonet into the breast of his blood brother unless that brother is invading the country, as he might be from Mexico, or unless he is striking at our peace here within the confines of our own country. But German-Americans may well be asked to defend the border and our home ports, and they can be depended upon to do that service loyally and well.

Military efficiency, as well as considerations of human feeling, dictates this concession. German-Americans could not be expected to fight against Germany with the spirit they would show against another enemy or even against Germany in a war whose issues appealed to them.

We have a duty also to civilian German-Americans, a duty which is not merely governmental but belongs to us all. If we are not unreasoning we must realize that the German-Americans who are loyal to this country are passing through an experience of real anguish. The common figure of speech which calls Germany their mother and America their wife is not exaggerated. These, our fellow citizens, our neighbors and worthy coworkers in upbuilding of America, are torn between two sincere and honorable devotions. They are following the biblical saying, they are leaving father and mother and cleaving to the wife. But the necessity of choice is a bitter one.

It is a part of good citizenship and of common human feeling to try to help the German-Americans in this trial, to avoid offending their susceptibilities, now naturally exaggerated, to try to make them feel that we do not doubt their loyalty while recognizing their sympathies.

WHOSE TYRANNY?

Mr. Gompers is raging because Chief Justice White declared that "the right to strike is necessarily surrendered when men are engaged in public service."

As to this simple proposition of public safety Mr. Gompers remarks as follows:

"Five men out of our one hundred million have interpolated into our political institutions a principle destructive of the fundamentals of freedom. The Supreme court has provided the way for the establishment of industrial slavery. Would it not be well for the nation to consider the necessity of curbing the assumption of power by the Supreme court rather than to supinely permit the court to curb the freedom of the masses—the workers?"

From a soap box orator this sort of thing would not be surprising, but from the lips of a supposedly responsible leader of organized labor it deserves comment. We cannot believe this statement is sincere unless Mr. Gompers' brains have become hopelessly addled. He objects to the declaration by "five men," who happen to be the justices of the Supreme court who upheld the Adamson law, that four men, who are the heads of the railroad brotherhoods, should not have the power to paralyze the transportation system of the nation.

Mr. Gompers is talking twaddle when he pretends that the principle of public service and public safety declared by Chief Justice White is "destructive of the fundamentals of freedom." He asks us to assume that "the masses, the workers," will be benefited by a general railway strike to enforce higher pay for a small minority of the workers. Gompers knows that the masses, the workers, must pay for the exercise of this power, as well as the classes, and that it is as much of a necessity for the wage earner, the clerk, and the farmer to shackle as to any one whom he represents.

It is only demagogy to pretend that the uncontrolled power of a comparatively small minority of workers to paralyze the whole economic processes of the nation's life is a "right" which "the masses" ought to protect. As a matter of cold fact, it is a danger to every worker and to every class, a threat of the tyranny of force against all the people.

The right to strike in private industry is fully recognized. But it is obvious to any sane mind that in the case of a public service essential to the well being, even the life, of the whole community this right must give way to a right which is paramount to all other rights—the community's right of self-preservation. The most radical democratic organization would never permit a minority to destroy the common prosperity and imperil the common safety. If it did that democracy would quickly disappear.

Editorial of the Day

BROOMSTICK PREPAREDNESS.

[From the Boston Herald.]

A Washington correspondent writes, "It was reiterated that the administration was to make no move that could be construed as a warlike step. This is the reason that mobilization of the navy has not been ordered, though navy officials have favored it." And so on. Small wonder that patriotic sentiment the country over is humiliated and outraged!

Small wonder that Germany is convinced, as it has been since the Lusitania went down, that this country does not mean business! There has been too much of apology and disclaiming and minimizing—too much of what the New York Times calls "broomstick preparedness," when it points to the 600 Plattsburg graduates in that city drilling faithfully but appealing in vain for guns to drill with.

On general principles, that the administration has blindly ignored, there has been need of preparedness for two years and more. Now there is a crisis that makes half hearted and apologetic preparedness something worse than a mistake.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Motto: Hew to the Line, Let the quips fall where they may.

OUR imperfect understanding of a rapidly clarifying situation is that after congress declares that a state of war exists, we shall have nothing to do with the odious Germans. More fortunate than any other nation, we are able, thanks to our splendid isolation, to conduct hostilities without associating with the enemy. To maintain our martial spirit at concert pitch we need a Hymn of Aversion.

A YOUNG Egyptian with a grievance addressed a petition to the late Lord Cromer which opened with these words:

O Hell! Lordship's face grow red when he hear quite beastly behaviour of Public Works Department towards his humble servant.

"POULTRY TOO HIGH TO KILL."

Sometimes it's too high to eat.

My Dear, It Would Be Cheaper to Throw the Carpet Away.

[From the Evanston News-Index.]

When cleaning a carpet, peel a pound of potatoes, scrape them, stir the pulp in a pail of water, and strain, etc.

AS usual, notes A. W. C., Chicago is well equipped for the war. The telephone directory lists 80 Springers.

"More Danced Against Than Dancing."

Sir: I am, or so esteem myself, a champion of emprise, one who stands for action against ease, hard deeds against soft, the Red Gods against the Pink and White. Modesty has not inhibited the expression of principles, and in particular have I inveighed against the dance. That brave men and fair women should become, as it were, puppets, to skip and wriggle through a concatination of grotesque contortions, under the urge of an instrumental clamor either vapid or barbaric, is a concept before which sober reason stands aghast and at which every shred of outraged dignity shrieks No! And yet an attitude of aloofness toward what one's fellows like is ungracious, if sane; man, as our philosophers have not failed to remark, is a social animal, and folly, for the wise, has at least the savor of variety. And so one may, at times, take part without approving, and walk and trot and caper with the best of them. I say, and mean, with, not like, for skill in the art is somehow not compatible with depth, does not somehow become those to whom the world looks—and looks—for achievement. Rather a certain elegant awkwardness, hinting a lack of practice, is to be commended, and this one can attain.

A specific occasion is in mind. Activity was on a floor of some size, and the equal dimensions of the ceiling having suggested the necessity of support, this had been provided in the form of columns set at intervals about the room. To an apprehensive imagination the columns, as the evening progressed, seemed to grow larger and the intervals smaller. Fortune rather than skill averted calamity, and but narrowly; fortune is fickle, and I judged it only fair to speak in warning. I should state that little had been said before. An exercise at once perilous and unwonted demands concentration, to which speech is no friend; and while silence may imperil favor, it were better to go down on record as a dull fellow than on maple as a clumsy and disgraced. But duty, to the dutiful, is imperative, and so, "I'm afraid," I murmured—and I was—"that I'll smash one of the posts in this room yet."

"Oh," she said—and for all the feeling in the words she might have been Cleopatra feeding poison to a slave—"that would be suicidal!"

A fact which I have observed, and which I at times derive satisfaction from reflecting upon, is that some people, who combine with a trenchancy of tongue a lack of principle, are prone to yield to impulse whenever opportunity offers, without regard to the merits of the occasion; their motive is purely gymnastic;—they but shoot to see if they can hit.

A GREAT TRUTH EXPOUNDED.

[From the New Glasgow, N. S., Enterprise.]

A well known minister in a neighboring town, who had been preaching a begging sermon, concluded it as follows: "I don't want any to contribute who have not paid their subscription to the home paper, for weekly papers need money a great deal more than do the heathen." That clergyman knew what he was talking about.

HOW WE CAN LOWER DEATH RATE?

MR. A. J. McALLISTER, who recently published an analysis of the causes of death in Nebraska, has made a similar study for Missouri. He tells us that just about half the deaths in that state are due to physiological diseases [49.9 per cent]. Nearly 40 per cent [38.7 per cent] is due to germ diseases. The others, or about 11 per cent, are divided between accidents, miscellaneous causes, and old age.

Old age, which in Samuel Butler's "Erewhon" reaches, or should reach, 100 per cent as a cause of death, only attained 2 per cent in Missouri. And the record of that state is not far from average.

Health departments are fighting germs, as they should, for 38 per cent is no small portion of the whole. But I want to call attention to the necessity of doing something for the 50 per cent.

The majority of these deaths and the diseases, disablements, and disorders which are back of them were due to faulty habits. For instance, of the 20,813 deaths due to physiological diseases [so-called], more than one-fifth is due to disease of the heart and blood vessels. Among the bad habits responsible for heart and blood vessel disease are overeating, and especially overeating of meat; constipation, the abuse of tobacco, and carelessness in the use of lead by painters and others.

Thirty-five hundred and ninety-one deaths in this group were due to disease of the nervous system. Among the bad habits responsible for some of the diseases of the nervous system are the worrying habit, the anger habit, the poor sleeping habit, and various forms of the drug habit.

Kipling tells us of a good day,

"When no one shall work for money,
And no one shall work for pay,
But each for the joy of working,
And each in his separate star,
Will paint the thing as he sees it
For the God of the things as they are."

Men who work for the joy of working do not develop the worry habit, the insomnia habit, nor do many of them die from diseases of the nervous system.

Twenty-nine hundred and thirty-six died of Bright's disease. Among the habits responsible for some of the cases of Bright's disease are the meat habit, the overeating habit, and the alcohol habit.

Mr. McAllister sets down 2,178 deaths as due to diseases of the digestive system. I imagine that most of those deaths are due to diarrhœas of children, but I expect cirrhosis of the liver figures in the group. Cirrhosis of the liver is the great outstanding illustration of a disease due to the alcohol habit.

While the health departments are doing their part in protecting us, why should not we do our part as well? There is no reason why we should "let George do it" all the way.

MAY BE TAPEWORM.

F. W. writes: "I have noticed in my passage some white flat worms about one inch long and one-eighth of an inch wide. Out of one end some white liquid is emitted. What are they How is it remedied? How does one know when one has contracted syphilis?"

REPLY.

1. The sketch which accompanied your letter suggests sections of tapeworms. The white liquid is probably fluid containing eggs. If you will show one of these worms to a physician he can tell you whether or not it is a tapeworm. If you have a tapeworm take tapeworm medicine, but be sure you have properly prepared yourself.

2. By physical examination, microscopic examination, and by Wasserman test—the method to depend on the stage of the disease.

BATHS ARE O. K.

E. G. K. writes: "I am in the habit of taking a warm bath each night before retiring, after a strenuous day of work, and a cold dip each morning upon arising. Is it possible that a warm bath, taken each night, may prove weakening and that a cold dip in the morning may cause a congestion of blood, injurious to the kidneys?"

REPLY.

Your habit is all right. Keep it up. Exercise some after your morning dip. Use exercises that will keep your joints supple and help your wind.

LACTEAL GLANDS.

M. K. writes: "What are the functions of the lacteal glands; also what foods act directly upon them?"

REPLY.

The breasts are made up of fat and lacteal glands. The lacteal glands, also known as the mamary glands and loosely termed the breasts, are the glands which secrete milk. There are no foods which act directly on the lacteal glands in a proper sense. In a certain sense milk, butter, and all products of milk and butter act on the lacteal glands. Other foods also act on them in lesser measure. For instance, meat, bread, and vegetables. Beer and malt liquids have no special action on these glands.

FRUIT JUICE FOR BABIES.

M. W. writes: "1. Is it customary to give a 3 months old baby fruit juices? 2. How is potato juice made?

REPLY.

1. Most physicians advise fruit juice in moderation for 3 months old babies if there is any reason for using it, such as constipation or certain kinds of bowel trouble or tendency to scurvy. Some physicians do not advise fruit juices until after 5 months of age, unless the conditions are urgent.

2. To this Dr. J. H. Kellogg of Battle Creek answers: "I recommend potato soup or puree. This should be given in quantities of one to three ounces a day, according to the needs of the child. It is only necessary that the puree should be thin and smooth, season with a little salt and a small amount of butter."

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

[Copyright: 1917: By the Brentwood Co.]

THAT Prince Gregory Lvoff should be the premier and the head of the new provisional government in Russia, and the fact that he should have been the leader and organizer of the revolution that ousted the czar from his throne, serves to recall that it was his grandfather, Senator Prince Alexis Lvoff, who composed the magnificent and impressive national anthem of Russia, which begins with an appeal for divine protection for the head of the reigning house—namely: with the words "Boshe Zaria Chrani," that is, "God save our czar." These words have ever since 1833 been embodied in the armorial bearings of the princely house of Lvoff, by a decree of Emperor Nicholas I.

Prince Alexis was the son of a Russian minister of state, adopted the military profession, became a captain of the engineer corps of the Guards division at Petrograd, and then aid de camp to Gen. Count Benckendorff, who was the head of the military household of Nicholas I. This had the effect of bringing him into contact with his sovereign, who was struck by his genius, as a violinist, and who in 1836, some time after Lvoff's composition of the national anthem, intrusted him with the control of the imperial orchestra and choirs. He also was for some years controller of the household of the czarovitch, afterwards Alexander III., and died in 1870, as a general and as a senator.

The way in which Alexis Lvoff came to compose the national anthem is rather curious. It seems that until 1833 Russia had no national anthem of her own and was accustomed to use the tune of England's "God Save the King," which likewise is that of Prussia's national anthem, "Heil dir im siegerkranz," and also that known in the United States as "America," beginning "My country, 'tis of thee."

During a visit to a number of foreign courts in 1833 Emperor Nicholas, who was tired of always hearing this foreign melody played in his honor, complained about the matter to Gen. Count Benckendorff, and to Prince Alexis Lvoff, who were among his suite, and suggested to the latter that he should attempt to compose something wholly Russian.

Lvoff made up his mind to produce something that would be robust, stately, stirring, thoroughly national in character, worthy to reverberate, either through a church, through the soldiers' ranks, or amongst a crowd of people; something that would appeal alike to the lettered and to the ignorant.

He composed it in a single night, literally on the spur of the moment, got the poet Jukovsky to write the words, and finally was able to inform the emperor that the hymn was ready to be submitted to him.

It was played and sung for the first time in the chapel of the Winter palace at Petrograd on Nov. 23, 1832, by the imperial choir and two orchestras, in the presence of the emperor, the empress, and the Grandduke Michael. Nicholas caused it to be played several times: then sung without accompaniment, and then played without the singing, and finally expressed himself immensely pleased and gratified, and gave orders to Gen. Count Benckendorff to notify the minister of war that the hymn had been adopted as the national anthem for the army. Its first public performance took place in his presence on Dec. 11, 1833, at the Grand theater of Moscow, and its first state production at court, on the occasion of the blessing of the regimental colors, on Christmas day in the Winter palace at Petrograd.

On that occasion Nicholas presented Prince Alexis Lvoff, with a gold snuff box, adorned with diamonds, as a token of his satisfaction, and likewise ordered that the opening words of the new national anthem, "Boshe zaria chrani," should be added to the armorial bearings of the Lvoff family.

Lord Hallingdon's youngest brother, Captain the Hon. Geoffrey Mills of the Royal navy, who while A. D. C. to the governor of Madras led to the altar a daughter of Judge Hungerford Boddam there, a lady whom he was compelled to divorce three years ago, has just married very quietly at the Chapel royal, Savoy, in London, the widowed Viscountess Northland, whose husband, a captain of the Coldstream guards, was killed at the front in France in 1915.

Lady Northland is a very rich woman. She was Miss Hilda Cooper, daughter and heiress of the late Sir Daniel Cooper of Jockey club and racing celebrity. He was colossally rich, being one of the great ground landlords of Sydney, Australia. His father, that is to say, the grandfather of Lady Northland, was the leading banker and merchant of Sydney. In fact, the entire colony of New South Wales, in the third, fourth, and fifth decades of the nineteenth century was dependent upon the first Sir Daniel Cooper and his brother for the transaction of its business. The first Sir Daniel Cooper was the founder of the Bank of New South Wales, the biggest institution of the kind in the antipodes, and was the first speaker of the legislative assembly of New South Wales after the colony had been granted a constitution.

The late Lord Northland was the eldest son of the Earl of Ranfurly, head of the Sctch house which furnished John Knox to Scottish history, as a leader of the Reformation in the northern kingdom; and Lord Ranfurly also has in his veins the Quaker blood of William Penn.

The late Lord Northland came prominently before the public as co-respondent some six or seven years back in connection with the divorce suit brought at Edinburgh by the Scotch Laird Jorn Alexander Stirling against his American wife, who was before her marriage Miss Clara Elizabeth Taylor, a pretty soubrette from Washington, D. C. Lord Northland undoubtedly would have married Mrs. Stirling had it not been for the peculiarity of Scotch divorce laws.

These do not forbid divorced people to marry again. The guilty parties may marry immediately after the decree is pronounced anybody except the corespondent in the case. This rule, which is most strict and imperative, dates in its present form in Scotland from the year 1600, and always has been rigorously enforced.

It can be traced back to much greater antiquity, having been insisted upon by the Roman Catholic hurch in ancient times. Innocent III. (A. D. 1198 to 1216), relaxed it to the extent of a decree that on the death of the innocent spouse the guilty parties might be married. The Scottish Reformed church, however, revived the rule in all its severity, and although several attempts have been made to bring about its repeal—on the last occasion in 1860—it still remains in force.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

INDEMNIFYING VICTIMS OF DRINK.

Chicago, March 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—My good friend, C. H. Hermann, wholesale whisky dealer, appears perturbed over the Rev. Roy L. Smith's recent letter to THE TRIBUNE, in which the assertion is made that "Illinois legislators will fail in their duty to the public if they do not give the people a chance to vote on the liquor problem."

Citizens whose property Mr. Hermann fears will be confiscated if a vote is permitted on the question of abolishing liquor should be indemnified, and the drys should agree not to raise the question again if unsuccessful, Mr. Hermann argues.

But what indemnity does Mr. Hermann propose for the women and children whose pitiable plight is due to the traffic in intoxicants, if it is to be continued?

And what compensation does Mr. Hermann propose for employers in other lines of industry than brewing and distilling for the losses they are daily sustaining through intemperance on the part of their employés?

After all is said for and against the liquor traffic, the question of impaired efficiency, which even its stanchest advocates do not attempt to gainsay, is the crux of the matter, and the one the voters hope to have an opportunity of voting upon.

The Bruce bill will simply legalize the "blind pig." Few business men will dispute the liquor slogan that "prohibition does not prohibit," and most of us are convinced that saloons which now debauch our boys and girls in their back rooms will find it just as easy to do so if the Bruce bill becomes a law.

Therefore, state-wide prohibition of the liquor traffic is what the legislators should give the people an opportunity to vote upon, and business men can well afford to visit Springfield on Wednesday next in order that our legislators may know at first hand how other lines of business now regard the brewery, the distillery, and the saloon, with or without its back room cabaret.

WILLIAM C. HOLLISTER.

WHERE IS THE SAVING?

Chicago, March 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It seems to me that to the average layman the new gas rates will appear as a farce. The gas company is going to reduce its rate from 80 cents to 70 cents, a reduction of 10 cents, or 12½ per cent. The gas company will at the same time reduce its candle power from 22 to 9, a reduction of 13 candlepower, or 59 per cent, and will also reduce the heat units.

If you use one gas jet now, hereafter you will have to use more than two in order to get the same amount of light, and will use more than twice the number of cubic feet of gas.

If your gas bill now amounts to 80 cents, which is the present rate per thousand cubic feet, hereafter you will have to pay more than $1.40 for the same amount of light. One gas jet will give you only 41 per cent of the light you are getting at present.

By reducing the heat units you will have to cook longer, thereby consuming a larger amount of gas.

Where does the saving to the consumer come in?

This is one layman's view of it. Perhaps I am wrong, and if so I would be very glad to be enlightened on it. But if the above is correct, then the so-called reduction in the gas rate is a huge joke, and the poor consumer is once more "bumped" the way he has been so many times in the past when he has sought a reduction in anything.

A. P. WALLERMAN.

NOT ON FIRM GROUND.

Chicago, March 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—However righteous our cause may be for severing our relations or warring with another nation, we will never be able to convince all nations that we have been offended and are not the offenders in some measure. Some will always doubt that we are right and some will always proclaim us wrong. Then why does our government in the present crisis adhere so strictly to its interpretation of international law, an interpretation that apparently is even not based on indisputable and lucid statements as applied to present methods of warfare?

There is doubt and there are different versions that leave a clear avenue for us to mitigate the stern measures we have chosen to adopt in arming all merchant ships. Do we stand on firm ground when we hold we have a right to arm munition ships? Maintaining this stand, can we face the future with equanimity and present our case on the day of adjustment firm in the conviction that it is usullied?

M. REICH.

TO ENCOURAGE MARKSMANSHIP.

Chicago, March 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The following named members of different gun clubs offer the suggestion that free rifle ranges be established in all cities under the supervision of expert marksmen, and that the regular army rifles and ammunition be used.

The range to be 300, 500, and 1,000 yards. All contestants to be registered and allowed about eight shots at the different ranges per week, or a total of twenty-four shots.

Marksmen medals could be granted weekly for the best scores.

A large percentage of our citizens would be glad to avail themselves of the privilege of the free range, and it would not take many months to have our citizens become a nation of sharpshooters.

COMMISSIONS FOR NONCOMS.

Lewistown, Ill., March 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The problem of supplying drill officers for the army to be realized through compulsory service exhibits every indication of being solved in a manner unfair to the men who have voluntarily given their time in the service of their country. Civilians from colleges, noncoms from the militia, are to be the favored ones.

Are not the privates, corporals, and sergeants of the regular army to be given an opportunity to secure a commission where their military education and ability warrant, or is the maximum height obtainable by the man who joins the army of his own free will but the rank of "top cutter"?

The proposed method reeks with injustice of the grossest sort.

OPENING 'BATTLE' OF WAR TO BE IN CONGRESS HALLS

Organization of House to Have Nation's Defense as Its Issue.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—With the sixty-fifth congress about to convene for deliberation on a grave crisis in the nation's history members of the new house of representatives are beginning to reach Washington to participate in preliminary conferences on organization of that body.

Because the United States is about to be embroiled in the European war, arriving members say the issue of control of the lower house is of utmost importance to the country, and reorganization of committees to dominate the army and navy supply bills is, in their opinion, a paramount factor.

Drop Coalition Plan.

All talk of a coalition organization seems to have subsided and Democratic leaders, despite the fact that the fate of the organization rests largely with the independent members, are going into the fight with boasting predictions of victory all along the line.

Republican leaders are letting the Democrats do the predicting and are working hard to convince incoming members that there should be a bolstering of the military and naval committees, especially because of international breakers the country is about to encounter.

The appeal of the Republicans to members of independent thought is one of patriotism. They point out that in the event of Democratic success the army and navy committees will remain under domination of men of pacifist type, in whom reliance should not be placed for an emergency of actual war.

Would Defend Nation.

In the event of Republican success, the leaders argue, these committees would be almost completely reorganized, with men of "little navy" leanings and "small army" convictions, to be outnumbered by others who would not hesitate to put the defenses of the country into impregnable condition as rapidly as possible.

Some of the old Republican members believe that these arguments will have weight and that there is a good chance to elect a Republican speaker and to control committees, notwithstanding the pecksure declarations of the Democrats.

OBREGON HELD AS PLOTTER?

El Paso, Tex., March 25.—[Special.]—Military headquarters here received information tonight that Gen. Alvaro Obregon, recently resigned minister of war at Mexico City, was under arrest at the Mexican capital in connection with incessant rumors that a revolution against the established government was about to be undertaken.

"GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS OF RUSSIA STUMBLING BLOCK OF THE ENEMY"

BY STANLEY WASHBURN.

[Copyright: 1917: By The Tribune Company.]

This is the second of a series of articles by Mr. Washburn on the conditions in Russia, leading up to the recent revolution.

[Copyright: 1917: By The Tribune Company.]

If any one believed that the czar started the war with any idea of making a compromise short of actual victory over the Germans the fact that he appointed the Grand Duke Nicholas as commander in chief is proof positive that he had no such intention whatever.

Nicholas Nicholaievitch in one respect represents one of the finest characters that Russian history has produced, but not, I think, in the way that the world generally believes. He contributed to Russia during those early and trying days the great moral and cohesive force which kept the Russian armies intact during the first terrific onslaught of the well organized and wonderfully equipped army of the Germans.

There is no reason to doubt now that the original war plan of the Russian war office never contemplated a serious invasion of Germany from the north, certainly not at the inception of war.

It is more well established that holding on to Poland and Warsaw was not contemplated, certainly at the beginning, and if there were any question of this the dismantlement of the Warsaw forts before the war by order of the minister of war makes it clear enough that there was not a serious program for attacking Germany and certainly not as an initial step of the campaign. In light of subsequent events one finds many reasons to believe that the administration located in Petrograd did not intend to seriously injure the Germans.

Brooked No Interference.

But when Nicholas took over the command it was understood that there should be no interference with his operations from any source whatsoever. The war in the west moved with such unexpected swiftness that the German campaign in France became an issue in Russian strategy within ten days after the war started.

Nicholas is a man of honor, integrity, decision, and patriotism of the highest order. The moment the French capital seemed in direct danger of falling before the Teutons he reversed the original campaign of waiting and completely mobilizing and launched his sweeping attacks on East Prussia. For several weeks his troops swept on almost without cessation for the very good reason that there were very few important German formations in East Prussia.

There is small doubt now that the Germans were perfectly well aware of the Russian plan of campaign and had felt safe in leaving East Prussia unguarded. The advances of the Russians filled Berlin with panic stricken refugees, and six Teuton corps were withdrawn from France just before the battle of the Marne and, though the hurriedly executed Russian advance was thrown back with heavy losses, Paris was saved.

Played Game for Russia.

There is every reason to believe that the quick response of Nicholas to the despairing cries from France was never contemplated by the Russian war office in their original schemes, and certainly they were never dreamed of by the Germans. From the time he took over the command the grand duke played the game for Russia and for the allies and never for the sake of the Germans.

Warsaw was all but lost in October, 1914, because there were no defenses there, and the original plan seems to have been to abandon the queen city of Poland, but again at the eleventh hour the imperial commander kicked over all of the well laid plans of somebody else by throwing an army into Warsaw and checking the Germans on the Bzura line in November, where they sat in the mud for ten dreary months striving in vain to break through the hurriedly planned Russian defenses. At this time there seems to have been a very feeble pretense of confidence between the great general staff and the minister of war.

No Confidence Shown.

I learned through a certain excellent channel in November that six corps were coming for the defense of Warsaw. A friend of mine a few days later asked Sukomlinov if it was true that these troops were coming to Warsaw, to which the minister of war replied sourly: "Six corps are moving somewhere, but his imperial highness has not condescended to inform me of his intention as to their disposition."

From the taking over of the command all graft, as far as the grand duke could personally reach it, was eliminated. The story was told in the early months of that first year of a delegation of contractors who came to see the commander in chief in regard to placing of some big orders. In his worn uniform the grand duke received them curtly. Without asking them to be seated or speaking to a single individual in person he made the brusque statement, "He among you who steals I will hang. Now go and submit your bids to the proper department."

Explains Retreat.

The retreat from Warsaw, for which the czar's uncle is given such extraordinary credit, was commenced with his sanction and approval, but the actual execution of it must be charged entirely to the brilliant commander of the Warsaw front, Alexieff. If there be those who doubt this it is interesting to note that after the grand duke had left the front and been transferred to the Caucasus Alexieff performed the same operation at Vilna that he had at Warsaw, and those who were familiar with both Warsaw and Vilna cannot fail to see the hand of the same military genius.

I have little hesitancy in making this statement, as I was with the armies of Alexieff from April until almost the first of September, and was with six different armies during the Warsaw movement. As the campaign of early 1915 progressed there began to be apparent a growing uneasiness in Petrograd in pro-German circles. The advertised fall of Warsaw did not seem to be forthcoming.

All that early spring and summer the German propaganda was working night and day in Petrograd to discredit the grand duke and to demoralize the army by tales that England and France had abandoned Russia to fight the war unassisted by help from the west. Spies were everywhere, and innumerable setbacks and minor defeats came about by Russian plans becoming prematurely known.

Germans Well Informed.

In fact, there seemed to be nothing that the Germans did not learn in advance. I remember when the Siberians moved from the Narev front to the Lublin front in July, 1915, an excellent example of this. The proposed withdrawal of this corps was supposed to be a profound secret, and few, even officers, knew of their intended movement. At 2 in the afternoon the Germans elevated a sign reading: "Siberians: You will leave tomorrow for Lublin and the Thirty-sixth corps will take your place tonight."

All of these evidences of treachery in high places were working very badly on the morale of the troops even in May and early June. Then came the commencement of the ammunition failure on the Warsaw front with an even greater tightness than had been the case in Galicia in April and May. Of course the end was inevitable. There is no question that the Germans both in Berlin and in Petrograd were sure that the Russian army would be captured or annihilated during the retreat, and during those anxious days there were many in Petrograd who shed crocodile tears.

But the impossible was achieved and the army made its escape from Warsaw and Vilna. The moral loss, however, was a serious one, but it seemed a sufficiently good pretext for the German party to start their first bid for an independent peace with the Germans.

1,500 JEWS CHEER BIRTH OF A NEW ERA IN RUSSIA

An enthusiastic audience of 1,500 Jewish men and women packed the auditorium of the Herzl school last night in a meeting held under the auspices of the Jewish branch of the American Socialist party. It was a gathering of rejoicing that the Russian revolution has given the rights of citizenship to the Jews of that country.

Morris Suesskind, editor of the Jewish Labor World, presided. Among the speakers were Miss Grace Abbott and Miss Ellen Gates Starr of Hull House, Adolph Germer, secretary of the Socialist party of America; Attorney Peter Sissman, Dr. Herman Cohen, and M. Backall, Jewish writer and lecturer.

"The revolution in Russia is the beginning of a new era," said Miss Abbott. "The revolutionary spirit which has won such splendid triumph in that dark country will spread all over Europe. It will herald the passing of monarchs and the birth of real world democracy."

The Russian revolution was discussed by many speakers at a banquet last night at the Auditorium hotel given by the Jewish Congress association. Judge Hugo Pam was appointed chairman of a committee to draft a cablegram of congratulations to the Russian duma.

The speakers of the evening were: Judge Hugo Pam, Dr. Gotthard Deutsch, Dr. A. J. Messing, Prof. S. A. Hoffman, Leo Hoffman, Mrs. Edwin Romberg, and Judge Joseph Davis. Jacob G. Grossberg acted as toastmaster.

DRYS PETITION SCHUBERTH IN FRONT OF HOME

Legislator Promises to Consider People on Referendum.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

The right of petition was exercised yesterday by several thousand residents of the Eleventh legislative district, in which Englewood is located, when they marched in a procession three blocks long to the home of Representative Henry F. Schuberth, at 7955 Sangamon street, and requested him to give the people a chance to decide for themselves on the liquor question by voting for the state-wide referendum bill which is up for final passage on Wednesday.

There were representatives of sixty-eight Protestant churches, including twenty-six pastors, present. Mr. Schuberth rode up to his house in his automobile just as the crowd arrived. It had assembled at the Calvary Methodist Episcopal church, at Seventy-eighth and Morgan streets, and had marched over. There were seventy-five automobiles, it was estimated, in the procession.

No Debate on Merits.

"We are not here to discuss the merits of the wet and dry issue," said the Rev. O. M. Caward as he addressed Mr. Schuberth from the top of the house steps, "but we are here in accordance with the time honored custom of exercising the right of the people to be heard. Out of 1.400 townships in Illinois there are only 190 townships which are wet, and we think the majority have a right to determine our public policies."

"I am glad to see you," Representative Schuberth replied, "but I find fault with you because you did not support me four years ago when I stood for the passage of a referendum bill on all questions. The Republicans defeated the referendum measure."

Mr. Schuberth is a Democrat.

With upraised hand he then spoke with emotion as he referred directly to the petition on the wet and dry referendum.

"Before God," he said, "I do not know how I will vote on this question next Wednesday, but I promise you I will seriously consider your request and will vote as I believe will be for the best interests of the people."

Supporter Makes Appeal.

M. C. Condit, who was announced as a dry Democrat, made the second appeal.

"I voted for you," said Mr. Condit. "We are not here to discuss the general subject of the referendum, but the referendum on the particular subject now before the legislature. The Democratic party was the first party to pass temperance legislation, and it is a Democratic principle to allow the people to rule."

Dr. Caward closed the interview with prayer.

The procession was headed by a troop of boy scouts from the Thoburn Methodist church. They carried a banner on which was inscribed, "We believe in the personal liberty and democracy of a state-wide referendum." Ben S. Wilson was marshal of the parade.

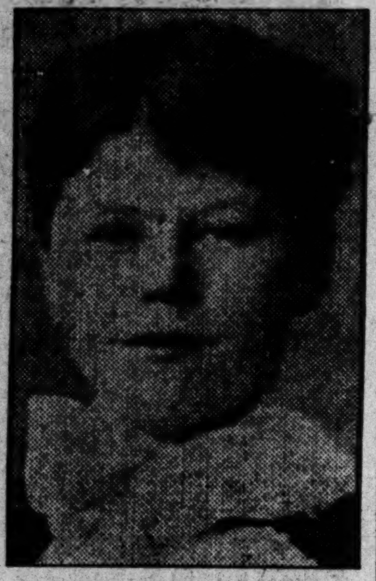
Missing Boy Who Is Being Sought by Children of St. Vincent's School.



HUGH GIBBONS.

The children of St. Vincent's school, Osgood street and Webster avenue, and the Boy Scouts have organized parties to search for Hugh Gibbons, who disappeared from his home at 2129 North Racine avenue on March 16.

The missing boy had been much interested in stories of country life.

Hugh is 13 years old, but is said to appear 16. He is 5 feet 6 inches tall and has brown hair, blue eyes, and a dark complexion. He wore a dark stocking cap, a gray checked overcoat, a blue serge waist, and green knee pants.

"I WISH KAISER WAS DEAD," COSTS A MOTHER'S LIFE?

Milwaukee, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—A postal card came through the Milwaukee postoffice in the last two days addressed to a Milwaukee son of a German mother who will not allow his name to be used, which brought both a message to him of his mother's health and her execution by the German authorities.

The card was addressed to "My Son." The card said that she was getting along well, and said: "I wish the kaiser was dead."

The card came through, but the inscription across the card was to the recipient:

"Your mother was shot at sunrise. The censor."

The story developed when the young man tried to enlist in the navy here and presented the card as evidence of his reason for being enrolled. He had not been naturalized and was for the time rejected.

WIN CONFIDENCE OF HAITIANS THE AIM OF AMERICA

U. S. Officers Better Lot of People—Eliminate Graft and Theft.

(This is the third of a series of articles on Haiti by Mr. Hinman.)

BY GEORGE HINMAN JR.

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, March 20.—In Port-au-Prince, capital of Haiti, the Haitian government maintained a national band, which played at the palace every Sunday morning when the president went to church and once again later in the day when the president returned from worship. For this the national government paid the band some $11,000 annually, no small sum in Haiti.

But last month the American marine officer commanding the gendarmerie, as the national native constabulary officered by mariens is called, expressed the opinion that the band was not earning the $11,000. He "suggested"—the Americans always "suggest" or "recommend"—that the musicians be incorporated into the gendarmerie and be required to play three times a week—not at the palace for the president but in the parks for the people.

Band Balks at U. S. Orders.

The band demurred. It was backed up by Louis Borno, secretary of foreign affairs and strong man in the Haitian cabinet. The marine officer persisted. With the support of the strong man the band struck, destroying its instruments. The gendarmerie arrested the musicians for destroying government property.

The marine officer organized a new band, which now plays thee times a week—not at the palace for the president but in the parks for the people.

"Putting one over on Borno" is a favorite pastime in Haiti. In itself the incident of the band is nothing, but it typifies the policy followed in Haiti by the Americans intrusted with the task of ruling the country while at the same time permitting it to wear the mask of self-government. The idea is not so much to "put one over on Borno" as it is to win the friendship of the Haitian people, who for a century and a decade have been ruled and robbed by bandits in and out of office.

Rule Backed by Gendarmerie.

Simplicity is the central thought in the American policy of control. The gendarmerie is made up of about 2,500 carefully selected natives, who are officered by American marines. The enlisted gendarmes receive $13 a month pay and $3 subsistence, or a total of about 50 cents a day. The working wage in Haiti is about 20 cents a day; so it is not difficult to obtain good men for the gendarmerie.

Military organization is used in the gendarmerie, which is distributed throughout the country as a national police force. White officers are everywhere in command; and in each district the ranking officer is the real governor—and more, for the gendarmerie is no mere police force.

When the marines occupied the island they took charge of all roads and public works, the telegraph lines, and the work of policing the country. Martial law was proclaimed throughout the country. Now the marines are being steadily withdrawn. About 400 remain, who probably will be kept as a garrison for some time.

Control Roads and Irrigation.

As the marines curtail their activities they deliver them to the marine officers commanding the gendarmerie. The Haitian government wanted back the roads and the public works. The gendarmerie put pressure to bear and the president of Haiti wrote a letter delivering the roads and irrigation systems into the hands of the gendarmerie.

The gendarmerie wanted to build the roads and open the irrigation ditches to win the friendship of the Haitian people in the country. When the French were driven out of Haiti they left hundreds of miles of good roads and trails and an elaborate system of irrigation. When the Americans arrived they found roads, trails, and ditches hopelessly overgrown with trees and underbrush.

Scores of miles of ditches and roads have been opened and are being operated by the gendarmerie. More are being built with the scant funds available.

Most important of all the gendarmarie disburses the government funds except in Port-au-Prince. Haitian moneys all are handled through the office of the financial adviser, an American rom the state department, in Port-au-Prince. Except in the capital, where he makes payments direct, the financial adviser disburses through the gendarmerie ranking officer in the various districts.

This furnishes the gendarmerie with a weapon dreaded by all Haitian officeholders.

Evey effort is being made to win the friendship and faith of the countryfolk. Before the American intervention conditions in the interior were hopeless. Agriculture was at a standstill. The people had nothing, not even the few clothes they would have liked to wear.

Hard Life for Farmers.

Thrift was dismayed by thieves, official and otherwise. Whatever a man raised on his little plot of ground usually was taken from him by bandits.

All this changed with the American occupation. The charges for passports and permits were cut to a minimum or abolished. The bandits in office were thrown out or made to behave. The bandits out of office were ruthlessly run down and killed or imprisoned.

M'CORMICK AIDS INVADE FLOATER AREA IN 21ST

Fletcher Dobyns Will Start Today Ousting Fake Voters.

The happy stamping ground of "floaters" and "repeaters" in the south end of the Twenty-first ward will be invaded today by the campaign forces of Robert H. McCormick, Republican aldermanic nominee, with the intention of removing each fraudulent name from the poll books. Fletcher Dobyns, one time candidate for attorney general, is in charge of the "drive."

An army of several hundred men is being organized to guard the "south end" polling places at the election next week and prevent the casting of fake votes.

Iliff Repudiates Wets.

Political affairs in the Third ward reached the sizzling state yesterday as a result of the indorsement given the aldermanic candidacy of George J. Iliff by the United Societies for Self-Government. Mr. Iliff charged that the organization's stamp of approval is "a frameup," and repudiated it. Officials of the United Societies said it was "a mistake." The Third war is emphatically "dry" in sentiment.

"I am not tied up with the United Societies," said Mr. Iliff. "I refused to sign their pledge, and I'm against them."

Republicans backing Frederick Patterson greeted the indorsement with joy. They made ready to circularize the ward this week with facsimiles of the indorsement.

The Democrats, in addition to denying "wet" affiliations, countered with the charge that Hugh Patterson, a sixty day appointee in the streets and alleys department, is spending his time making a house to house canvass in the ward in behalf of his brother's candidacy. They accuse him of drawing pay from the city while doing this work.

In the Thirty-third.

Backers of D. I. Jarrett in the Thirty-third ward accuse the city hall forces of making liberal promises of municipal patronage there as a means of defeating him. Mr. Jarrett is making a strong bid for independent votes.

The Republican organization in the Sixth ward, dominated by the West-Deneen-Hull forces, is making the accusation that the Thompson Republicans are preparing to vote the Democratic ticket in the election as a means of defeating Ald. A. A. McCormick for his part in fighting the city administration. The ward is Republican by over 8,000 and defeated the administration candidate for alderman last year by 3,000.

The Democratic organization in the Hotel Sherman is arranging for rallies and meetings in every ward each night this week. Meetings were held yesterday in the Twenty-second and Twenty-fourth wards on the north side.

Clayton Smith Promises to Refuse Interest Money

Clayton F. Smith, warden of the county hospital and Democratic candidate for city treasurer, spoke at three meetings yesterday. These were at the First Englewood Congregation, B'nai Israel, Sixty-second and Aberdeen streets, at the exercises installing Rabbi S. Remirowski; at Phœnix hall, Sedgwick and Division streets, and at St. Josaphat school, Southport avenue and Belden street.

Mr. Smith said if elected he would turn all the money received as interest back to the people. The salary, he said, would suffice.

James T. Igoe, Democratic candidate for city clerk, also spoke at the three meetings.

WIDOWED

Former Northwestern Student Whose Husband Was Killed in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. Philip Peterson

News reached Chicago yesterday of the death in Phœnix, Ariz., from injuries received in an automobile accident of Philip Peterson, who graduated from Northwestern university in 1915.

Peterson won as his bride in the early part of this year Miss Ella Marie Waterman, who was voted the most beautiful girl in the graduating class at Northwestern in 1915. The romance began in college and ended when the young couple were married in the Little Church Around the Corner in New York. They went to live at Phœnix, where Mr. Peterson's father has extensive cattle interests.

Mrs. Peterson is the daughter of Mrs. J. Waterman of the Evanston hotel, Evanston. She came originally from Creston, Ia.

FEARS OF COVERT CITY HALL FIGHT UPON M'CORMICK

Possibility Foreseen of Last Minute Swing to Armstrong.

This is the second of a series of articles in which the "city hall man" for "The Tribune" discusses the aldermanic campaign. Other ward situations will be reviewed in numerical order.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Submarine attacks by the city hall are forecast in the Sixth ward.

For that reason the situation there has attracted more general interest than the contests in the Eighth and Ninth, the apparently one sided election in the Seventh, or the Democratic "cinch" in the Tenth.

Ald. Alexander A. McCormick was not opposed in the primary. The Thompson torpedoes were in use elsewhere. But, with Merriam, Buck, Werner, and Kearns blown out of municipal waters, McCormick supporters say they have seen signs of trouble on the smooth surface of Sixth ward politics and they are watching for periscopes.

McCormick Not a Scolder.

McCormick has not been of the type of scolding alderman, such as Buck or Merriam. In place of the ax of denunciation he has chosen to use the scalpel of irony or ridicule. But he is listed among the "enemies" of the administration. Therefore the scanning of the horizon.

The candidate considered possibly dangerous in the event city hall support is thrown to him in the last days of the race is Guy Norse Armstrong, who filed as an independent. He came to Chicago in World's Fair days, was a reporter for the old Record and the Times, and was connected with the advertising department of the Inter-Ocean. For a time he also was a lecturer for the Daily News.

His business now is real estate, his chief activity in that line being the management of property. Sixteen months of foreign travel, beginning in 1903, are said to have included study of municipal problems. He declares himself ready to devote all his time to council affairs.

Leader in Ridgway Club.

Armstrong was one of the founders of the Ridgway club on Fifty-fifth street and was its first president. The Republican organization asserts that his candidacy was born in this club and that, like the club, it is a neighborhood affair. Almost along this line of thought is Armstrong's contention that the west end of the ward should have one of its two aldermen. Both McCormick and Ald. Willis O. Nance are residents of the eastern half. This, Armstrong charges, has led to the neglect of a large part of the ward.

Friends of Ald. McCormick say much of Armstrong's present support is due to animosity toward McCormick because of his fight against the Harper theater and his vote against the extension of a street car line in Lake Park avenue.

The Roy O. West forces are solidly behind McCormick and the official statements of the Thompson organization officers indorse him. Some of the Thompson lieutenants, like Clyde L. Day and Clifford G. Roe, are counted upon to support him. But there is a fear of "sealed orders" that will be held until the last minute to swing precinct organizations to Armstrong.

McCormick's friends point to his record as president of the county board and his record during his first term as reasons for his support. His committee assignments so far have not been of the best, but his advancement to more important committees is counted on this year if he is reëlected.

Think Fetzer Will Win.

The heat of the vigorous primary battle in the Seventh, which eliminated Merriam from the council, has been replaced by the calm of acknowledgment that William R. Fetzer, who defeated him, will, except for the totally unexpected, be elected.

Outside interest in that ward centers now in the extent of the protest vote that will be cast in resentment of Merriam's defeat. Some of it will show itself in the writing in of Merriam's name on the ballot, some in votes for Leo J. Flannigan, the Democratic nominee, a clerk in the county treasurer's office, and some, possibly, in ballots marked for John T. Caulfield, the Socialist.

In the Eighth, Ald. John E. Tyden, Republican, with a record for being independent, honest, and straightforward, is fought by Ross A. Woodhull, the Democratic nominee, who has made a race for the council several times unsuccessfully. Woodhull is in the wholesale ice cream business. The ward is normally Republican by about 1,000.

The official ballots, it is said, will show Ald. Hiram Vanderbilt of the Ninth, a Republican, opposed by "Henry V. Meeteren." The Vanderbilt forces, in speaking of him, refer to "Henry von Meeteren," which he says is his correct name. The "V" is said to be a wartime measure, but before the election of April 3, with congress meeting on April 2, emphasis is expected on the fact that Von Meeteren served four years in the German army.

Socialist Factor in Ninth.

For several years Von Meeteren was a metal polisher. Then he entered the saloon business. Former Gov. Dunne appointed him on the state game and fish commission, of which he still is a member. He served one term as a member of the lower house of the legislature in 1902-03. He owns the Rainbow theater.

This ward—the Ninth—is one in which the Socialist is expected to poll a substantial vote. Charles V. Johnson has been the nominee several times, and last year polled his biggest vote—3,893—but ran third in the race. At that time there was a big strike in progress that affected the vote.

Vanderbilt, who has served two terms, is highly thought of by his colleagues. He polled 10,832 votes in 1915, and his friends say he should win hands down unless the Thompson forces, led by Edward E. Erstman, committeeman, go Democratic.

Ald. Frank Klaus, Democrat, in the Tenth ward, is regarded as a "sure thing" against Alva G. Wood, the Republican choice, who is an investigator in the city attorney's office and a henchman of Tom Curran. Although Thompson carried the ward by more than 1,100 in 1915, Klaus carried it by almost 2,000.

Fall on March 17 Fatal.

Cornelius Jaeger, 57 years old, 6130 South Wood street, died at the Englewood hospital yesterday of injuries received on March 17 when he fell from a building.

SONORA TODAY, ITS EVOLUTION AND ITS PLANS

Mexican State, Unscathed by War, Grows Rich Under Wise Rule.

Dr. W. A. Evans has recently returned from a short trip to Mexico. His observations, which are the most extraordinary of any traveler who has visited that country since the revolution, are herewith presented.

BY W. A. EVANS.

The revolution in Mexico began in Sonora. Nearly eight years ago there was an outbreak in Cananea, resulting in the loss of some lives and the destruction of a great deal of property. Gen. Kosterlitzky, a commander of rurales under Diaz, suppressed this incipient revolt. This small cloud was a portender of the storm which, organized in the adjoining state of Chihuahua, swept Diaz out of power.

When Carranza contemplated revolting against Huerta he went from his own state of Coahuila into Sonora.

Nevertheless, Sonora has been more peaceful and prosperous during the last five years than has any other state in Mexico. This is in great part the result of the wise and powerful control exercised by Calles.

Little Damage in Sonora.

It is true that the battle of Agua Prieta and the skirmish of Naco took place in Sonora, and that Villa swept down from Naco on Cananea, capturing it and passing on to capture Hermosillo and Guaymas, all in this state, but in these battles, skirmishes, and occupations not many lives were lost, not so much property was destroyed, and the civil population was not greatly disturbed.

In consequence of the relative peace which has prevailed in this state it is possible to see some of the effects of the revolutionary ideas which are being developed in Mexico. Sonora is rolling in money. These are flush times with its population. The people of Cananea bought 125 automobiles in January.

Men who six years ago were walking barefooted and riding burros are now indulging in automobiles. When night comes tunes from phonographs sound from shacks and houses. Families which six years ago were living on frijoles and tortillas now have meat to eat, stoves to cook on, sewing machines, up to date clothes, automobiles, and music.

"Land and Schools," Slogan.

The improvements in the standards of individuals living are matched by the elevation of ideas of government. The slogan is "land and schools."

In former times every Mexican town owned a nearby tract of communal land. On these lands each citizen was privileged to graze his cow or his burro and to raise a few beans. In the course of time these lands had been lost to the cities, having been appropriated to private use in one way or another.

Under the present form of government they again have been set aside as communal lands. In some instances towns which had never had communal lands have seized private property and set it aside for the community.

The last half of the slogan, "lands and schools," also is being put in operation. Nearly all of the children of less than 12 years of age are in school, and one hears that compulsory education is to go into effect in 1918. The supply of school books and pupils exceeds the supply of teachers. General education has come so suddenly that it finds a dearth of trained and even of qualified teachers.

Operates Eight Hour Day.

Sonora has not stopped with such manifestations of socialism as general education—with a promise of compulsory education—and communal lands. It is operating the eight hour day, the forty-eight hour week, the one rest day in seven system.

It has workmen's compensation, including half pay during the period of disability. In each local government there is a workingmen's committee. An injured workingman has the right to carry his case to this committee even though he has settled his claim and signed a release.

The committee has powers that are retroactive both as regards the claims of individuals and such other functions as passing on the right to strike, or to lock out, or on questions that grow out of strikes and lockouts.

Religious Customs Vanish.

To my mind the most interesting development of the last six years has been the complete abolishment of religion. There are no priests to confess the dying. I asked as to that and was told that some of the old peon women wanted opportunities to confess before they died, but that was the exception.

I asked about burying the dead. They are buried without ceremony of any sort and the people seem satisfied. I asked about masses and other Sunday services. I was told that Sunday is like any other day. The old churchgoing custom merely lapsed without any sort of disarrangement of the other customs of the people.

As an offset they have prohibition. In Sonora there is no pulque, no tequila, no drink of any sort, and no saloons. Eight years ago drunken men could be seen lying on the streets and often a mounted policeman would be seen dragging a drunken man through the streets, using for the purpose a leathern thong fastened around the wrist. Now one sees no drunkenness.

On account of the uncertainties of threatened wars and ever present and ever changing revolutions, no man can tell what the future holds. It is recalled that at the time of the constitutionalist convention, at which Carranza and Villa split, one faction was for seizing all the property of the owning classes and dividing it. The other faction was for gradual extinction of the present ownership through increased burdens on property, with a final taking over of the properties with a view to government ownership and operation or redivision.

Likened to Negroes in 1870.

But what is the use of speculating about the morrow when today presents so much of interest As I have already said, there are many points of similarity in the actions of the Mexicans to that of the Negroes in reconstruction days.

In 1870 the Negro had been told that his labor had made the land and he was to come into his own "with forty acres and a mule." They, too, had a slogan of "land and schools." Every Negro child was to go to school—but there were but few qualified teachers. In place of automobiles they rode in buggies, and in place of phonographs they bought organs. There was much the same psychology that one sees in Mexico today.

Socialism Is on Trial.

However, the life of Sonora today is even more colored by another impulse. That is socialism. Somewhere somebody has read the tenets of socialism and attempted to adapt them to Mexican conditions.

Whatever the method by which it was brought about, socialism is on trial in Mexico. It is altogether improbable that a people with a new impulse, without qualifying precedent and with no inherent capacity for organization, should carry an experiment in socialism to a successful conclusion.

I had some contact with other portions of Mexico. The other states have not been as fortunate as Sonora. They have been overrun by revolutionists. Their property has been destroyed. Their railroads are not in operation, and there are no markets for their products. They are wretchedly poor. Their rags contrast with the smart clothes of the inhabitants of Sonora. To them the new constitution is a jumble of empty words.

Emigrants Carry Disease to U. S.

From these sections large numbers of unskilled laborers are emigrating into the States. As they go they carry typhus and smallpox with them. I do not see why millions of them have not left their wretched homes to fill the places formerly taken by the flood of poor from Europe.

I am told that the reason is that the Mexican is not naturally a wanderer. He prefers to live near his birthplace and to be buried among his ancestors rather than to fare forth into a land where, according to rumor, employment is easily had and wages are good.

DEATH TAG

Mary Ellen Weakley Plunges Four Stories to Death in Trying to Escape Her Companions in a Game on Apartment Roof.

Mary Weakley

Mary Ellen Weakley's mother told her many times not to play on the roof with the other children of the house at 6114 Dorchester avenue.

Yesterday the children were playing on the roof of the four story building, as usual. A game of "tag" was in progress. Mary Ellen, endeavoring to escape the "tag," ran. She thought she was running for the stairway, but it was the areaway space. Mary Ellen fell down and was killed instantly. Cries of the children brought the child's mother, Mrs. Katherine Weakley. Neighbors carried the crushed body of Mary Ellen into the house.

The police at Woodlawn station are making an investigation to discover why the treacherous areaway space has not bee railed off.

"Tragedy of Drink"
By ELBERT HUBBARD

In one of his many remarkable articles regarding "mankind's greatest curse," the late Elbert Hubbard said:

"If you have a friend who has fallen victim to the tragedy of strong drink, you will confer a great blessing on him, on his family and on society by inducing him to take the Neal Treatment."

TRICKS OF SOX WIN 4-1 GAME FROM HOUSTON

"Hitless Wonder" Victory for Hose—Eldred Steals Home.

BRIGHT IDEA!

Houston, Tex., March 25.—The local golf course is one of the sportiest in the world, and its water hazards are so numerous, naturally and artificially, that Eddie Cicotte plans to train a school of catfish and rent them to local golf players as retrievers.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Houston, Tex., March 25.—[Special.]—The White Sox regulars won a "hitless wonder" victory today, in which Williams and Eldred were headliners. The score was 4 to 1, and the Rowlands made three of their four tallies without hitting the ball out of reach of the infield.

Williams worked the nine innings with super-eclat, although handicapped by bum umpiring, which robbed him of several thousand strikes in the closing innings. As it was, he fanned eight opponents by the groove route. Anything that wasn't straight over was a "ball." Only three hits were made off Lefty, but by rights the Buffs were entitled to four.

Spectacular Stuff by Eldred.

Eldred robbed Northern of a long drive in the ninth by tearing back and pulling the ball out of the air on a running high jump. The youngster from Seattle also demonstrated that he can lay the ball down in a pinch by squeezing home the first run of the game with a bunt so pretty there was an argument in the press coop as to whether it would have been safe if the play had been made on him instead of to the plate.

In addition, Eldred stole home from third base cleanly in the seventh, but was robbed of it by a technicality because Leibold, who was at bat, hit the ball for a single. Eldred was finishing his slide when the ball was hit.

Glenn Keeps Hits Scattered.

Glenn had a lot of things in his arm and kept the Rowlands' eight hits well scattered. With good support the Sox could not have tallied at all, in spite of their eight safeties.

The Rowlands won the game in the fifth on one safe bunt and swell base running. Jenkins, who used to catch here, opened with a pop fly which the first baseman ought to have nabbed, but Northern tried for and muffed it. Jenkins kept right on running as if the ball had passed the outfield and made second. Williams bunted to advance his backstop, but Hemmingway held the ball so long that everybody was safe.

Eldred then bunted toward first, and Jenkins scored without sliding. Risberg sacrificed. Williams was nailed at the plate on Collins' grounder. Leibold walked, filling the bags, and Felsch hit viciously to Hemmingway, who made a swell stop, then hit the grand stand instead of first base, letting two Sox register.

Ump Aids Houston to Tally.

Houston's lone star tally was the result of three bases on balls followed by a single. In spite of that Williams made the umpire call three batsmen out on strikes that round.

Sergt. Smiley put the regulars through a brief drill just before the game and they were cheered lustily by the crowd. Chick Gandil returned to the job, reporting his family much improved in health. President Comiskey and his party, including Secretary Grabiner and "Commy Lou," left for Chicago tonight. Score:

Cubs Suffer Two Defeats in Final Games on Coast

TEARFUL FAREWELL?

San Francisco, Cal., March 25.—During the final game today between the Cubs and Seals, Announcer Murphy megaphoned to the crowd that the game would be called at 4:15 o'clock to let the Cubs catch a train east. A fan with a stentorian voice replied: "Please, mister, don't let them miss that train."

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

San Francisco, Cal., March 25.—[Special.]—Chicago's Cubs wound up their visit in California today with a couple of bush exhibitions against the Coast leaguers, being licked by Oakland in the morning, 3 to 2, and soundly thrashed by San Francisco in the afternoon, 10 to 5.

The afternoon contest was a horrible affair, but the Cubs strung along in front with Vic Aldridge hurling his curve. When five innings were played the Cubs had a one run lead and Hippo Vaughn then appeared.

Rout Vaughn in Seventh.

In the sixth the Seals drove in four runs and in the seventh started in to kill the big southpaw, so Mitchell yanked Vaughn and sent Packard out to finish. Only eight innings were possible before it was time for the Cubs to rush for their train, and all hands seemed glad to rush. The victory gave Frisco the odd game in the series of seven.

It was a battle for the odd game of the series at Oakland in the morning, each team having won three, and Chicago deserved to win, but Charley Deal booted the game away in the sixth.

Phil Douglas worked like a Trojan on the slab for the first five innings, blanking the Oaks and allowing only one hit. In the sixth Al Demaree took the job and was immediately tapped for a cluster of three runs but might have escaped unharmed if Deal hadn't messed a couple of plays.

Doyle Back; in Bad Shape.

Old Bill Burns and Old Man Prueitt did the slabbing for Howard's men and fooled the Cub batters with neatness and dispatch whenever in critical places.

For the first time on the training trip Larry Doyle appeared on second base for the Cubs, and judging from his actions, it put him back another month in his effort to get his injured ankle in shape. In the afternoon game he made no effort to run out hits and once staggered around helplessly trying to get under a pop fly. He missed the ball and had to take out time to recover.

SOX YANS BUNCH HITS AND DEFEAT MILWAUKEE, 8-6

Wichita Falls, Tex., March 25.—[Special.]—Although Jim Scott was nicked safely thirteen times by the Milwaukee Brewers, the White Sox Yannigans bunched their hits so well in the fourth and fifth innings that they won, 8 to 6. Fournier furnished the batting feature in the fifth with a tremendous blow with the bags filled. The swat would have been an easy homer but for ground rules cutting hits into the crowd to two bases. Semi-Pros to Hear Murphy.

Chicago leaguers will hear Charles W. Murphy's report on their bylaws and constitution tonight at their meeting at the Mohawk club. Manager Warren Hill of the South Chicago club yesterday signed Reggy Moran, who southpawed the south siders to the Litzinger cup championship last fall.

M'GRAW SIGNS FOR FIVE YEARS; SALARY $50,000

San Antonio, Tex., March 25.—[Special.]—John J. McGraw will continue to manage the New York Giants for a period of five years beginning at the expiration of a contract which terminates at the close of the 1917 season. The agreement was reached late on Saturday and sets at rest all reports of a change by the Giant pilot after the coming season. It is known he had contemplated a change after receiving several attractive offers, one being from Owner Charles Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox, who is a close personal friend.

The proposition under which McGraw's new contract operates is probably better than any of the big jobs offered him. His salary is mentioned as near $50,000 and he has been offered the opportunity to buy stock in the club. McGraw admitted his agreement practically makes him a partner with President Harry N. Hempstead.

Manager McGraw will be 44 years old on April 7. He has been with the Giants since the middle of the 1902 season. When his new five year contract ends he will have been active in the management of a single club longer than any other major pilot except Connie Mack.

In the Wake of the News

By RING W. LARDNER.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING.

Until last week, when I came in
Sans candy, books, or toys,
I had to face the deep chagrin
Of only two small boys.

But now, they say Bill's old enough
To stay up later nights,
And Bill's a person one can't bluff;
He knows, and claims, his rights.

And while the Kaiser doesn't mind
An extra enemy,
I'm not the Kaiser, and I find
One more's too much for me.

I know 'twill bankrupt me to get
Each day three different toys,
But I'd far rather be in debt
Than in wrong with my boys.

A. H. WINKLER TOPS SHOOTERS AT KENSINGTON

PREPAREDNESS!!

For Chicagoans who wish to combine sport with preparedness the Chicago Military Rifle club has offered its ranges for practice or use by civilians. The club range is at 1314 South Wabash avenue. It has been newly equipped. Camp Logan and Fort Sheridan outdoor ranges are used during the summer months, and arms and ammunition can be secured from the government at no expense, if desired. The range is open for indoor practice every Monday night. The local club is affiliated with the National Rifle Association of America, organized and conducted under war department supervision. The secretary, T. F. King, will furnish information.

Joliet Defeats Mc Duffs, 6-1, in National Soccer Series

SOME BIRD

Although the Joliet soccer team won its match with the McDuffs easily, it was without the services of Heron, a star forward. Capt. "Friday" Jones, after looking over the swamp, regretted that Heron was not on hand, as he would have fitted admirably into the landscape.

BY JOE DAVIS.

Playing over a quagmire, the Joliet Steel team eliminated the McDuffs from the national soccer championship, 6 to 1, at the McDuffs' field yesterday. Only necessity can be given as an excuse for playing football under such impossible conditions. Around the goal at the north end there was a small lagoon, and the mud was so thick about all the the men could do was wade through it.

Playing with the wind behind them in the opening period, Faleti of Joliet got by the McDuff defense and sent the ball into the net, but was called offside. After seventeen minutes of action Vidano passed to Faleti, who scored.

Kebbey Counts for McDuffs.

The McDuffs made several good attacks and finally Kebbey counted with a low shot. Joliet pressed after this and secured four corner kicks, but nothing came of them.

For a few minutes in the second half it looked as if the McDuffs were going to make a hard fight. Enrietta missed his kick and Bargery sent in a shot which Kelly cleared. The McDuffs got one more corner kick just after this, but from that point on never were dangerous.

Planeta Makes Longest Shot.

The Joliet men were all over the field and never let up in their attack. Planeta scored with the longest shot of the day, after a drive by Smith had been blocked.

Joliet next will play the Caledonians of Detroit at Detroit. Lineup:

Joliet [6].		McDuffs [1].

Harvey, 2; Pullman, 1.

The Harvey team sprang a big surprise by defeating Pullman, 2 to 1, in their Peel cup match at Pullman, putting the carbuilders out of the competition. Morrison, former captain of the Pittsburgh club, at right half back, and Buchan at center half, were big factors in the victory of the suburbanites. Cartwright scored for Pullman after ten minutes of play in the first half. Guthrie evened the score twenty minutes later. Perkins scored the winning goal in the second half on a pass from left wing. NET PIER HONORS GO TO KETCHUM AND HAL GIFFORD

M. G. Ketchum and Hal Gifford won the all comers' indoor tennis doubles championship of the city by beating Kinsel and Holbrook in a four set clash at the municipal pier yesterday. The match resulted in the best play of the winter season, and attracted a crowd which encroached on the playing space and lost points for both sides. Scores were 4—6, 6—4, 6—1, 6—3.

Ketchum and Gifford drove and smashed ahead to a four game lead in the opening set. At this point Kinsel and Holbrook rallied and fought their way to even terms with their experienced rivals, then pulled the match out of the fire in two more deuce games, 6 to 4. Their game uphill fight was applauded.

The second set was hard fought, but Ketchum led with a burst of speed and clinched the frame, 6 to 4. He and Gifford swept through the third set, 6 to 1, and won the final frame, 6 to 3, after Kinsel and Holbrook evened the games once by a strenuous rally.

GIRL SHOT ON STREET ON WAY FROM THEATER

Katharine Kohler Wounded and Police Suspect Man Was Assailant.

Katherine Kohler of 932 North Monticello avenue was mysteriously shot in Iowa street, near Monticello avenue, at 11:15 o'clock last night. She was taken by the West Lake street police ambulance to St. Anne's hospital. The bullet had entered her mouth and ranged backward and upward. At midnight she was said by the surgeons to be resting easily, but they held out little hope for her recovery.

Miss Kohler had been at a picture show with Miss Mabel Bumann, 930 North Central Park avenue, and they had parted at Iowa street and Monticello avenue, each starting toward her home.

Other Girl's Story.

Miss Bumann told the police that when she reached her door she heard a scream. Running into the house she told William Whiting, who was calling upon her sister, Clara, and urged him to go and investigate. Whiting told the police later that he ran to the door and heard a shot. He went to an alley between Central Park and Monticello avenues and found Miss Kohler unconscious. He says she was wounded, but that he saw no revolver. The police could find no weapon, but the young woman's purse was lying near her. Whiting says he and another man who came to his assistance carried the girl to a confectionery store at Chicago and Ridgeway avenues.

Suspects She Shot Self.

Miss Bumann told the police she believed Miss Kohler had attempted to kill herself. This idea was borne out to an extent by the nature of the wound, which could have been made only after the muzzle of the revolver had been placed inside the mouth. However, the police held to the suspicion that a man had attacked the girl, probably intending to rob her, and had fled after she had resisted.

Miss Bumann said she could throw no light on a possible motive for suicide. Miss Kohler, she said, had not spoken of self-destruction during their walk.

A story became current in the neighborhood that two men were seen running away after the shooting. The police were unable to verify this.

ANSWERS CALL OF DEAD HUSBAND AND ENDS LIFE

Mrs. Agnes Koster, 26 years old, often said she heard the voice of her dead husband calling her. She answered the call yesterday when she drank poison at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wladslaw Makowski, 2040 Elston avenue.

David Koster, her husband, married her a year ago against the strong protests of his family. His marriage brought him ostracism from his former home. He took the antagonism of his relatives to heart, and four months ago took poison. Since his death his widow brooded.

"I often hear his voice," she told her mother. "He seems to urge me to come to him. His spirit is lonesome for me."

"David won't be lonesome now," said Mrs. Makowski at night as she stood beside the body of her dead daughter. "They are together again at last."

550 Conventions Bring $16,000,000 in a Year

Five hundred and fifty conventions with an attendance of more than 500,000 were brought to Chicago in 1916. It is estimated members spent $16,000,000 in "new money" here in the year. The figures come from a booklet just issued by the Chicago Association of Commerce. This book also says that in the eleven years the city has sought conventions figuring that each delegate spends $8 a day, a total of $111,000,000 has come here. Walter J. Raymer is chairman of the convention bureau committee.

Illness Drives Youth to Take His Own Life

Fred Mueller, a laborer, shot and killed himself yesterday afternoon in the home of his mother, Mrs. Anna Mueller, 2137 Barry avenue. She said he had been a sufferer from asthma and was despondent on that account.

Paris Singer Is the First Newcomer Announced for Big Parts in Chicago Opera.

Mlle. Genevieve Vix

Mr. Campanini makes a formal announcement that he has engaged Mlle. Vix as a principal singer in the French répertoire for next season in the Auditorium. Judging by his list of her chief rôles—Mona Vanna, Juliet, Marguerite, Mélisande, Thaïs, Manon, Louise, and Jean the Juggler—he is to put her in Mary Garden's place. She has been among the singers of the Opéra-Comique, Paris.

NEEDLESS DEATHS

Health Department Says Many Diphtheria Fatalities Could Be Avoided if Doctor Were Summoned Early.

"DIPHTHERIA is steadily increasing in Chicago," the bulletin of the health department issued yesterday says. "There are too many cases of diphtheria. If a doctor was called early many fatalities could be avoided. During the first twenty-one days of March 720 cases were reported and fifty-two deaths recorded.

"Chicago has a great many cases of measles, and many deaths are resulting. This is due largely to carelessness of parents who regard measles of small importance. The number of deaths is a sad commentary on the intelligence of those who take this view.

"Bad habits which exhaust the strength of the body and lower its power of resistance invite colds. Excessive use of tobacco, abuse of alcoholic beverages, faulty methods of eating, worry and lack of sleep, bad air conditions, and lack of sunlight contribute to the same end. To avoid colds, keep in good form."

The records of the department for the week ending March 23 show there were in the city 1,056 cases of measles, 564 of scarlet fever, 259 of diphtheria, 134 of mumps, 202 of pneumonia. In the same week 27 died of scarlet fever, 22 of diphtheria, 168 of pneumonia, 8 of measles.

THEATER FIGHT STOPS THE SHOW; ACCUSED LET GO

Players stopped short in their lines and many persons rushed for the doors of McVicker's theater yesterday afternoon when a fight started in the audience. It was several minutes before the performance was resumed.

C. Kerrigan, 4143 Wellington avenue, explained to the police that a man sitting next to Mrs. Kerrigan had put his arm around her and made an offensive remark. Kerrigan hit the man on his nose. Then things picked up.

The man was taken in charge by Thomas Smith, house officer, and gave his name as David Gane, 1621 West Division street. Smith turned him over to John Christiansen, another house officer, intending to question Kerrigan more. In Smith's absence Gane told Christiansen a story which caused his captor to free him.

"I'll see this thing through if the man is found again," said Kerrigan.

M'Elveen Refuses Call; New Church Work Plans

As predicted in yesterday's TRIBUNE, the Rev. W. T. McElveen, pastor of the First Congregational church, Evanston, announced to his congregation yesterday he had declined the offer of the First Congregational church of San Francisco to become its pastor. The announcement was received by the Evanston congregation with applause. He then preached a sermon on coöperation and hinted the Evanston church has plans for advancement which soon will be worked out.

MISS YOUR KISS, KEEP GERM FROM TENDER THROAT

Ald. Nance Says Streptococci Menace the City Again.

Streptococcic sore throat, a disease that in the winter of 1911 and 1912 caused several hundred deaths in Chicago, has made its reappearance. But experts who have made a study of the disease are not alarmed. They look for no repetition in point of seriousness. So far the cases have been quite mild and no deaths have been reported.

About a year ago there was a small local outbreak in the city, but it was quickly blotted out. Dr. W. O. Nance, chairman of the city council committee on health, and a nose and throat specialist, last night said:

"If milk is pasteurized it is considered safe.

"I do not cosider it likely that the germ will be transmitted through breathing the breath of an infected person. It is not so easily communicated as scarlet fever or diphtheria.

Cut Out Kissing.

"I would suggest," and the doctor smiled, "that Chicago cut out its kissing for a time. If one—I mean two—must kiss they might kiss through sterilized gauze. One of the favorite treatments is to paint the throat with nitrate of silver. That is used, you know, to cure the tobacco habit.

"If we stop our kissing and our smoking life will hardly be worth the living, eh?" and he laughed again.

"But back to the seriousness of it," he went on. "I would advise that a patient at once see a physician. An antiseptic gargle will do some good. But proper treatment requires a stronger antiseptic than one can give himself. Also it becomes a constitutional disease as it gets into the system.

"Much of the dust nuisance in Chicago comes from the roofs. This is especially true of the downtown district. I am going to offer an ordinance tomorrow to the city council compelling owners of all buildings to keep their roofs clean. This will be very valuable to the public health."

Danger of Contagion.

Dr. William A. Evans, health expert of THE TRIBUNE, said he believed that there was small danger in catching streptococcic sore throat, also known as septic sore throat, by ordinary contact.

"The disease is not infrequent," he said. "We had a severe epidemic of it in 1912 and there were some cases about a year ago. It is accepted that it is generally spread by milk."

He added that it might be that some source of milk supply had become infected and that in this way it was passed to those parts of the city getting this particular milk.

Dr. Joseph A. Capps, diagnostician and author of several articles on streptococcic sore throat which have appeared in the Medical Journal of the American Medical Association, made the closest study of the 1911-'12 epidemic, probably, of any physician in Chicago.

"So far as I know there is no reason to be alarmed," he said.

Epidemic Under Control.

Galesville, Wis., March 25.—[Special.]—The epidemic here of streptococcic sore throat is under control, the spread of the disease ending when the doctors isolated the cattle from which the infected milk supply came. The total number of cases was 237 out of a population of about 1,200, and to date there have been eleven deaths.

"DR." LANDWIRTH I. W. W. PLOTTER, SAYS HIS WIFE

"I am going to tell the truth about 'Dr.' Henry Landwirth," said a little, dark eyed woman last night. "I am his legal wife. I married him in London. He destroyed the records. He denied me after I had slaved for years to give him the money that he spent."

Then Mrs. Jeanette Landwirth described her life with "Loving Henry" who was arrested and taken before the Morals court after his poetic affair with Lillian Drescher was revealed.

"He is an anarchist," said Mrs. Landwirth, "a member of the I. W. W., and has taken part in many riots. I married him after he had been driven from France for anarchistic plots, though I did not know it then. He came to America. I followed because of our baby. He took part in the Lawrence strike and was arrested.

"He went to Pittsburgh and was chased out by the police as an anarchist. We went to Cleveland. While there he illegally practiced as a physician. He fled before the police got him. Then he went to Milwaukee. There he started to practice as a doctor and was driven out again. He came to Chicago and from here wrote me the sweetest letters I ever saw. He promised to right all wrongs. I came.

"He wanted to attend Loyola college. He was not a professor there, as he claimed. He was 35 years old and a student. He went only because I gave him money to go with, money I earned as a stenographer and as a seamstress. He has a little knowledge of chemistry. He has employed that knowledge in an illegal way in Chicago. I mean he has sold women medicine that the law forbids.

"Then came this other woman. She had money. The only money I could give him was the little I could earn. He said he loved her—it was her money he loved. He came from Poland. I would like to have him deported to that country as an undesirable alien. There is war there. Vengeance is mine. If I cannot do that I want to send him to prison. I think I can do that.

"He is crazy about publicity, this man. Everything that is pritned about him, good or bad, he pastes in scrap books. He has two great books filled."

SUNDAY MOTOR CRASHES COST LIVES OF TWO

Many Injured in Mishaps as Mild Weather Brings Out Autoists.

Two persons were killed and a number injured in half a dozen automobile accidents in Chicago and vicinity yesterday.

Alvin Grupi, 32 years old, 1645 Thorn avenue, met death when an automobile turned turtle at Fourteenth street and Vincennes road, Chicago Heights. Gustave Granberg, 1625 Oak street, owner of the car which he had bought a week ago, Fred Christianson, 1504 Vincennes road, and Albert Birgils, 1814 Aberdeen street, were cut and bruised. Grupi was caught beneath the machine and his skull was crushed. The others were held prisoners beneath the car until rescued by the police. The men were returning home early in the morning from a drive. Grupi was a bartender.

Tag Game Fatal.

A game of tag in front of her home ended fatally for Dorothy Shaw, 4 years old, of 1131 North Long avenue. hSe was playing with other little girls when, to avoid being tagged, she ran into the street. She was struck by an automobile owned and driven by Samuel E. Wherritt, 158 North Humphrey avenue, Oak Park. The child was taken to the West Suburban hospital, where she died. Wherritt was not held. He is assistant sales manager for the Chevrolet Motor company, 2612 South Michigan avenue. Harry C. Shaw, father of the girl, is a toolmaker.

Eugene Schooley, 937 Ainslee street, advertising manager for Montgomery Ward & Co., was locked up in East Chicago avenue police station on a charge of running an automobile while intoxicated.

Schooley and Al Long, 5756 Winthrop avenue, a cotton salesman, were driving north in the Lake Shore drive in a car belonging to O. H. Rockholo, a motgage broker, when at the intersection of Bellevue place, Schooley, who was at the wheel, ran the machine into an "isle of safety."

Long was pitched headlong to the street and was cut and bruised about the face and body. Schooley escaped injury.

Brothers Are Injured.

Earl Heaver and Melvin Heaver, brothers, 1227 Newport avenue, were struck by a Halsted street car at Diversey parkway while riding a motorcycle. They were cut and bruised.

Walter Tinselski, 48 Joliet avenue, Lyons, rode a motorcycle into the curbstone at Thirtieth street and Oak Park avenue, Berwyn, to avoid collision with an automobile driven by P. H. Heinlintz, 4117 North Keeler avenue. His head and back were cut.

W. J. Bryant of 1509 East Sixty-seventh street, a wholesale grocer, and his daughter, Alice Bryant, 17 years old, were slightly injured when their automobile was struck by a Sixty-seventh street car at Blackstone avenue.

Arthur Kolebeck of 1219 North Western avenue, a street car conductor, was riding a motorcycle when he collided with an automobile driven by George Selib, 1958 West Erie street. His left thigh was injured.

HURL MAN FROM AUTO TO DEATH IN MISSISSIPPI

St. Louis, Mo., March 25.—[Special.]—The police department all day has been hunting for the body of a man whom murderers threw from an automobile into the Mississippi river soon after midnight today.

According to a watchman and a ticket seller who were on duty at the west approach of the Eads bridge, they heard a cry for help and running to the bridge railing saw an automobile standing about five feet from the water's edge with its lights extinguished. They saw men struggling and heard a splash.

A man's coat, badly torn, was found a short distance from where the car had been standing. The watchmen said the man's cries were heard for several minutes. Gangsters a few weeks ago carried the body of a murdered man to a similar spot under the free bridge, but when they saw a policeman on the bridge approach hid the body.

7 Victims Identify Auto Bandits Caught in Chase

Three automobile bandits, captured early Friday morning after an exciting automobile chase by detectives, were booked on charges of robbery last night.

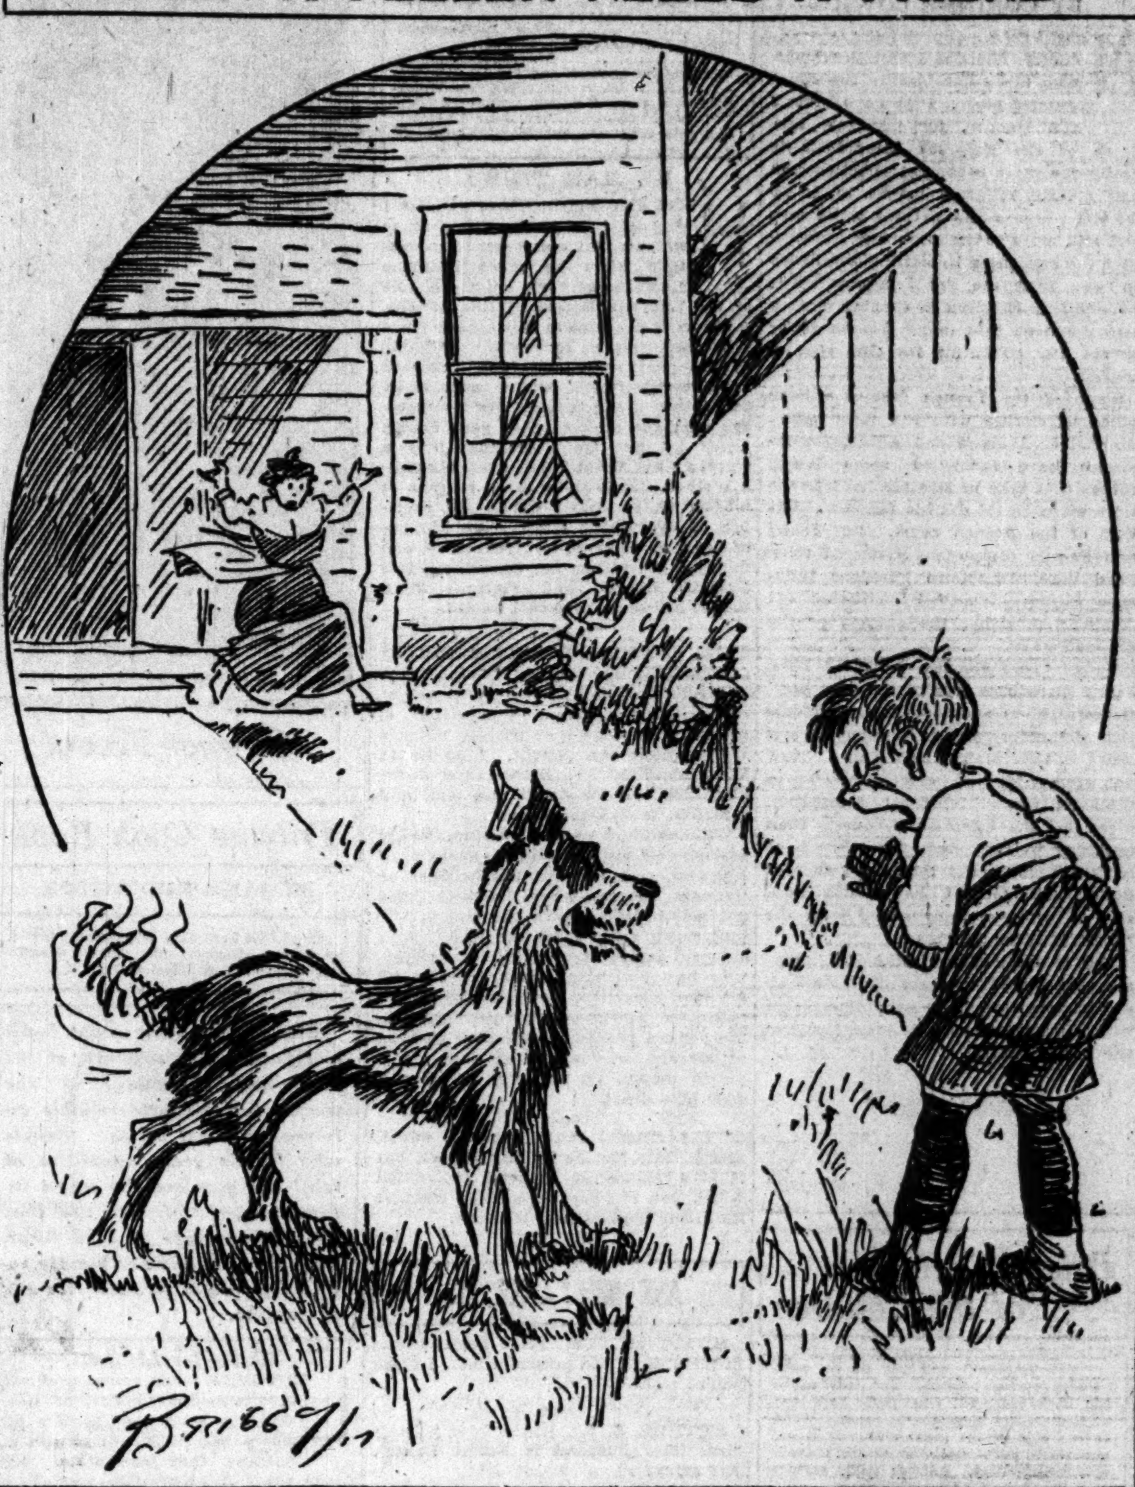
The prisoners are Thomas Dwyer, alias Powers, identified in nine robberies; Earl Jones, 23, seven robberies, and John Ryan, 21, two robberies. Eight victims identified them.

The trio were arrested in a taxicab belonging to Verne Coules, 849 East Sixty-fourth street, which, it is said, they had stolen after robbing, binding, and gagging him.

Romance of Candy Shop Has Elopement Sequel

A Crown Point elopement became known Saturday when Elliott F. Wrenn, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Wrenn, 518 Linden avenue, Wilmette, returned with his bride, formerly Miss Helen M. Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson, 1122 Sherman avenue, Evanston. They eloped Wednesday and returned yesterday and surprised their parents. Their romance started more than a year ago, it is said, when Wrenn purchased a box of candy from Miss Jackson when she was a clerk in a Wilmette candy shop.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND



HEROINE

Eight Year Old Girl Throws Younger Brother to Safety, but Auto Hits Her.

SWATHED in bandages and suffering from serious injuries, a pretty 8 year old heroine lies on a cot in the county hospital.

At the risk of her life yesterday little Cecelle Ziborawsky, 1731 West Eighteenth street, paused long enough in the path of a speeding automobile to clutch her 3 year old brother, Edward, and throw him to safety.

Then the girl tried to escape, but was too late. The automobile knocked her down and dragged her for a considerable distance. A collarbone was fractured, she was bruised on the head and body, and a leg was broken. The driver of the car, Thomas L. Klozinski, 1623 West Seventeenth street, carried her to a nearby drug store.

The accident occurred in front of the Ziborowsky home. The children had been to a candy store and were hurrying across the street to their home.

Klozinski was not held. He told the police the automobile was owned by James Hartzell of Oak Park.

BANANA SPLIT WINS JOB IN DRY OAK PARK

Edward McCauley, 29 years old, of Decatur, Ill., a "down and out," jumped off the "blind" baggage car of a railroad train in Oak Park at 10:02 a. m. yesterday with cinders in his long hair, soot over his face and hands, and an empty feeling in his stomach. Three minutes later he walked into Oaks' pharmacy, 116 North Oak Park avenue.

"I'm a soda fountain clerk," he said.

"You look like a coal teamster," said W. W. Oaks, the proprietor.

"I rode the blind baggage here from Decatur—I'm all mussed up—but I can show you I'm a soda fountain man."

"All right—mix up a banana split."

McCauley did. Mr. Oaks ate it.

"You'll do—I need a man—but clean up."

McCauley washed his face and hands, combed some of the cinders out of his hair, slipped on the white linen suit owned by the drug store man, and became soda fountain clerk.

"I figured on calling the police when I first saw you," Mr. Oaks told him.

FOUR HELD AS WIRE THIEVES

In the arrest of two linemen and two expressmen the police believe they have the men responsible for the cutting and stealing of wire valued at nearly $5,000 from the Commonwealth Edison company. Three of the men were arrested yesterday by Lieut. James Mooney of the detective bureau and his rifle squad in an express wagon at North avenue and Halsted street. The men under arrest are:

Jacob Minnich, 677 North Dearborn street, a lineman for the Commonwealth Edison company for seven months.

Thomas J. Kilroy, 2452 Augusta street, lineman for the Commonwealth Edison four years.

Joseph Deck, 1211 Frontier avenue.

John Karben, 2449 Augusta street.

They admitted, according to the police, they had cut the wire in the vicinity and were on their way to sell it to a junk dealer.

50 YEARS' GROWTH OF CITY MAY BE FRUIT OF GARDENS

$1,000 Prizes Plan to Aid Wider Scope of Campaign.

Wanted—Information as to how Chicago can become the ideal home city, economically, industrially, commercially, and artistically.

It is sought by the city-wide gardens committee in connection with the back yard and vacant lot campaign. A manuscript contest, with prizes ranging probably as high as $1,000, is to be arranged.

The contest will be open to every person in the city and may include other cities, according to tentative plans.

The subject now being considered for the contest is, "What Will Chicago Be Fifty Years Hence?"

Would Save Twenty-five Years.

"If this should be anywhere near correctly answered," said Chairman Perry G. Holden, "Chicago immediately would advance by at least twenty-five years, saving just that much time.

"The garden campaign," he continued, "is something more than an effort to cultivate home gardens by utilizing waste lands—it is an effort to get an insight into the future, of what will obtain in economic, industrial, and other phases of the city's life years hence, and then to aim in a straight course toward a dertain goal. If this can be done, Chicago will profit doubly by the garden movement."

Will Spread Propaganda.

The gospel of the garden campaign beginning this week is to be taken into every section of the city by a corps of trained lecturers under Mr. Holden's direction.

A set of fifty charts is being prepared showing just what the garden idea has done for other cities and what it is planned to have it do for Chicago.

Two Saratoga Hotel Guests Accused by Woman

Mrs. Catherine Marquis, 26 years old, of 807 East Forty-first street, N. Miller, 30 years old, and Benjamin Crager, 33 years old, salesmen living at the Saratoga hotel, were booked at the Central station yesterday on charges of disorderly conduct.

Mrs. Marquis was found crying at Dearborn and Monroe streets by Detective Sergeant John Hayes. When questioned she said she met the men at Cottage Grove avenue and East Thirty-ninth street, and they had taken her to a room in the hotel, where they attempted to attack her, she said, but she fought them off.

The men denied the charge.

Boy Car Flipper Killed on Freight Near Kankakee

Kankakee, Ill., March 25.—[Special.]—James O'Brien, 16 years old, 323 West Fifty-second street, Chicago, was ground to pieces shortly before midnight, falling between two south bound cars on a Big Four freight train near Monee. He, with Thomas Pruett of 5138 Princeton avenue and Nicholas Hoffman of 5439 Shields avenue, boarded a freight at Twelfth street in Chicago to steal a ride to Aroma Park, near here, to visit Pruett's sick grandmother.

SEE YOURSELF

If You Want to Get a Good Glimpse of Yourself Here Are Ten Things You Must Dodge.

BISHOP CHARLES BAYARD MITCHELL of St. Paul, who returned to give his first address in Chicago since he resigned his pastorate of St. James' Methodist church last year, advised members of the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall how to "See Yourself Go By."

If you want to get a good look at yourself here are ten things to avoid:

"1. Don't think you see yourself in a mirror. You will see only the outside, and your right ear will be on the left side of your head.

"2. Don't imitate. It's awful to hear that there are scores of young men trying to walk like Charlie Chaplin. Be yourself.

"3. Don't expect somebody else will do your job. God never made anybody like you. One of you is enough.

"4. Don't worry about your health. I have a friend, given up to die at 22, with one lung. He will be 93 on his next birthday.

"5. Don't wait for dead men's shoes.

"6. Don't lose your nerve. When God has a tremendous task to perform he usually takes some man and overloads him with egotism so he will tackle the job.

"7. Don't think yourself a failure too soon. Lincoln was a mediocre lawyer who won distinction because he was honest.

"8. Don't be a misfit. It's a tragedy to see a blacksmith trying to be a statesman, as we have witnessed in our country's recent political life.

"9. Don't stop till you find your place. It was a great day when you struck this planet and it will be a great day when you leave it. But it's a much greater one when you find out why you're here.

"10. Don't try to make duplicates of yourself. Parents make a mistake when they try to bring up their children to be like themselves."

DOZEN ARRESTED FOR VIOLATION OF SALOON LAW

Twelve saloon violations were reported by the police yesterday. Among those arrested was Arthur Sommer, 1231 Otto street, a carpenter, who was charged with selling liquor on Sunday in a dance hall at 1638 North Halsted street. According to the police, Sommer was in charge of the dance, and drinks were sold after midnight.

The others arrested are: August Deutscher, 2837 Cottage Grove avenue; James Early, a bartender for Louis Bullock, 2729 East Ninety-third street; Joseph Warbulaski, 7419 South Western avenue; Anthony Unites, 4600 Wentworth avenue; George Fleishman, 4163 South Ashland avenue; A Pecious, 4458 South Honore street; Paul Vydarney, 870 Elston avenue; John Cummings, 1002 West Sixty-ninth street; Patrick Shields, 4231 Colorado avenue; Bennie Koziot, 1924 West Superior street; and Martin Kriston, 1500 Blackhawk street.

Thirty Seized as Gamblers.

A raid by the first deputy's detectives at the rear of a cigar store in the Westminster hotel building, 1227 North Clark street, last night netted thirty men. The detectives took two telephones and gambling sheets as evidence. John Watson was booked as keeper.

SPEAKER HINTS AT REVOLUTION IN MASSMEETING

Mooney, Convicted as a Bomb Thrower, Defended; Judges Denounced.

"If the working people cannot get their right peacefully they will do it by another method. Look at Russia now."

"History shows that judges have been killed when they tell the people they have no right to fight for freedom."

The foregoing excerpts from speeches made to 10,000 persons in the Coliseum yesterday brought thunderous applause from those gathered there in the name of organized labor to protest against the execution of Thomas Mooney, convicted of throwing the bomb that killed ten persons in the preparedness parade in San Francisco last July. Mooney is sentenced to die next May.

Calls It Conspiracy.

Bourke Cockran, who assisted in the defense of Mooney, made the principal speech, the meeting having been arranged under the auspices of the Chicago Federation of Labor. Mr. Cockran charged that the prosecution of Mooney was "a wicked conspiracy to destroy Mooney and to discredit union labor."

The speaker said the district attorney in San Francisco had made the charge that Mooney's alleged act was a part of a conspiracy to overthrow the government and assassinate President Wilson and other officials. A resolution was passed unanimously asking that the federal government make a full investigation as to the truth of this charge, "that the stain on American citizenship be removed."

Land of the Vigilante.

Declaring that "there was not a scintilla of evidence linking Mooney either with such a conspiracy or the bomb explosion," and asserting that his conviction "was brought about by manufactured evidence and a howl for lynch law in the land of the vigilante," Mr. Cockran said it was his belief that the bomb actually had been exploded by some crank, possibly a Mexican sympathizer, whose disordered brain was influenced by the national excitement attendant on the sending of troops to the border.

Prior to the explosion, Mr. Cockran asserted, the traction interests of San Francisco had openly announced their intention of "getting Mooney" because of his activities in organizing the street car employés.

Two See Bomb Thrown.

"At least two persons saw the bomb thrown from a roof at Steuart and Market streets," said Mr. Cockran. "Two hours later Martin Swanson, a private detective for the traction interests, arrived on the scene. From that moment the investigations of the police ceased and the conspiracy against Mooney and his fellow labor leaders began.

"One of the witnesses to the bomb throwing, a woman, was spirited away. Big holes were made in the sidewalk and the wall of a building to manufacture evidence that a ton of dynamite had been 'planted.' Photographs taken by reporters before this was done are proof of it.

"Another photograph, obtained after Mooney's trial and enlarged thousands of times from a small film, prove, by the time indicated on a clock shown in it, that he and his wife were on the top of a building a mile and a half away from the scene of the explosion at the time it occurred.

"In testifying before a jury composed of instruments of the district attorney and some decrepit old men who made their living largely as jurors, witnesses who had secretly been allowed to look at Mooney so they could identify him in court contradicted each other flagrantly in testimony that Mooney had met Warren K. Billings at Steuart and Market streets a few minutes before the explosion.

Calls Arrest a Crime.

"The arrest of Mooney and his fellows was a crime that now threatens to be consummated by judical murder. If he is hanged, the shadow cast by his body will darken the sky over this country. Where the law is made an instrument by which one class can subjugate another, the nation which countenances it is doomed to destruction.

"The district attorney declared Mooney to be linked with a conspiracy to overthrow the government and to assassinate President Wilson. We do not seek to shut out the light from this; we asked that it be turned on in its full force, that the imputation against organized labor and the stain on American citizenship be removed.

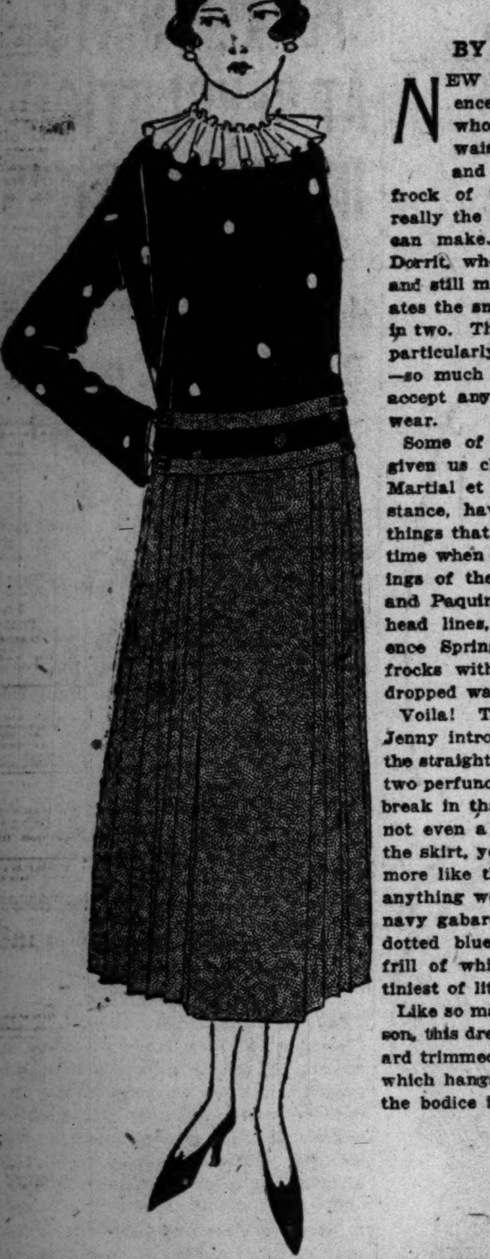
Deeper than War Crisis.

"This question goes even deeper than that which confronts the president in international affairs today. How can we engage in a foreign war if here in the heart of the country there is a conspiracy to destroy the structure of the government?"

Prior to Mr. Cockran's speech addresses denouncing anti-picketing injunctions were made by John Fitzpatrick and John H. Walker, respectively presidents of the Chicago and State Federation of Labor. The audience hooted the mention of Judge Baldwin's name. Mr. Fitzpatrick termed "injunction judges" as "agents of the employers," and Mr. Walker declared that "history shows that judges have been killed when they tell the people they have no right to fight for freedom."

"If the working people cannot get their rights peacefully, they will do it by another method," he said. "Look at Russia now!"

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK



BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—There is a certain woman who looks her best in the short waisted mode. If you are 5 feet 2 and slender, for instance, this frock of the Empress Josephine's is really the most becoming selection you can make. It gives height to Little Dorrit, whereas the natural waist line, and still more so the moyenage, accentuates the smallness by cutting the figure in two. Then, too, the Directoire line is particularly chaming in evening clothes —so much so that many women never accept any substituts for this type of wear.

Some of the French designers have given us clothes with the short waist. Martial et Armand and Agnes, for instance, have fashioned some lovely things that take us straight back to the time when David did his famous paintings of the French court. But Jenny and Paquin completely shattered those head lines, "Directoire Fashions Influence Spring Styles," by bringing out frocks with either the natural or the dropped waist.

Voila! This chemise frock of Mlle. Jenny introduces you to the new line—the straight up and down line, with only two perfunctory girdles to announce any break in that prairielike expanse. And not even a hint of barrel or pegtop in the skirt, you will observe! Altogether, more like the Egyptian silhouette than anything we have had. The skirt is of navy gabardine and the long bodice of dotted blue foulard has a gay neck frill of white organdy edged with the tiniest of little gold beads.

Like so many of the frocks of this season, this dress is accompanied by a foulard trimmed and lined gabardine jacket which hangs unconfined by its girdle as the bodice itself.

A Parisian Courtship.

ONE evening in Paris my aunt and I were dining at a café. At a nearby table, facing me, was a man who scarcely took his eyes off me. I tried to appear unconscious, but necessarily glanced in his direction every time I looked at my aunt, who sat opposite me. I spotted him for an Englishman.

Finally he left the room and then the strangest thing happened! Every light in the restaurant went out, just for a moment, and when they came on there lay in my lap a huge bouquet of American beauties! Naturally, I had said nothing to my aunt about my admirer, and she was thunderstruck.

As we came out of the restaurant I noticed him standing in a doorway across the street, and as we turned the next corner I saw him about half a block behind us.

The next day I started out from our hotel for a stroll in the park across the way. I was wearing one of the roses. I had not gone far when I found him sitting on a bench. He rose and came toward me, not boldly but hesitatingly and smilingly, so I smiled, too!

He was an Englishman, but lived in Chicago, and on the steamer on which my aunt and I had taken passage Miss S—'s passage was canceled and a stateroom reserved for Mr. and Mrs. W—!

Asks Her to Wed.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 19 and I am in love with a young man of 21 years with whom I've been going four years. My parents don't like him. He asks me to marry him. I really love him. Please tell me what to do. J."

Respect your parents' wishes, Jenny, and wait two years at least before taking a matrimonial step. You can easily afford this time, and it will give you the fair chance you ought to give yourself to meet other young men to compare your present choice by. You know the girl marrying so young often discovers afterward that she did not give herself half a chance to know and compare men before marrying one.

Remembered Her Birthday.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been going about with a young man for about a year, not steady, but he has taken me to everything that was worth while. He was kind in remembering my birthday by sending me some flowers. As he has a birthday soon, I would like to know if a pretty card would be sufficient, or would you suggest something else which would be entirely proper? "JUNE."

A book would not be amiss as a gift. But an informal note or a nice birthday card containing a very personal message and wishes for many happy returns would be most apropos.

Bright Sayings of the Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The only condition is the story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. Write on one side of the paper only. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

A litlte boy asked his mother to let him have a birthday party. She answered, "Yes, if you are a good boy until then." So when the time came she sent out twenty invitations to his litlte schoolmates. When the little guests arrived the mother thought she would count them so as to arrange for refreshments, and in the meantime they kept coming one after another.

She said, "Why, Bobbie, what have you done?"

"O, I just invited every little kid I met so I would get lots of presents."

A little lad came in the grocery store for a 5 cent head of lettuce. The clerk was removing the withered leaves and told the boy they cost 10 cents, whereupon he remarked, "Can't you take off a few leaves and make it 5 cents?"

Eusebius was told by his mamma not to stay to meals at his aunt's without asking her. He was invited to dinner and his aunt said she would ask his mamma by phone. He said, "Don't ask her, tell her."

BY MAE TINEE.

HERBERT BRENON—or at least I suppose it is Herbert Brenon to whom credit is due—made no mistake when he chose Florence Reed to enact the emotional rôle of the Lucretia Borgia of this picture. A stunning creature to look at, she lends a fire and passion to her interpretation of the part that holds you absorbed from start to finish. One moment sinister, ruthless, a gourmand for revenge—the next she almost takes your breath away by her transformation into a woman magnificent in her womanliness—a mother, deprived by state reasons of mothering, recklessly daring the sacrifice of everything for a mere glimpse of her son. Shaken, tortured, ruled, and finally destroyed by her emotions is this Lucretia Borgia, and Florence Reed makes her seem very real indeed.

The production is characterized by georgous settings, excellent photography, and subsidiary acting that could not be much improved upon. Consistency is one of the things that usually make a Brenon picture a delight. Like David Wark Griffith, Mr. Brenon has a remarkable eye for detail and long and sensitive feelers for effect.

William Shay as the adoring, madly jealous and suspicious duke, husband of Lucretia, and Richard Barthelmess as Gennaro, the son whom Lucretia dares not acknowledge, have the two important parts aside from the lead. Both are good actors, especially William Shay, who has a certain dignity that is all his own. Alexander Shannon, the Duke's guard, is an impressive personage in the picture to whom life means nothing at all and who would as soon slip a sword though an anatomy as close a door on a draft.

"The Eternal Sin" is not a sweet, pretty little picture by any means; but it is a splendidly evolved production which you are sure to admire whether its theme appeals to you or not.

ASK ME! ASK ME!

MUTTY MUTTS: Billie Burke is not in pictures at the present time. I think you're right.

ARTHUR B. S.: Marie Doro is married. Her husband is Elliott Dexter. Art sorry?

VIRGINIA: Well, I wish I knew you, too. I'm always so glad to hear from you. Some gallery you must have. And not a woman in it, you say? Certainly my child, not one could accuse you of feminism. I think that's such a nice, interesting little story about Jack Hamilton known as "Shorty." Again I'm so glad to have heard from you; write again some time, and thank you for the nice things you have said.

JEALOUS: I wouldn't do that if I were you. You'll be sorry when you're old and gray.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

Study news items about foods and food advertisements, at the ends and beginnings of the weeks, for the most reliable information about prices. People who handle great quantities of food can give out the safest information, if they will, and they do in these days of food furor. Look out any day for greatly reduced prices in strawberries and pineapples.

Caring for Leftovers.

LEFTOVER foods, unless used within twenty-four hours, or unless skillfully brightened up if a little older than this, are unpalatable because they are stale. Stale foods are not necessarily spoiled, but they have dropped flavor or quality. In many cases the same thing has happened to them that has happened to fresh fruits or vegetables when they have wilted.

A famous domestic science teacher used to say that the housekeeper had a never ending task in keeping the protein molecule right side up, that is, in keeping meats from spoiling, soup stock from souring, meat jellies from becoming unsafe, etc. In other words, the protein molecule is unstable. It is likewise a famous mixture of many ingredients, some of which would just as soon be busy at making poisons as in being part of a more or less safe compound. The mischief some of these elements can do is sensational.

Quite as great as the task of preventing ptomaine developments, and far more comprehensive, since it affects all foods except those canned or dried, and even some of the latter, is that of hindering the evaporation of moisture from foods. Preventing this prevents many things, one of which may be the development of ptomaines, all conditions being favorable.

We shut bread and cake in boxes or jars for no other reason than to keep the moisture in, although we state the fact the other way around and say to keep them from drying up or out. Potatoes and root vegetables must be kept in cool places, because in this case it is heat that forwards evaporation and consequent wilting.

It is evaporation that dries candies, so that they keep best shut up in boxes or, at any rate, wrapped in paper or tinfoil, or all three.

Cooked foods need in particular to be covered carefully to keep in the moisture that is in them. It is not only more generally sanitary to cover any food that is put in the ice box, but it prevents the slightest evaporation, in which case the main loss is a subtle escape of flavor.

The Successful Home Garden

This department will appear daily and Sunday in "The Tribune." Inquiries from readers desiring through neighborhood and back yard gardens to decrease the cost of living should be addressed to The Garden Editor.

BY J. F. H. HEIDE.
Article No. 23.

The Distinction of Gardening.

IN a futile effort of the Garden Editor to find lodgings with garden privileges in a generally accessible quarter, some significant facts were brought out.

Wherever there was any methodical attempt at kitchen gardening, the interior of the house was invariably spick, span, and orderly. The children in such households, if any were in evidence, were always polite and gentle, clean and wholesome. A singular air of quiet contentment prevailed, entirely suited to the deference with which the family seemed always to be treated by the neighbors.

Obviously, the kitchen garden is not only a necessary part of the complete household: it is, to an even greater extent, the stabilizer of the social structure and the antidote for laziness and depravity.

Let us leave inaction to the inert and wastefulness to the boasting parvenu: economy, simplicity, and gardening are three unmistakable tokens of the well bred and truly refined.

G. O. G. writes in this connection: "I know the grand and glorious feeling of being a producer. For years I have had a garden. I put up forty quarts of tomatoes and always had two or three kinds of superior vegetables on my table. I enjoyed the work, which cured me of a bad attack of gastritis and kept my children busy at their flowers and garden, which were a mass of bloom all summer long. I often wondered why the idea of cultivating waste and vacant lots was not taken up before. We have been the biggest wasters on the face of the globe."

Mrs. L. C. C. writes: "In the outskirts of Barberton, O., we rented three lots, with plowing and harrowing, for $6. We knew nothing about gardening, but read up all we could get at short notice. We had the first peas, beans, and tomatoes for miles around, and the farmers came in to trade butter and eggs for our early vegetables. We supplied all our neighbors and had sufficient left to last all winter. The second year we divided the ground with a neighbor, and the third year with two, and still we had enough for all. The garden saved nearly half our housekeeping money, besides affording a healthy and most satisfactory hobby."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q.—Which hedge plant would you recommend, one that would not freeze in this vicinity? S. P.

Ans.—For low, ornamental hedges the barberry (berberis thunbergii) is the handsomest of those entirely hardy in this vicinity. It responds to trimming up to a height of about four feet, though usually grown untrimmed.

Marion Harland's Helping Hand

BY MARION HARLAND.

Quotation from Carlyle.

"Can you tell me who first said, 'Speech is silver, silence is greater?' "ANNABEL L."

A great thinker and writer, Thomas Carlyle, wrote in one of his famous books, "Sarto Resartus," "As the Swiss inscription says, 'Speech is silvern, silence is golden.' Or, as I might rather express it, 'Speech is of time, silence is of eternity.'" In another place, an essay upon characteristics of Shakespeare, Carlyle voices the same idea, "Speech is great, silence is greater."

Religious Paper to Donate.

"I received the kneecaps you so kindly sent me through the Corner. I have a religious weekly which I will gladly pass along. If any one will call for them I can give all through last year. "MRS MARY D."

The religious weekly you name is one of the best of its kind. We hold the offer in anticipation of sundry calls for it. Thank you for telling us that the kneecaps reached you safely.

All Given Away.

"I write a line to say I have disposed of all the music I offered through the Helping Hand Corner. I had many inquiries for it. I thank you for enabling me to give pleasure to a large number of music lovers. LOUIS F. V."

Thank you for telling us you have given all the music away. We will withhold your name hereafter and have little doubt that the orchestra music is in excellent hands.

The Sunday Concerts

FRANZ KNEISEL'S announcement of his quartet's dissolution carries no more than the hint of a hint that he is hopeless of attaining, after thirty-two years, the proper measure of popular support; but there is competent reasoning in the belief that, if his normal audience, here and elsewhere, were as large as yesterday's, he would keep going. Chicago has been one of the weak places in his annual itinerary, but is not, as such, distinguished: the quartet's records show, I most communities visited season after believe, like lack of healthy reaction in season. I know that the Kneisels' growth in the favor of Philadelphia was, as commerce, barely perceptible; they were for a long time virtual mendicants in their home-town, Boston; and such pecuniary encouragement as they encountered on Manhattan Island was at first a consequence of the interest shown in their work by professional musicians and sympathetic amateurs.

Both classes were in yesterday's goodbye gathering in the Illinois, and gave, in a noisy demonstration at the close of the concert, a glow of sentiment to the occasion. There is, I fear, no point to be made with the easy and apposite irony which urges leave to print. The truly penitent may make atonement when next the Flonzaleys come hither: they, too, have as yet small reason for regarding rubrics as Chicago's due.

The Kneisels played their farewell in a "request" revival of Schönberg's sextet called "Verklärte Nacht": the Messrs. Esser and Brückner, of the Orchestra, were the added viola and 'cello. The playing in this admirable addition to the standard literature of chamber-music was exquisite, fine, lovely, and, perhaps, effective beyond anything else in recent Kneisel concerts.

Young Zimbalist's playing of Beethoven's concerto was not only the essential "feature" of the New York Symphony Orchestra's concert, but also the best of various excellent reasons he has so far provided for regarding him as a great violinist. More than any other conveyance he might have picked out—save, perhaps, Brahms'—this noble concerto is ideal for the continent, detached temperament which is the only barrier between Zimbalist and the immense vogue of Kreisler: this, at least, as I regard their juxtaposition.

There was not time to hear Mr. Damrosch's other soloist, Julia Claussen: her participation was with Brünnhilde's music in the great finale of "Götterdämmerung." The orchestra achieved a good, showy, palpitant performance of the Bacchanale which Wagner arranged for the luckless Paris première of "Tannhäuser": the ensemble here was far better than in the concerto, where the tutti parts were played spottily.

Mr. Gunn had fresh matter for inspection in the last of his ten Grand Opera-House concerts by the American Symphony: notably, a fantasie for piano and orchestra by A. L. Shynman, who is of growing prevalence in this neighborhood as a pianist, and is held in high regard by the professional colony. This compostion, at the tail of the bill, was in impossible competition with the Kneisels' schedule, so far as a hearing for review was concerned.

A second concert by residents involved, in The Playhouse, some songs, a sonata for violin, and a suite for piano by Adolf Brune, a sedulous and high-minded Chicago composer. The songs were given by Grant Kimbell, tenor; and Amy Emerson Neill played the sonata, accompanied by the industrious Mr. Van Grove, to whom fell the suite, which he performed with so much zeal and vigor that he was encouraged to an encore. Mr. Brune's music, like Mr. Shynman's, would have been given more attention than was possible yesterday in wellnight any other Sunday afternoon since the close of the Opera: and so, perhaps, with the entire program, which Miss Neill predominated. Drawing Room Strategists Move "Front and Center"

BY CINDERELLA.

ONE heard almost as much about the European war last week as the law allows, what with war talks and war films and lads and ladies back from the trenches, and ambulanciers and propagandists, etc. Here's confessing to being somewhat fed up with it for the moment and ready for this week's schedule of our own private war here in this country. And the women, p'r'aps they're not all prancing 'round and aligning themselves for Uncle Sam! Nearly every other one I meet gives me the impression that she's going to drive an ambulance in the coming war. If this keeps on we'll be a nation of ambulance drivers instead of shopkeepers.

But it all only goes to show how anxious we all are to do something. The suffragists struck the right note when they lined up to preach thrift and economy to the nation, something the Special Aid society in the east has already been working on for one year with its 26,000 members. Why not begin straightaway with some decent, right minded clothing for women, plain spring suits, plain hats, and plain boots? How can we, if we're really a nation on the verge of war, be seriously in earnest, and yet going to all the dressmakers' openings, deciding whether we'll look like a barrel this year or a water main?

* * *

Women have been heard to say right in our own north side's most acceptable society, and not so long ago either, that they'd see the whole United States go to everlasting pot—wherever that may be—rather than have their husbands enlist for national service. And yet these same women are terrifically critical of England and her earlier attitude towards the European angle of the war.

That makes me think of the Saturday afternoon party in Mrs. William Baum's Dearborn avenue drawing room, where Carolyn Wilson, one of THE TRIBUNE'S fleet of war correspondents, was heard on her very vivid observations and impressions abroad. On looking at the audience in the sunny, flower filled salon one knew that the handsome hostess must have smiled with a subtle smile when she beheld her guests—here a row of rampant pro-Germans; there a sector of rabid pro-British, here a cluster of French sympathizers, working day in and day out for France, there a group of American Red Cross first aiders.

* * *

Here was a whole roomfull of emotions to begin with, and how Miss Wilson did play upon them! Hers was a rapid fire narrative, of bold undertakings, keen observation, swift deductions, in England, France, Germany, Italy. One felt that had her chiefs ordered her to interview the Grand Lama of Thibet on prohibition she would somehow have done it. To begin with, Miss Wilson announced that she would die for France. This pleased the pro-French. Then, in spite of her Berlin imprisonment, she praised the Germans, their organization, their forethought, forty years old, to be sure, but nevertheless forethought. This pleased the pro-Germans, but ominous mutterings were heard among the allies.

Only the British never had any kind words for their young but husky forethought.

But what a patriotic picture was that of the millionaire French woman who gave uncomplainingly all of her seven splendid sons to France! Hearken, ye everlasting potters, to that!

Tea, the great pacifier, was the ending of this afternoon, with Mrs. Chauncey Borland and Mrs. Kinney Smith doing the honors.

Any other questions pertaining to beauty and hygiene will be gladly answered.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MINNIE: NO, I DON'T THINK you are stuck on yourself. I don't see how you could be if you are stoop shouldered. You'd have too much pride to let yourself slump. You will have to use will power along with the exercise I am giving you to straighten your shoulders. Stand erect, weight on the ball of the foot, with hands on the chest, fingers pointing horizontally toward each other, elbows on a level with the shoulders. With your eyes raised toward the ceiling, slowly bend your body forward at the hips, keeping the eyes fixed on the point you have chosen. Do not let your elbows sag. Practice the exercise fifteen minutes daily.

ACNE: DID YOU KNOW THAT A while ago I took a model whose complexion ills much resembled yours and laid out a course for her which she followed with the result that in less than two months her skin had cleared remarkably and she looked and felt like a different girl?

MABEL: DIET IS TREMENDOUSLY important in the work of complexion building or clearing. It is probable no other cause is more frequently effective in producing skin blemishes than bad habits of eating. Digestive disturbances go with it. The proper diet for the hygiene of the skin is a simple, wholesome, mixed diet varied enough to be appetizing, but that avoids the plainly indigestibles. Too much hot or fresh bread, pastries, and cakes are numbered among the latter.

Debutante Toils Between Dances With Her Knitting

IT has taken a Chicago debutante to amaze the southern resorters of St. Augustine, Fla. Miss Isabel Gilmore, who is spending several weeks there with her mother and aunt, goes out to a dance with her work bag hanging from her elbow, her knitting inside it, and between dances she settles herself with her "work" and turns out sweaters at the rate of one every three and one-half days—provided, probably, the dances are frequent. They say, too, that she knits between courses at the table.

WAR PROSPECT CAUSING RUSH FOR INSURANCE

Companies Plan to Tighten Lines if Hostilities Actually Develop.

BY C. M. CARTWRIGHT.

Owing to the prospect of war between this country and Germany, life insurance men find that more people are giving heed to life insurance and the business has increased greatly, especially in the east. If war is declared, undoubtedly the life insurance companies will at once take precautions to guard themselves against unnecessary exposure to mortality. They will feel that they have about all they can take care of and their drive for business will be for men beyond the military age.

If universal military service is required, it will bring out the flower of the country, men that life insurance companies particularly desire to have on their books. The companies appreciate the fact that mortality from war will be much higher than is the case with the continental armies. Young men take out life insurance at much earlier ages in this country than abroad. While the war mortality on the other side has been heavy, yet it has come on the older men in the ranks or has fallen on the industrial companies.

Illinois Fire Loss in 1916.

According to Walter H. Bennett, Illinois state fire marshal, the total loss in the state from fire last year was $13,485,083, an increase over the preceding year of $1,686,514. This would seem to indicate that the work of fire prevention had not had an appreciable effect.

However, Mr. Bennett shows that the report for 1916 embraces a large number of small fires, aggregating a considerable loss, which the department has hitherto disregarded. In the second place, the value of almost all personal property so greatly increased in 1916 over previous years that the burning of a certain amount of given property greatly increased the amount of the loss. Values went up greatly during the year.

The largest single contributing cause of fires in 1916 was lightning, there being 705 of these fires. Sparks arising from combustion caused 1,861 fires, and defective flues 1,440 fires. The increase in loss in Chicago last year was about $300,000.

Chicago Auto Thefts Increase.

Automobile insurance companies writing a general policy covering theft as well as explosion and fire insurance find that automobile thefts in Chicago, which decrease a few months ago, are now increasing in number, although the cars are now more easily traced than before the automobile theft gangs were broken up. For the first two and one-half months of this year the excess of stolen cars in Chicago over the number stolen in the corresponding period of 1916 was 100.

The automobile insurance people have called the attention of Chief Schuettler to the fact that he has taken the four detective sergeants who are experienced in tracing stolen cars off the work and put them in outlying districts. The new men assigned to their places are not experienced in picking up stolen machines. It was hoped when the heads of the automobile theft gangs were discovered and indicted the theft loss ratio in the city would decline, but such was the case for only a short time.

Bankruptcy Trustee Given Policies.

Life insurance men are interested in a recent decision by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in which a life insurance policy with change of beneficiary clause has been awarded to the trustee in bankruptcy. A policyholder can take out a life insurance policy payable to only one specific beneficiary which is irrevocable. Or he can take out a policy payable to a beneficiary and have the privilege of changing such beneficiary if he desires. There have been many opinions as to whether policies carrying the change of beneficiary clause can be used or claimed by creditors for the payment of debts.

In the recent case there were three policies involved, all naming the assured's wife as beneficiary and all containing the change of beneficiary clause. The case originated in Georgia, which has a local exemption law, and the United States District court held that the trustee in bankruptcy had no claim to the policies. This decision, however, was reversed on appeal.

Workmen's Compensation Cost.

Insurance men who write workmen's compensation insurance are deeply interested in an effort to get Superintendent Jesse S. Phillips of the New York insurance department to modify his recommendation to the legislature that the cost of workmen's compensation business in that state, so far as acquisition is concerned, be limited to 10 per cent. The present limit of 17½ per cent was arrived at after a conference in Chicago where insurance commissioners, company officers, and agents were present. It was believed that 17½ per cent was fair and just and was about as low as could reasonably be expected.

Dr. W. H. E. Wehner, medical director of the Fidelity Mutual Life, who has been carrying on a series of experiments on blood pressure cases, has found that as a single distinct impairment abnormal blood pressure was responsible for unfavorable medical action in approximately only two-tenths of 1 per cent of the total number of applications submitted.

J. W. Going, managing underwriter of the Associated Industries Fire Insurance company of Chicago, has resigned to become managing underwriter of the National Trade Insurance company of Chicago.

END CONFERENCE ON CHILD LABOR

Baltimore, Md., March 25.—The national child labor conference closed today with a massmeeting at which Owen R. Lovejoy of New York, general secretary of the child labor committee, spoke on "Safeguarding Children in Peace or War." The Rev. Dr. William J. Kirby of the Catholic university also spoke.

Dead in Own Yard.

The police began an investigation yesterday into the death of Arthur Linke, 2323 School street, a film developer for the Essanay Film company, 1333 Argyle street, who was found dead in the yard of his father's home, 4247 North Sawyer avenue. Dr. Taylor believed Linke died of exposure.

"Rexall" Trial Balance Invariably Proves the First of Each Month

How a change of method brought up-to-the-minute bookkeeping to the great United Drug Company is a "business-success story" that points a moral to all business men.

Conditions in the Accounting Department of this concern were "average"—with opportunities for improvement. There were the usual monthly trial balance troubles, overtime work and delayed statements.

Then came the change, brought about after a thorough investigation of all possible means for improving conditions.

The old hand bookkeeping methods were given up. In their place came Elliott-Fisher Bookkeeping Machines, with a daily "Proof Sheet" giving absolute assurance of the correctness of each day's bookkeeping.

Speaking of the change, the Company says they "figured they could keep daily accounts so accurately with Elliott-Fisher that monthly balances would be obtained without difficulty."

Their anticipations "were exceeded."

Trial balance difficulties were eliminated. If the trial balance is a bugbear in your accounting department it is an indication that your present methods are open to improvement. Our representatives will be pleased to point out to you, without obligation, how Elliott-Fisher Bookkeeping Machines will help improve them.

Telephone "Franklin 1391," 1207 Peoples Gas Bldg., 122 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.

No Night Work for "Rexall" Bookkeepers Now. Here They Tell Why:

"Before installing Elliott-Fisher Bookkeeping Machines in our accounting department, we had a great deal of trouble in getting our balance at the end of the month.

The big thing about Elliott-Fisher, which appealed to us most strongly, was the fact that it keeps the accounts in continual balance and proves the work daily. This being the case we figured out that we could keep our accounts so accurately that we could secure the trial balance at the end of the month without any difficulty whatsoever. Our anticipations in this respect were exceeded.

The very first month we secured our trial balance without trouble and now our balance is invariably proven the first of the month. This, however, is only one of the valuable features of Elliott-Fisher Machine Bookkeeping. The fact that the statements are made at the time the ledger is balanced and at the same operation enables us to mail our statements promptly on the first day of the month.

The conditions that prevail in our accounting department now are most satisfactory to us and we are very glad to say a good word for Elliott-Fisher Machines."

COUNCIL TO JOIN TRACTION BILL BATTLE TODAY

Ald. Capitain Will Urge Recommendation to Legislature.

The traction battle will reach its climax this afternoon when the city council takes up the proposed enabling bill to permit granting a thirty year franchise to a consolidated traction company.

As chairman of the transportation committee, Ald. H. D. Capitain will ask the council to recommend the bill to the state legislature. Some determined opposition is expected. Several aldermen would like to have the question deferred till after the election.

It is the belief of Ald. Capitain, however, that any postponement would involve a delay of two years.

Urges Prompt Action.

"The bill ought to be recommended now," he said. "If the council defers action it cannot be brought up again before May 1 at the earliest, as all pending matters are re-referred to the committees after the new council comes in.

"The result would be that we could not get the bill passed at the present session of the legislature, and the prospect of improving traction conditions would go over for two years."

Col. Milton J. Foreman, who was chairman of the transportation committee when the 1907 ordinances were drafted, last night indorsed the bill.

"Without question Chicago should confirm the recommendations of the committee," he said. "Delay is dangerous and can be of no advantage. There is nothing at stake here except an honest ad logical fight for better transportation.

Promising Quick Relief.

"Let it be remembered that the so-called thirty-twenty bill confers no grant; it merely empowers the city to deal with the situation. It paves the way for quick relief."

Ald. A. J. Fisher, chairman of the local industrial committee, will probably call up for passage the ordinance authorizing the Santa Fé fruit terminal at Eighteenth and Blackwell streets. The North End Wentworth Avenue Business Men's and Property Owners' association indorsed the proposed terminal at a massmeeting held during the afternoon.

Aged Watchman Drops Dead.

Henry Stringbrown, 73 years old, 351 Belden avenue, dropped dead yesterday in front of a shanty at 3111 Fullerton parkway, where he was a watchman guarding materials used in constructing a building. Heart disease and old age are believed to have caused death.

MEN'S WEAR.

Among the novelty offerings in men's neckwear for the late spring and early summer high colored effects are finding a ready sale. The most popular fabric used is Japanese crepe, and the manufacturers have put forward their best efforts to combine colors in designs of most startling contrast and brilliancy. These goods have received a heavy demand even from the leading retailers.

Recently there was described in this column a kind of soft collar that is designed solely for wear with bow ties. For this purpose it has a slit on either side of the front opening, through which the tie passes, and which holds it firmly in place. Now a manufacturer of men's neckwear has come out with a tie designed especially to go with the collar. It is unique in that it is not worn around the neck but is merely passed through the slits and tied. It is much shorter than the ordinary bow tie—fourteen inches shorter, to be exact.

◆

Large retail buyers of clothing have had an opportunity the last week or ten days to consider lines of fall overcoats. Clothing manufacturers express satisfaction with advance orders, particularly so far as woolen fabrics are concerned.

WOMEN'S WEAR.

The latest bulletin of the Retail Millinery Association of America observes that flower trimmed hats are figuring more prominently in the styles of the moment, small flowers and flat effects being used. A new feature, it says, is a pronounced demand for black hats trimmed with sand facings and sand wings. Small and medium shapes continue most in favor, but there is a slowly increasing call for large ones. Ready-to-wear hats are on the down grade as to sales. Untrimmed Bangkok shapes with Milan hemp edges are offered here in rose, straw, green, Copenhagen blue, and white, and are taking pretty well for this time of the year. They are meant for warm weather wear.

This is usually the quiet period in the silk trade, but manufacturers report an active demand that covers late spring novelties and the merchandise offered for next fall. The developments for the end of this season are confined mostly to sport silks, although there is also an undiminished demand for fancy goods from the cutters up. Coin dots and checks show no signs of a slackening in popularity. Black and white checks are especially good. Floral designs at present have just a little edge on the other patterns being shown for fall.

U. S. BUYS BACK 56.15 PER CENT OF RAIL SECURITIES

New York, March 25.—Further heavy absorption by American investors and financial institutions of foreign owned American railroad securities is disclosed in the latest compilation prepared by L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson company, made public tonight. Mr. Loree has made an exhaustive study of this situation since the first six months of the war.

When Mr. Loree's inquiry was first undertaken it was ascertained that American railroad securities held abroad July 31, 1915, were of a par value of $2,704,402,864.

"From the date the first compilation was issued," the Loree report says, "there have been returned to the American markets securities having a par value of $1,518,590,878, or 56.15 per cent."

Mr. Loree's figures are based on information received from 144 railroad companies, including all the roads in the United States more than 100 miles in length, of which number 105 companies reported securities held abroad.

The Loree compilation does not include many millions of dollars of securities of American industrial corporations held abroad prior to the war.

Now Perfected!

Economical Hot Water for Every Household Purpose

OUR water heater engineers completed, last fall, thorough tests of all types of water heaters for the home—both coal-fired and gas-fired. They reported:

The perfected (Ruud or Humphrey) automatic gas-fired water heaters, when properly installed, deliver hot water at less cost than coal-fired heaters, to say nothing of their convenience and cleanliness.

Test results were computed on the basis of hard coal at normal prices. With coal away up and likely to stay there, the economy of the automatic gas-fired water heater is all the greater.

The tests prompted us to place at once the largest contract we ever made for water heaters. We got a quantity discount. We got in ahead of another advance in steel and copper. Consequently, we can install these heaters now at prices (and small monthly payments) that add to the economy of water heating by gas.

Prepare Now for Abundant Hot Water All Summer—Instantly, Economically

These water heaters act instantaneously. Turn the faucet and the water flows hot as quickly as you are ready to use it—anywhere in the house. Turn it off and heating stops. No heat is wasted in keeping the water hot when not in use.

Think of the comfort and convenience! Plenty of hot water economically, "where you want it when you want it", without tending a fire all summer.

Let our experts prove it to you and give you—FREE—expert counsel on size and type of heater for your individual needs.

Inquire at our main salesroom, Michigan Avenue and Adams Street, or at any one of our thirteen branch stores.

BOSTON COPPER NEWS

The big blizzard which swept the northern Michigan copper country last week interfered seriously with the output of most of the properties operating in this district. Production in the various mines was curtailed all the way from 15 to 30 per cent. However, providing no more bad storms are experienced, and by helping out the situation by means of Sunday shipments, it is hoped to bring the aggregate tonnage for March up to a figure not for from normal.

The Calumet and Hecla was hit hard, but quickly cleared its roads to the Torch Lake mills and has kept the bins filled since. The Quincy was not hit so hard as were some of the other mines, while the three Copper Range mines lost but little.

The Tamarack, which had been improving until the storm, has been averaging but about 900 tons of rock daily, and during the storm shipments fell off a good third. The mine is "coming back," however, and will be up to normal again very shortly.

The Franklin also was doing exceptionally well until the storm, and was making steady increases, shipping some days as high as thirty or thirty-two cars of rock. However, because of the blizzard, about forty-four cars were lost, but most of this loss was made up last Sunday and Monday, so that the month's production will suffer but little. The Franklin is making great progress in its development work at all points underground, besides which the new haulage is being installed rapidly and work is being pushed toward the reopening of No. 2 shaft. In another month the mine should reach the hoisting capacity of its No. 1 shaft and be practically ready to start mining and hoisting at No. 2.

The Isle Royale suffered practically no loss because of the storm. It handles its rock to its own mill and the road is down hill and easily cleared of snow all the way, so the mill has been kept running to capacity. The Ahmeek fell off in output 30 per cent, or to about 2,900 to 3,000 tons a day, during the storm period, but already has made up a good share and will more than make up the rest before the close of the month. It will have a big month, probably a record breaking output.

The loss to the Allouez during the storm was not more than about 1,200 tons, perhaps 1,500, but this was practically made up in the extra rock shipments made Sunday. The mine is averaging from 1,800 to 1,900 tons a day, and will have a fine record month, probably manufacturing a million pounds of metal. Plans are practically completed for the installation of the electric haulage, similar to that planned for some parts of the Calumet and Hecla.

OLD "W. K. LAMB" OF WALL STREET SPROUTS FANGS?

The "Sucker Public" Got In on the Ground Floor in U. S. Steel.

New York, March 25.—Cartoonists, novelists, and writers of plays for generations have depicted the man outside Wall street who speculates as a lamb.

That term is no longer deserved—that is, so far as the public's stock market attitude towards United States Steel shares is concerned. When United States Steel common was selling around 38 exactly two years ago, many seasoned speculators, both in and out of Wall street and the steel trade as well, were extremely pessimistic regarding the outlook. That, however, was not true of the "outside public." Men and women all over the country began to buy Steel shares for investment as well as speculation. Last week's annual report of the United States Steel corporation covering the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1916, shows to what extent the optimism of the "outside public" was warranted.

An Enormous Year.

During the whole of 1916 the transaction in Steel common aggregated 35,495,750 shares. Never in the history of the New York stock exchange has there been such trading in any one stock. But, then, never before have there been such earnings as those just reported by the steel corporation for 1916. Last year the steel corporation earned, gross, $1,231,473,799.

Last year's surplus applicable to dividends on the $508,000,000 common stock was no less than $246,187,000, compared with $49,848,000 for 1915, and a deficit of $1,847,000 for 1914. That is, the 7 per cent cumulative dividend on the $360,281,000 preferred stock was not earned in 1914 by $1,847,000.

Another way to state the steel corporation's earning power is to point out that last year, after increasing depreciation allowances by $6,799,000, 48½ per cent was earned on the $508,000,000 common stock, compared with 9.9 per cent for 1915, 6.5 per cent on the 7 per cent cumulative preferred shares for 1914, 22.5 per cent on the common for 1913, 15.1 for 1912, 15.4 for 1911, 24.2 for 1910, 21.9 for 1909, 12.6 for 1908, 29.1 for 1907, and 27.2 for 1906.

Other Factors Considered.

Those who began to buy Steel common around 38, however, figured on something else besides the actual cash dividend returns immediately ahead. There are two ways all well managed companies protect the dividend prospects of the shareholders—one is by "ploughing in" current earnings, the other by piling up a surplus for insurance against an off year. From the statement at hand it is plain that the Steel corporation management has adopted both of these methods.

Since the Steel corporation began operations April 1, 1901, no less than $553,377,684 has been spent in additions and improvements. Of that staggering total, $332,029,498 has been taken from current earnings. No such ploughing in of pure 100 per cent fat has ever before been known in the corporation history of this or any other country.

Storing Away Fat.

So much for the policy of protecting dividends in lean years to come. For the other, that of storing away fat, the report at hand shows current liabilities of $92,942,436, with current assets of $501,150,873, including $40,337,583 cash invested in "sundry marketable securities"; $40,869,794 in "time bank deposits and secured demand loans," and $148,394,761 in "cash in banks and trust companies subject to check." That makes $189,263,000 total cash the Steel corporation has in bank, either on time or demand deposits. That, it is safe to predict, is the high record in corporation bank accounts.

Thus it is plain that the cartoonists, novelists, and writers of plays must invent some other term for the "poor deluded outside public" which only two years ago, frequently against the advice of bankers and brokers, plunged in United States Steel common around $38 a share.

Poor Maize Crop in Argentina.

BUENOS AIRES, March 25.—According to statistics issued by the ministry of agriculture the total superficial area sown to maize (Indian corn) was 3,629,570 hectares (about 9,000,000 acres). Of this acreage the crops of 1,719,620 hectares have been lost by reason of continued dry weather and the locust. There therefore remains only 1,909,950 hectares under cultivation for maize, which, it is estimated, will produce 1,494,600 tons.

Ford Tractor Company.

S. B., Indianapolis, Ind.—The Ford Tractor company, Inc., has not replied to requests for official information. The Associated Advertising Clubs have issued a report on the company, saying it has an authorized capitalization of $10,000,000; that its predecessor, the Ford Tractor company, was formed in Minneapolis two years ago, that last year a receiver was appointed for the latter, and when he took charge his bond was fixed at $500. Patent rights belonging to the old company are said to have been obtained by the promoters of the new one and $9,000,000 of stock issued for them. The Ford of the company is Paul B. Ford of Minneapolis. The Advertising clubs' bulletin states that the promoters found his name in the Minneapolis directory, sought him out, and entered into an agreement with him.

Commonwealth Finance.

J. L. C.—The Commonwealth Finance corporation has an authorized capitalization of $17,500,000, of which $10,000,000 is 7 per cent preferred. It proposes to go into the business of financing sales of automobiles on credit. It is stated that the stock is being sold at 125 and that the promoters receive the premium. In other words the purchasers of the $10,000,000 of preferred stock will pay the promoters $2,500,000 for selling the stock to them. More than $1,000,000 of the stock is said to have been sold already.

New French Loan.

J. H. B., De Forest, Wis.—The new French notes are a most conservative investment, being the obligation of France and secured by collateral deposited in New York. Being due in two years, they cannot fluctuate much in market price. They are convertible into unsecured twenty year 5½ per cent French bonds at the option of the holder. If the holder does not wish to convert the notes they will be paid either in dollars at New York or in francs in Paris at the rate of 5.75 to a dollar.

Columbia Gas and Electric.

J. R. T., Oblong, Ill.—The Columbia Gas and Electric company has been profiting greatly from the prosperity of the natural gas business. Its gross earnings in 1916 were $9,058,252, an increase of over 12 per cent, and net income was $5,263,803, an increase of 19 per cent. Interest charges and rents took about four-fifths of this, leaving a balance of $1,157,475 applicable to dividends, or 2.31 per cent on the $50,000,000 of stock, compared with ¾ per cent in 1915.

Brief Answers.

A. L. J.—There is no market for Hupp Mail Exchange stock. No railway has adopted the device as far as we know. The Hupps' methods of using the mails to sell stock were under investigation by the United States grand jury at Washington, D. C., last month, and following that inquiry one of the Hupps was arrested here and taken to Washington.

W. B.—There is nothing in the prospectus of the American Consolidated Sulphur and Refining company to indicate that it is more than a "prospect," or that its stock is other than a risky speculation. The statement of the promoters that a large Chicago bank investigated the property is declared by officials of the bank to be untrue.

H. G. McC.—No report of earnings or condition of the Grant Motor company is available. The present corporation, which took over the business a year ago, has paid four quarterly dividends on its $1,000,000 of preferred stock. No distribution on the $2,000,000 of common has been reported.

R. O. G.—The Monarch Rubber company furnishes no information about its condition or earnings. It has an authorized capital of $1,000,000. Its original plan was to sell tires to its stockholders at 10 per cent over manufacturing cost.

A. H.—Your Quaker Oats stock probably is preferred. That is entitled to only 6 per cent a year.

$100,000,000
Government of the French Republic
Two-Year 5½% Secured Loan Convertible Gold Notes
Dated April 1, 1917 — Due April 1, 1919
Interest Payable April 1 and October 1.
Principal and Interest Payable at the Office of J. P. Morgan & Company.

Coupon Notes in Denominations of $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000

Convertible at par upon notice, at the option of the holder, at any time before maturity, into twenty-year 5½% bonds of the Government of the French Republic, payable April 1, 1937, and not subject to prior redemption.

Principal and interest of the notes, and of the bonds into which they may be converted, are to be payable without deduction for French taxes, present or future, in New York City in United States gold coin. Principal and interest of the notes are also to be payable at the option of the holder, in Paris in francs at the fixed exchange rate of fcs. 5.75 to the dollar, without deduction for French taxes.

In connection with the provision for optional collection in francs, it may be noted that this feature amounts to a call on French exchange for two years at a rate of fcs. 5.75; this being about ten per cent below mint parity, fcs. 5.18⅛, at or near which figure exchange ruled prior to the disorganization of foreign markets brought about by the war. Such additional profit from the exchange feature as may accrue to the holders of these notes will involve no increased interest cost to the promissor, but will be consequent upon such improvement in trade and exchange conditions as may occur during the coming two years.

The notes are to be secured by pledge with Central Trust Company of New York, of securities approved by J. P. Morgan and Company, valued in the aggregate at not less than $120,000,000, of which approximately $20,000,000 in value is to consist of securities of American corporations and municipalities (including securities of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company), and the remainder is to consist of obligations (either direct or through guaranty), of the following governments: Argentina, Uruguay, Brazil (funding loan), Switzerland, Holland, Spain, Egypt, Province of Quebec, Denmark, Norway and Sweden (including certain bonds of mortgage banks in the last three countries, operated under government supervision, and quoted customarily on a parity with the obligations of their respective governments); also bonds of the State of Berne, Switzerland; bonds of the city of Stockholm, Sweden, and bonds and shares of Spanish railway companies, and of the Suez Canal Company.

Provision is to be made in the pledge agreement for the maintenance of the 20% margin; for temporary lodgment of cash pending the arrival and deposit of all the collateral; for the holding by depositaries in France of such coupons from the pledged securities as mature prior to April 1, 1919; for the sale of collateral and purchase of notes with the proceeds; for proportionate withdrawals of collateral as notes are converted; and for substitutions of collateral approved by J. P. Morgan and Company, the amount of American collateral, however, not to be reduced through any such substitution.

This offering is made subject to the approval by our counsel of the necessary formalities

WE OFFER THE ABOVE NOTES FOR SUBSCRIPTION AT 99 AND INTEREST, YIELDING SLIGHTLY OVER 6%

Subscription books will be opened at the office of J. P. Morgan and Company at 10 o'clock A. M., Thursday, March 22, 1917, and will be closed at 10 o'clock A. M., Wednesday, March 28, 1917, or earlier in their discretion.

The right is reserved to reject any and all applications, and also, in any event, to award a smaller amount than applied for.

Amounts due on allotments will be payable at the office of J. P. Morgan and Company, in New York funds, to their order, and the date of payment will be given in the notices of allotment.

Temporary certificates will be delivered pending the engraving of the definitive notes.

CROP NEWS BAD; WHEAT STRONG; CORN ADVANCES

Cereal Futures Up; Cash Prices Lead; Argentine News Bullish.

Crop news was an important influence in the wheat trade last week, bad reports coming especially from western Kansas and Nebraska. In connection with these bullish reports, the high premiums for cash wheat, with limited offerings, and the strength in coarse grains encouraged buyers, while the shorts also were heavy buyers. Local bears have tried to fight the advance, but have not had any success, reactions being comparatively small and due principally to realizing at different times.

One authority estimates the abandoned acreage of winter wheat this year at 4,885,000 acres in eleven principal winter wheat states, or the greatest loss since 1912. It is estimated 28 per cent of the Kansas acreage will be plowed up.

Impending War Bullish Factor.

The fact that this country seems to be fast approaching actual war with Germany has been interpreted by most traders as a bullish feature, the argument being that the allies will have closer credit relations with this country, with a greater assurance of being able to move supplies. Conditions abroad do not suggest any lessened demand for wheat or other grains, the transportation question being the main problem. Argentine shipments are small, and from all reports there will not be much competition from that quarter, while shortage of tonnage works against large Australian shipments.

Clearances last week were of fair proportions. Canadian wheat is likely to be pressed for sale and shipment soon, but exporters are of the opinion that about all the surplus wheat stocks in this country have been sold and are waiting shipment.

New Crop Months Gain.

Speculative interest is still centered in the May, but there has been more activity in the new crop months recently on account of the character of the crop news, which has made short selling of the new crop months less attractive.

It is supposed there is a big short interest in both July and September, the new crop months having been sold short straight as well as against purchases of the May. If the crop losses prove to be anywhere near what the present reports indicate, the position of the shorts would not be particularly enviable.

Rail conditions still continue unsatisfactory, but some improvement is expected. Warmer weather will help matters.

Corn Active and Higher.

Early in the week there was considerable profit taking by leading longs in corn, but the market absorbed the offerings and rallied easily, making new high marks for the crop nearly every day, realizing sales not being enough to check the upward trend. Provisions prices continue to soar, while live stock values are high enough to encourage farmers to hold for higher prices. Argentine reports confirm the practical failure of the crop, no exportable surplus being indicated.

Oats Score Big Upturn.

Oats activity has increased materially, with the highest prices in weeks. Week end profit taking caused a fair reaction from best prices. While statistics are bearish, the fact that corn and wheat have advanced rapidly makes oats prices relatively cheap. Cash prices for track oats have been strong also, premiums advancing sharply.

Provisions recovered most of the price losses due to profit taking early in the week. Hog receipts were light the first few days, due to the strike embargoes, but later were fair, and western arrivals for the week were 412,600, against 539,900 a year ago.

WILSON FAVORS CHICAGO BANK'S NEW CHINA LOAN

Washington, D. C., March 25.—[Special.]—While President Wilson and Secretary Lansing have put a ban on political loans to China, approval has been given by the administration to negotiations whereby the Continental and Commercial National bank of Chicago may advance an additional $25,000,000 to that government.

At the time the $5,000,000 loan was made to China by the Continental and Commercial National bank Secretary Lansing made public a letter thoroughly approving the action of the bank.

Equally strong approval has been given to the negotiations now in progress, under which the bank may advance $25,000,000 more to China, dependent upon a complete investigation which two officials of the institution now en route to China will make.

The attitude of the department as stated is understood to have been revealed to Levy Mayer of Chicago, counsel for the bank, when he was here last week in conference with Secretary Lansing and other department officials.

SALESMEN—DO YOU WANT TO BECOME A SALESMAN?
Salesmen of ability always command the highest compensation. The best and most consistent salesmen are NOT BORN, but MADE. We are not a school, but a business house, with offices in the principal cities, doing a business of national scope. If you are honest, energetic, and determined, we will place you in our instruction dept., where we will develop you into a highly efficient salesman, without cost to you. You must come highly recommended and show sincerity of purpose by past record. Most men earn from $20 to $100 per week during training. We will then give you permanent employment on a clean, dignified proposition of exceptional merit, where you can earn from $200 to $1,000 per month. We have openings for five men for city work. We also have openings for determined men in principal cities in Illinois. In writing give your TELEPHONE NUMBER, full details, and state how soon you can leave present employment. Address A X 533, Tribune.

SALESMEN—FIVE.
Only men under 30, who can recognize the possibilities of a successful future when presented to them, and are not working for a "proposition," but realize that if they want a good position they have to earn one.
This opportunity will not appeal to the man that talks "big money," who is always broke and looking for some new line.
It will only appeal to the man who realizes the time has come whereby he must get settled in business and is willing to work for a permanent future.
The men we want need have no experience in selling. We take care of that by personal instructions. We will place at their command a practical, tested and successful plan of salesmanship which will enable them to win success from the first.
This is the early stage of our sales organization and a big, life-size, man-size chance to affiliate with one of the country's greatest business institutions.
